HITLER SEES NEW RESPECT FOR GERMANY

Starts His Fourth Year As Chief

Associated Press

Berlin, Jan. 30—Reichsfuehrer Hitler declared to the German people to-day: "Whoever opposes us now does it not because we are Nazis but because we restored military independence to Germany."

His statement marked the national celebration of the third anniversary of Adolf Hitler's installation as Chancellor of Germany.

Twenty-six thousand of his Nazi storm troop veterans assembled from all over Germany stood before him as he spoke from the steps of the old museum on the edge of the great Lustgarten.

Hundreds of thousands of other brownshirts stood at attention around loudspeakers throughout the Reich to hear their leader's words

NOT SURPRISED

"Others are surprised at the miracle of January 30, 1933," said Hitler "Not me. For more than a decade we had looked forward to it confidently. . . .

"All that I am, I am through you; all that you are, you are through me. Never has there been a closer bond between a leader and followers than between you and me."

LOVE PEACE

"We seek peace because we love it," the Reichsfuehrer declared. "But we insist on our honor because we did not live without it.

"Whoever believes he can deal with us as slaves will find we are the most obstinate people imaginable. We are no longer defenceless helots (slaves), but self-confident world citizens.

Situation Quieted When British Learn Germany Not Garrisoning Rhine

Conversations Reich and French Foreign Ministers and Leaders of Other Nations Have With Eden During Visit to London Bring Reassuring Note Into Europe's Affairs

Associated Press

London, Jan. 30.—An authoritative source said to-day the secret political talks Rt. Hon. Anthony Eden, Foreign Secretary, has held with visiting dignitaries here during the last few days have successfully quieted the political situation in western Europe.

These talks, according to this authority, have strengthened a British belief there is no likelihood of any thrust by Germany into the demilitarized Rhineland.

It was indicated this belief of peace, for the present at least, is the result of conversations Mr. Eden had with Pierre Etienne Flandin, Foreign Minister of France, and Konstantin von Neurath, Foreign Minister of Germany, who with others came to London to attend the funeral of the late King George V.

No specific assurances were exchanged in these talks, it was asserted, but definite progress was made to allay the existing suspicion.

The net results of the conversations appeared to be Von Neurath's reaffirmation of German loyalty and support of the Locarno Pact, indicating Reichsfuehrer Hitler is not prepared to scrap it by a coup in the Rhineland.

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, Jan. 30.—Baron von Neurath, German Foreign Minister, informed Rt. Hon. Anthony Eden that Germany attaches definite value to retention of the Locarno Treaties.

The information was given in general terms but is none the less regarded in British circles as dispelling rumors that Germany is planning military occupation of the demilitarized Rhineland.

The Rhineland was demilitarized under the Treaty of Versailles, the disarmament clauses of which Germany has already disregarded. She claims she signed under duress. But the demilitarized zone also appears in the Locarno Treaties, which Germany signed ten years ago after free negotiation. Military occupation of the Rhineland would therefore be not only a violation of the Treaty of Versailles but also of Locarno, under which Great Britain is a guarantor of the Franco-German frontier.

AIR LOCARNO

Great Britain's position with regard to Locarno remains unchanged. She abides by its principles and does not intend to make a bi-lateral pact with anyone of its signatories which is

GAS PRICES CUT IN VANCOUVER

Now as Low as 25 Cents Gallon; O'Halloran Investigates

Returning to-day from Vancouver where he has been investigating the gasoline price war, C. H. O'Halloran, counsel to the commission inquiring into the B.C. coal and oil situation, said he knew nothing as to whether or when the cutting of gasoline prices would extend to Victoria.

Mr. O'Halloran said he found the most drastic price-cutting experienced by the oil trade in recent years now under way in Vancouver. The Texaco Company, he said, had entered the Vancouver field and had cut the retail price of gasoline to the consumer to 25 cents a gallon, government tax included. The Richfield organization, he said, has this week cut its prices to 27 cents. Up until the present outbreak of lower prices, gasoline in Vancouver has been retailed by all stations at 29 cents a gallon, tax paid.

The Victoria price is 30 cents a gallon. Local offices of the Texaco Company said no change is contemplated here.

WOMAN KILLED IN COLLISION

Mrs. A. Macdonald of Courtenay Victim of Head-on Crash Last Night

Courtenay, Jan. 30.—Mrs. Alec Macdonald, Courtenay, was fatally hurt in a head-on car collision on the Campbell River Road, about ten miles north of here last night, at 9.30 o'clock.

The car in which she was riding was driven by Dr. R. P. Christie Courtenay, who was returning from Campbell River. It collided with a car driven by Percy Elsey of the Fishemen's Lodge, Oyster River, who was returning home from Courtenay.

Mrs. Macdonald's skull was fractured. She was taken with all speed to St. Joseph's Hospital, but died there this morning at 6.15 o'clock.

Both cars were badly wrecked. Dr. Christie and Mr. Elsey are in hospital, painfully but not seriously hurt. The scene of the accident was on a straight stretch of road a mile north of Black Creek.

Mrs. Macdonald was married last August. She was well known before her marriage as a dancing teacher in Courtenay and Port Alberni.

Associated Press

Addis Ababa, Jan. 30. — Government reports from Irgaalem stated to-day an Italian column was retreating from the Wabara region toward Negheili after a clash with Ethiopians.

The alleged withdrawal was said to have been caused by fear on the part of Gen. Rudolfo Graziani, commander of the southern Italian forces, that he would suffer a rear flank attack by Ethiopian forces moving in from the west.

An official Ethiopian communique from the northern front to-day reported nineteen sharpshooters under Dedjazmatch (General) Shale had surprised an Italian contingent northwest of Makale, killed thirty-five Italian soldiers and captured four trucks.

GUNS CAPTURED

Later details of intensive fighting around Makale, the government reported, disclosed a total of twenty-three cannon and 125 machine guns

RATE IS FIXED FOR PART-TIME

Female Office Workers Must Get Forty Cents an Hour For Short Week

Moving ahead with a revision of wage and working hour regulations of the province, the Board of Industrial Relations to-day issued four new orders designed to straighten out discriminatory points discovered in the course of administration.

Most important of these fixed part-time minimum wages for women in office occupations. It provides that females classed as experienced, eighteen years old and older, who work less than 37½ hours a week must receive at least 40 cents an hour and pay for not less than four hours' work a day. The full-time minimum wage for this occupation is $15 a week.

For inexperienced office workers and those under eighteen years old, the part-time minimum starts at 30 cents an hour and is graduated according to the length a person has been employed up to the standard minimum of 40 cents.

ALBERTANS DRAFT RECALL MEASURE

Canadian Press

Edmonton, Jan. 30.—Recall legislation promised by Premier Aberhart, to be invoked by electors in any constituency should their chosen M.P.P. go against their wishes, was reviewed this week in its first draft by the cabinet. The Premier to-day refused to reveal the terms embodied in the proposed bill, but said there would be alterations before it was presented to the legislature.

DOCTORS PICK VICTORIA MAN

Dr. M. W. Thomas Chosen New Organizing Secretary For Profession in B.C.

DR. M. W. THOMAS

Dr. M. W. Thomas of Victoria has been chosen by the medical profession of the province to take the post of organizing secretary to the B.C. Medical Council, which is to be developed to consolidate the profession, and to represent it in all its public relations and in its contacts with other medical bodies, foreign as well as national.

Dr. Thomas, who has been a leader in a wide range of professional and civic activities here for years, is retiring from private practice this week and will move to Vancouver to establish his new office. He is vice-president of the B.C. Medical Association, past president of the Victoria Medical Society, past president of the Y.M.C.A., and as

KING EDWARD VIII MEETS U.S. ENVOY

London, Jan. 30—King Edward VIII in a formal audience granted Norman H. Davis, United States ambassador-at-large, was understood to have emphasied his high regard for the United States and its people to-day. The new monarch and the envoy talked half an hour.

The King expressed his appreciation for American sympathy at the death of his father and for the friendliness with which his accession had been regarded.

LOEB KNOWN AS JAIL TRUSTY

Illinois Prosecutor Asks Why Leopold and Late Companion Had Privileges

Associated Press

Joliet, Ill., Jan. 30.—How Nathan Leopold and his partner in crime, Richard Loeb, who was slain Tuesday, allegedly roamed state prison offices as trusties, will be thoroughly investigated, state's attorney Will McCabe said to-day.

Determined, he said, to get to the bottom of the affair, the prosecutor planned to question Leopold. He charged that both Leopold and Loeb were "penitentiary pets."

Testimony at yesterday's inquest on the slaying of Loeb by twenty-three-year-old James Day in what Loeb had called his "private bath," aroused the prosecutor. Loeb was slashed to death Tuesday in a fierce fight with Day, who was serving time for thievery. Day is held for the March grand jury for homicide on recommendation of the coroner's jury.

AIR RAIDERS MAY BOMB ADDIS ABABA

Canadian Press from Havas

Rome, Jan. 30.—Military experts here to-day were of the opinion that Gen. Rodolfo Graziani is planning to follow up his recent spectacular victories on the southern front in Ethiopia with a blow directly at Addis Ababa by his Caproni bombers.

AIR FORCE HONOR IS GIVEN BISHOP

Ottawa, Jan. 30.—Canada's brilliant Great War aviator, Lieut.-Col. William Avery Bishop, V.C., to-day was appointed honorary air vice-marshal of Canada, Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Minister of National Defence, announced.

Temperatures In East Rise

Canadian Press

Toronto, Jan. 30.—The weatherman capitulated to-day and eastern Canada, storm-bound for several days, enjoyed a spell of mild weather as blizzards and winds of gale proportion disappeared off the Atlantic seaboard. Moderate temperatures prevailed throughout the prairies.

The Maritime Provinces were recovering from winter's most severe attack as thermometers rose and an army of unemployed turned out to remove snowfall of record proportions. Higher temperatures were recorded in Ontario and Quebec.

Calgary enjoyed twelve-degree above weather, with forecasts the mild spell will continue throughout the plains region. Winnipeg was the only point to register colder than ten-below weather with a —13.

Railway trains in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick were back on schedule to-day, and highways were opening up after being blocked for two days.

B.C. OPPOSED TO WAGE LEGISLATION

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Jan. 30.—British Columbia and New Brunswick stood before the Supreme Court of Canada to-day in opposition to Dominion laws establishing minimum wages, a forty-eight-hour industrial week and one day's rest in seven.

D. V. White, maritime counsel, said New Brunswick's position was identical with that of Quebec, opposed to the three laws on constitutional grounds. New Brunswick regarded the statutes as beneficial in nature and in opposing them, was not attacking their merits but only their constitutional validity, he said

RIGHTS INVADED

British Columbia also fell in line against the three laws. J. W. deB. Farris, K.C., representing the Pacific coast province, said the three made more serious encroachments in provincial rights than any of the other five acts of the Bennett "New Deal" before the court.

The three laws were based on conventions of the International Labor

TWO HELD ON MURDER CHARGE

Associated Press

London, Jan. 30.—A coroner's jury to-day held Dorothy Waddingham and Ronald J. Sullivan, operators of a private nursing home, guilty of the murder of Miss Ada Louisa Baguley, fifty.

The jury decided Miss Waddingham and Sullivan, to whom Miss Baguley left an estate of $8,000, conspired to kill the woman by gradual overdoses of a drug.

Miss Waddingham, who said her patient went "quiet blue" and did not call for a doctor, screamed: "It does not matter" when she heard the jury's verdict.

Police arrested the pair immediately after the verdict was returned.

No Empire Tour By New King

Canadian Press

London, Jan. 30.—No suggestion has been made in responsible quarters that King Edward will tour the empire.

The suggestion in the London Daily Herald that the new king would make a trip through the British Commonwealth of nations and visit the colonies and India is regarded in informed circles as entirely premature.

The diplomatic correspondent of the London Daily Herald said it was felt there ought to be an accession ceremony or some kind in all the Dominions with the king to take part. An actual coronation ceremony in each Dominion capital was suggested as a possibility.

Two Rescuers Critically Ill

Associated Press

Colon, Panama, Jan. 30.—Tom Roch and Gustav Pacht, the two explorers who set out weeks ago in an attempt to locate the long-lost Paul Redfern in northern Brazil, were reported today near death from tropical diseases.

A letter received here by the American Legion post said both Roch and Pacht were seriously ill in a hospital at Paramaraibo, Dutch Guiana. Roch was reported to have malaria and Pacht black water fever

LINDBERGH KIDNAP HUNT MADE WIDER

Associated Press

Trenton, N.J., Jan. 30.—Governor H. G. Hoffman of New Jersey called on the head of the state police to-day to continue "a thorough and impartial search" for "every person connected" with the murder of the Lindbergh baby.

"The crime was a horrible one that shocked the world," read the governor's letter to Col. Norman Schwartzkopf, "and no person connected in any way with it should receive sympathy—or escape punishment."

The governor reiterated he did not believe the crime was committed by "any one man," and said there was "ample evidence, direct from the record, that the chief witnesses and those who were engaged in the prosecution share my belief."

EYSTON AWARDED SEGRAVE TROPHY

Associated Press

London, Jan. 30.—Capt. George E. T. Eyston was awarded the Segrave Trophy for 1935 to-day for his automobile records, set on the salt flats of Utah.

The trophy, in memory of Sir Henry Segrave, is awarded for "the most outstanding demonstration of possibilities of transport by land, air and water."

Capt. Eyston, British racing car driver, broke the ten-mile record of Richard Smith of New Zealand at Bonneville, Salt Flats, Utah, September 6 by racing his "Speed of the Winds" across the salt flats at an average speed of 167.0998 miles an hour. Smith's speed was 164.06 miles an hour.

Ontario Premier Believes Ottawa Will Not Interfere in Power Cancelation

Canadian Press

Toronto, Jan. 30.—Premier Hepburn said to-day he was "satisfied" Prime Minister King would pay no attention to the application of the Beauharnois Power Company for disallowance of the Ontario legislation cancelling power contracts with four hydro-electric companies in Quebec.

At the same time, Mr. Hepburn reiterated his declaration if the federal government disallowed the provincial legislation he would dissolve

LATE PRELATE'S ESTATE $10,000

Canadian Press

Halifax, Jan. 30.—The will of the late Archbishop Thomas O'Donnell, valued at approximately $10,000 was probated here to-day. In it the archbishop, who died this month, set aside $300 for his own funeral expenses with the request there be no extravagant display.

After bequeathing sums to church and philanthropic societies, the former Bishop of Victoria, B.C., willed the residue of the estate to his widowed sister, Mrs. Bridget McCauley of Montreal, and her unmarried daughters, share and share alike.

Associated Press

Washington, Jan. 30.—A request for $7,369 to complete the Senate munitions investigation, halted recently by controversy over its chairman's charge that Woodrow Wilson "falsified" the record of the World War, was approved to-day by the Senate contingent funds committee.

ROBBER CHASED BUT GETS AWAY

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Jan. 30.—The home of Miss A. Taylor, West 20th Avenue, was ransacked early to-day, but no loot was taken.

Jack Kirk saw a man run from the house and gave chase, following him several blocks before he made good his escape.

Party To Recover Body of Climber

Daring Group To-morrow to Bring Remains of D. Fadden From 13,000-foot Snowfield of Mt. Rainier

Canadian Press

Longmire, Mt. Rainier National Park, Wash., Jan. 30.—The body of Delmar Fadden lay 13,000 feet up snow-caped Mount Rainier to-day while a party of expert climbers mapped plans for recovering it.

Ome Daiber, Seattle, who discovered the body from an airplane yesterday, was in charge of the men, who said they hoped to reach the body by noon to-morrow and be with it at Camp Sarbo in Glacier Basin by night.

"We shall take the trail at 3,000-foot level above the White River entrance to the park at 1 a.m. Friday," Daiber said. "If the weather is good and all goes well, we should reach the body by noon and be in Camp Sarbo by night."

After a party led by Daiber had turned back at the 11,000-foot level above Steamboat Rock on the north side of the mountain Monday, he flew in an airplane yesterday over the area where he believed the body might be.

Medical men here to-day explained that in the new office Dr. Thomas would be the permanent, full-time representative and contact leader of the profession. They said his ability for such leadership and as an organizer had been proven particularly, during the time he served as chairman of the legislative committee of the B.C. Medical Association, contacting the members of the Legislature and the government departments.

COVER ALL PROVINCE

From his offices in Vancouver, Dr. Thomas will cover the whole province, making visits to keep in personal touch with practicing medical men in every part. The new office, along with the committee of the council, will be associated with the committee on health insurance and other legislative matters affecting the profession.

Dr. Thomas was born in Ontario, came to Victoria as a child, was educated at the Boys' Central and at the Victoria High School under Dr. E. B. Paul. He was graduated in medicine from McGill, returned to Victoria in 1912 as house surgeon at the Jubilee Hospital, and in 1913 entered private practice to which he has devoted himself for twenty-three years since, except for the time he spent overseas during the war. He left Victoria in July, 1916, as Medical Officer of the 103rd Battalion and returned from the battlelines in May, 1919.

Besides that of president he has held every office in the Victoria Medical Society. He is local secretary of the Canadian Medical Association and member of the council. He is a member of the consulting staff of both the Jubilee and St. Joseph's hospitals and has been a member of the Jubilee Hospital Board for three years. He has been a member of the executive of the B.C. Medical Association for ten years.

For fourteen years he has been a director of the Y.M.C.A. and president for four years, during which time the mortgage on the institution was finally lifted. Since the war he has been an active member of the Canadian Club, a vice-president, and has served on the executive.

Mrs. Thomas and the two sons, Glen and Philip, will remain in Victoria at the Howe Street home until midsummer, when they will also move to Vancouver.

It was announced to-day that Dr. C. A. Watson would succeed Dr. Thomas here as local secretary of the Canadian Medical Association.

not open to the others. Negotiations for an air Locarno, however, will be held over until the Italo-Ethiopian war is out of the way. Under this proposal all Locarno signatories—Great Britain, France, Italy, Germany and Belgium—were to agree to give mutual assistance in the event of an unprovoked air raid. But before the pact passed the state of preliminary drafts war broke out in East Africa.

HITLER'S VIEW

Hitler saw no advance in further negotiations while the war was in progress. Great Britain and France accepted his view.

Mr. Eden continued to-day his discussion with foreign representatives who came to London for the funeral of the late King George V. Maxim Litvinoff entered prominently into the picture. The Foreign Commissar of the U.S.S.R. saw Mr. Eden again to-day.

FRANCE AIDS BRITAIN

Paris, Jan. 30. — Premier Albert Sarraut to-day threw in his lot with Great Britain, declaring that nation's "co-operation with France is the essential guarantee of the peace of Europe."

In a seven-minute ministerial declaration read to Parliament, the Premier admitted his main task was to assure "impartial elections," but he promised to try to reduce unemployment, encourage trade, and protect the gold franc in the struggle toward "a happier to-morrow."

The elections to which he referred are those for Parliament, coming in April or May.

Even as he spoke, the Bank of France announced the withdrawal of another billion francs (about $67,980,000) in gold from its vaults during the week the government of former Premier Laval was falling.

"The financial situation," declared Premier Sarraut, "imperiously demands our attention to dissipate the menacing catastrophe and to defend the franc's stability."

The Premier promised the continuance of the "collective security" policy in the League of Nations and pledged himself to do everything "to facilitate and hasten within the League the settlement of the Italo-Ethiopian conflict and the cessation of the cruel hostilities."

RUSSIAN OPINION

Canadian Press From Havas

London, Jan. 30.—Soviet Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinoff has warned Great Britain Germany is already far advanced in plans to remilitarize the Rhineland zone, which was demilitarized by the Treaty of Versailles, it was widely reported here to-day.

The Soviet Union has plans to improve its armaments by making purchases in England, it was learned. The assistant defence commissar, Air Vice-Marshal Mikhail Tukhachevsky, who attended the funeral of the late King George V, will remain for a week to visit arms firms.

Painful Piles

Can Be Quickly Relieved

If you think there is no way to relieve the misery of piles, it's because you don't know of HEM-ROID, an internal medicine, from a prescription written by Dr. Leonhardt, a western physician.

The real cause of piles is on the inside—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel, with the tiny rectal veins full of stagnant, impure blood.

Dr. Leonhardt decided the way to relieve piles was internally, with a medicine which would ease the congestion of blood in the veins of the lower bowel and help to heal and restore the sore, tender spots. After many tests he wrote the prescription which has been so successful in giving quick relief from pile misery. It is now offered to you with our promise that you may have your money back if you are not completely satisfied after using one bottle.

No matter what kind of piles you have or how long you have had them, HEM-ROID must show you the quick, clean way to get rid of your pile misery or your money will be given back to you. MacParlane and Vancouver Drug Stores or any other druggist can supply you with HEM-ROID and will back up this promise.

CLEMENCY BY KING EDWARD

New Monarch Expected to Give Reduction of Sentences of Prisoners in Britain

London, Jan. 30.—King Edward VIII was expected by informed sources to-day to exercise his royal prerogative of mercy within the next few days by showing clemency to a number of prisoners.

A final decision depends on the advice of Sir John Simon, Home Secretary, but such action would follow the precedent established by King George V after the funeral in 1910 of King Edward VII.

Prisoners with a month or more to serve would likely receive a one-week remission, and those with a year or more remaining of their sentence a reduction of one month, it was said.

When the House of Commons meets February 4, Sir John will be questioned by members of parliament concerning the alleged inadequacy of police arrangements to handle the crowds at the funeral of the late King George V.

The press to-day continued its criticism against the police arrangements, one newspaper suggesting the whole centuries-old machinery for dealing with court ceremonial functions should be overhauled.

RATE IS FIXED FOR PART-TIME

The order covers roughly 5,000 women working in office jobs and, it was explained, establishes an important principle in making 37½ hours the dividing line between a part-time week and a full-time week.

It also specified that where an employer desires to work a woman in his office more than eight hours in one day he must apply to the board for a special permit.

The minimum wage regulations applying to taxicab drivers were also altered, the main change providing that where a company requires a driver to wear a uniform it must be furnished without cost to him.

Minor changes were also made in wage orders affecting the logging industry, the net effect being that a minimum of 35 cents an hour should apply to logging camps in the Skeena River basin instead of the 40-cent minimum.

Further revision of existing wage orders will be done, said Adam Bell, chairman of the board. Particular attention will be paid, he added, to the regulations governing boys under eighteen years of age.

EXTRACTING PAIN FROM DENTISTRY

Dr. Leroy Hartman, Native of Victoria, Now World Figure

"It works!" was the jubilant verdict of Edd Johnson, New York reporter, who offered himself for a test of the new tooth desensitizer developed by Dr. Leroy L. Hartman (left) professor of dentistry, Columbia University. A dentist is shown (right) applying the desensitizer to a cavity in one of Johnson's teeth. Before application, Johnson reported, the ordeal was painful; afterward, there was not the least vestige of pain, the patient's statement supporting the hope th at at last really painless dentistry has come.

PHOTOGRAPHS TAKEN

"The body lay head-downward at the foot of an avalanche," Daiber said. "Pilot Elliott Merrill dipped the plane to 250 feet and we could see the body very clearly. It looked as though he had gone a long distance down the slope. Charles Laidlaw, a photographer we had with us, took pictures of it."

Whether the twenty-three-year-old Seattle "thrill climber" reached the mountain's 14,408-foot summit before he was killed could not be determined immediately, Daiber said. Unless someone dares the perilous trip to the crater and examines the record book there—if Fadden did reach the top and sign the register—this probably will not be known until next summer.

STUDY B.N.A. ACT CHANGES

Committee Named To-day to Report Soon to Dominion-Provincial Conference

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Jan. 30.—The Dominion-provincial committee considering the question of constitutional amendment to-day appointed a sub-committee to conduct further study of the problem and adjourned sine die. The sub-committee will report to the main body at a date to be named later.

In keeping with the complete privacy in which the committee's deliberations have been conducted, the names of those acting on the sub-committee were not made public.

The committee, attended by legal experts of the Dominion and provincial governments, met yesterday to consider procedure to be adopted in requesting from the Parliament of the United Kingdom a statutory transfer to the Dominion of power to amend the British North America Act.

This was a further step to that taken at the Dominion-provincial conference in December, and it was the intention to reach agreement on a form of procedure which would later be submitted to a Dominion-provincial conference for approval.

NEW BRUNSWICK'S POSITION

As at the December conference, the delegates from New Brunswick offered the only objection to transfer of constitutional amending powers from the British to the Dominion Parliament.

Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, issued a brief statement today to the effect that the committee's task had been placed in the hands of a small subcommittee and that adjournment had been taken without fixing a date for the next meeting.

LOEB KNOWN AS JAIL TRUSTY

NUMBERS CONCEALED

The secrecy with which the body of Loeb was taken from the prison Tuesday night, in an ambulance with license plates concealed, revived reports current some weeks ago that a plot was under way to free Loeb and Leopold both, through hoax deaths. The warden, State's Attorney McCabe, and county investigators scoffed at these reports. All of them saw the body and said it was unquestionably that of Loeb.

Leopold and Loeb were sentenced to life terms for the "thrill slaying" of fourteen-year-old Bobby Franks in Chicago in May, 1924.

Caisson For Fraser Bridge Launched

First Structure For Building of Span at New Westminster to Be Floated Into Place

Canadian Press

New Westminster, Jan. 30.—The first caisson for the new Fraser River bridge has been launched from the Brunette Lumber Company's wharf, where it was assembled. It will be floated downstream to the location of the new bridge, where it will be used in construction of No. 1 pier at the north end of the structure.

The caisson is composed of timber and concrete with a steel cutting edge. It will be gradually sunk at the pipe site and as it sinks the sides will be built up above the level of the river.

No. 1 pier will be forty to fifty feet below the bottom of the river, while other piers in the centre of the stream will go down about eighty feet through mud before solid bottom is reached.

HITLER SEES NEW RESPECT FOR GERMANY

"Never in the history of Germany has approximately as much been accomplished as in the three years of our regime."

NOT ONE-MAN AFFAIR

Then Hitler told his men: "Our movement no longer depends on one person. I was merely one clarion voice which called to millions. You, my storm troop comrades, are the guarantors of the future."

He said sacrifices must be made in the future, but there now was a guarantee such sacrifices would not be in vain.

GOEBBELS SPEAKS

The Reichsfuehrer's speech was preceded by a brief address by Paul Joseph Goebbels, Minister of Propaganda, who declared he was proud to say Berlin now was a German city after having eliminated Jews and Marxists.

INNER PEACE

The semi-official diplomatic Korrespondenz asserted inner peace and solidarity prevailed in Germany as it entered its fourth year of National Socialist rule — won by the Nazis not through foreign help or encouragement, but despite foreign aloofness and even hostility.

Organization at Geneva and the claim of the Dominion is it has exclusive power to implement treaty obligations.

The British Columbia counsel claimed the subject matter of the three laws was provincial and not Dominion in scope. He contended the duty of the Dominion, as established by the Treaty of Versailles, was to submit each convention to the provinces as the competent legislative authority. Each province then would pass legislation and all obligations would be fulfilled.

RATIFICATION ARGUMENT

Mr. Farris agreed with counsel for Quebec and Ontario that ratification of the conventions by Parliament was illegal. He claimed only the King, directly or by commission, could ratify a treaty and that this prerogative had not been transferred to the Governor-General.

No Legislation Disallowance

the Legislature immediately and appeal to the people.

"If our legislation was disallowed, it would mean we would have to pay to Beauharnois $4,750,000 for power we do not need and would not take delivery of," Mr. Hepburn said.

A dispatch from Montreal yesterday evening said George H. Montgomery, K.C., had stated an application had been filed by the Montreal Light, Heat and Power Consolidated on behalf of the Beauharnois Power Corporation, one of four companies affected by the cancelation.

The application was filed with the Deputy Minister of Justice, W. Stewart Edwards, at Ottawa, some days ago.

Disallowance of provincial legislation may be executed by Dominion order-in-council without private or public hearings of the interests involved.

had been taken by the Ethiopian warriors.

Ras Seyoum, native chieftain on the northern front, reported the City of Addi Abba had been bombed January 20 and two churches burned.

One Italian plane was shot down, the chieftain said, and its three occupants died in the crash.

TROOPS BOMBED

Rome, Jan. 30. — Marshal Pietro Badoglio reported to the Italian government to-day that his air forces were bombing Ethiopian troop concentrations south of Makale on the northern Ethiopian front and Daga Medo on the southern front.

Associated Press

London, Jan. 30.—The fourth month of Mussolini's venture in Ethiopia drew toward a close to-day with Italy's swift push in the southwest sector holding the spotlight for the moment, while the armies in the north and southeast were at a standstill.

Ethiopian officials asserted the 1935-36 Italian campaign could be "safely described as a failure," contending no time remained to carry out any major operations before the heavy rains set in during the spring, to continue until September.

The Italians, however, were entrenching their lines on both the northern and southern fronts. Observers accepted this as an indication the positions probably would be held throughout the rainy season.

SUPPLIES CUT OFF

Blackshirt foresters also were advancing much farther along the Dawa Parma from Italian Somaliland, cutting off any possibility of supplies coming into Ethiopia from the British Kenya colony.

This information from a correspondent on the scene was more up-to-date than the reports yet available at Addis Ababa. There, the government contended Ras Dest Demtu, Emperor Haile Selassie's son-in-law, was still at Wadara.

General Graziani is moving into that portion of Ethiopia which would have been awarded to Italy as a zone of influence under the abortive Anglo-French peace proposals.

Ethiopians concede nevertheless, that the Italians have advanced on the southeast into Oganden province somewhere between Gorrahei and Sasa Baneh, and that they also hold Gerlogubi, 100 miles into Ethiopia from Italian Somaliland.

(Gorrahei lies just west of Gerlogubi, with Sasa Baneh another 100 miles to the north, which might place the Italians along a line 150 miles into Ethiopia in the sector.

Associated Press

Rome, Jan. 3.—Premier Mussolini told his council of ministers to-day 50,000 new workers, sent to East Africa, had assured perfection "beyond the Italian lines in service which would enable the army to win new conquests.

Il Duce's meeting with his ministers was the first in a fresh series of consultation with his advisers on the military and economic problems confronting Italy at home and abroad.

The council gave its entire attention to the internatinonal political situation as the Premier discussed the French domestic crisis and the Mediterranean situation.

The ministers approved Mussolini's plan for registering the physical condition and military preparations of Italian citizens in booklets carried by individuals.

TO MEET COUNCIL

Il Duce called his council of ministers into session to study the international developments since its last session a month ago. Saturday he will confer with Facist Grand Council, and next Tuesday with the Supreme Council of Defence.

Political sources said both the Grand Council and the Defence Council would give careful study to the Mediterranean defence agreement between Great Britain, France Greece, Turkey and Jugoslavia, against which Italy has protested to the League of Nations powers.

London, Jan. 30.—An authoritative source disclosed to-day the International Naval Conference will discuss a proposal by which the big naval powers of the world would announce their annual construction programmes during the first four months of each year.

SAYS KIDNAP INSIDE JOB

Canadian Press

London, Ont., Jan. 3.—The kidnapping of John Labatt was "handled as an inside job" through Louis McCaughey, the brewer's sales manager, Michael McCardell, confessed abductor, testified to-day at the trial of Russell Knowles.

Knowles, a Detroit man, faces four charges in connection with the kidnap.

McCaughey, said McCardell, was to "receive some of the ransom money for his services, "delivering it to Knowles and sharing in a five-way split.

McCaughey was suspended by the Labatt brewery at the time of McCardell's preliminary hearing last summer.

McCardell, under a twelve-year sentence for his part in the kidnapping, told Defence Counsel J. M. D nahue he had never talked with McCaughey, but Knowles said at the outset of the plot McCaughey reported "The Labatts would be glad to pay the ransom for the advertising they would get out of it."

McCardell said he also was told McCaughey could get $90,000 in a day and could raise $140,000 to $150,000 in two days. The original ransom demanded was $150,000.

PULLED FROM CAR

Earlier McCardell testified it was he, and not Knowles, who pulled the brewer from his car August 14, 1934, on a road between Sarnia and London. Mr. Justice C. P. McTague brought up the question, referring to an erroneous report in a Toronto morning paper.

The judge asked McCardell if he had said in yesterday's evidence that Knowles pulled Labatt from the car.

McCardell replied he had not; that it was he himself who did that.

Cross-examined by Dr. Donahue, McCardell said he "didn't want to go in on it as an inside job" and that "most of the managing was done by Knowles," who had contact with McCaughey. "We were to get the money from McCaughey," he said.

On re-examination by Prosecuting Counsel Joseph Sedgwick, McCardell testified "the whole thing was handled as an inside job, through Mr. McCaughey." McCardell said he was overruled in his opposition to an "inside job."

Psalm Written 3,400 Years Ago

Yale Professor Claims Discovery of Earliest Known Psalm; Cuneiform Inscription in Syria Dates Back to 1500 B.C.

New Haven, Con., Jan. 30.—Discovery of the earliest known written Psalm has been announced by Dr. J. J. Obermann, professor of semitic languages at Yale University.

In presenting the results of his work to the Semitic and Biblical Club here yesterday evening, Dr. Obermann revealed a cuneiform inscription of about 1,500 B.C., which had puzzled scientists since its discovery several years ago at Ras Shanra in northern Syria, was in reality the earliest known written Psalm.

The Yale authority added that through the discovery it now was possible to establish the source of Hebrew psalmody of some thousand years later.

Dr. Obermann said that while students of the Bible for many years had sought the origin of the forms peculiar to Hebrew prayer in remote centres of interest, such as Babylonia and Egypt, he now had established that the literary expressions of prayer came from a centre "next door" to Palestine.

Reichsfuehrer Has Ailment

But Throat Trouble Probably Will Not Develop Cancer, Say Experts

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

New York, Jan. 30.—Chances that Reichsfuehrer Hitler's throat trouble involves risk of cancer appear remote under inquiries put to cancer experts here to-day.

His trouble was announced January 11 as polypus of the throat, not of a malignant nature, which apparently was not removed completely when the Chancellor underwent an operation for removal of a polypus May 23, 1935.

Polypus is a growth at the back of the nose. It is elongated, pearshaped, it grows indefinitely, until removed. Polypi have been removed the size of hickory nuts or larger.

One characteristic is that these growths come back, even after removal. That is a common experience.

Another is that they sometimes turn into cancer. But those of the back of the nose are less subject to this than Polypi elsewhere in the body.

These tumors are overgrowths of the mucous membranes. They occur at two points, the back of the nose and the lower extremity of the gastro-intestinal tract.

The nose or throat polypus does not interfere with speech, except that it is likely to make tones more nasal.

TRIAL STARS IN ECLIPSE

Those Who Shone at Hauptmann Hearing Pass Into Obscurity

New York, Jan. 30.—What in a year's time has happened to the personae dramatis of the Hauptmann trial? Some have appeared and reappeared in the news during the last year. Prosecutor Willentz frequently bobs up in print. Dr. ("Jaffsie") Condon has been thrust back into the limelight. Defence Lawyer Reilly has had matrimonial troubles, aired both in court and in print, and has been seen at one or another night club from time to time.

But where are the minor characters of the Flemington courtroom drama? Where are Irving Bitz, "Salvy" Spitale, Millard Whited and Walter Lyle? Mrs. Christian Frederichsen and William Allen? Al Reich, John H. Curtis and John Perroni? They played "bit" roles and off-stage roles in this tragedy and disappeared.

RANSOM SPOTTERS

Inquiry shows some of them to be within easy reach; others have vanished.

Skyrocketed to headlines more than a year ago, Walter Lyle has been quietly managing the divisional branch of a gasoline station company in Long Branch, N.J. It was Lyle, then the day manager for an uptown gas station in Manhattan, who accepted the $10 gold certificate that led to Hauptmann's capture; it was he, also, who jotted down the condemned prisoner's auto license number, 4U-13-41. His assistant, a young man named John Lyons, has also slipped into silence while employed as a gas station attendant in New York City. It was he who received the $10 note in his pay envelope, who took it to the Corn Exchange Bank to ascertain that it was not counterfeit. Inquiry also shows that William R. Strong, the bank teller who spotted the note as Lindbergh ransom money, is still behind the teller's cage. All three men have claimed the reward.

The headlines have also known a bakery shop owner by name of Christian Frederichsen and his wife, Kate. They had scraped together enough money to open a little restaurant in the Bronx; they conducted their business and lived quietly. Then, one winter day, they found their's the pivotal testimony in the case of the State of New York vs. Bruno Richard Hauptmann in the Flemington courtroom. What has happened to them? Perhaps the police know. But the Frederichsen's have checked out; no one by that name at 2815 Dyre Avenus, Bronx. It may be they now own a litle restaurant in Brooklyn or Queen's, where customers do not readily identify them as the Frederichsens in the Lindbergh case and do not ask so many questions.

INTERMEDIARIES IN DIFFICULTY

During the first, desperate days after the kidnapping, Colonel Lindbergh selected Irving Bitz and "Salvy" Spitale as his intermediaries to scour the underworld for his child. What has become of them? Spitale was found guilty and sentenced to three months in the workhouse, under the Brownell Public Enemy Law, for consorting with known criminals, in July of last year. Considering his task in the Lindbergh case, the charge on which he was convicted seems ironical. As for Bitz, he was convicted for bail-jumping in 1934. He is in Sing-Sing.

There was a pugilistic gentleman called Al Reich in the case, described as a friend and bodyguard of "Jaffsie" since 1925 and at last reports still served in those capacities. The taxi-driver, John Perroni, who identified Hauptmann as the man who gave him $1 to deliver a ransom note to "Jaffsie," still pilots a hack.

A fantastic parade. Gaston B. Means, who swindled Mrs. Evelyn Walsh McLean out of more than $100,000 for an empty pledge to restore the Lindbergh baby to its parents, has fifteen years in which to repent his crime at Alcatraz prison, San Francisco Bay.

Almost a year has passed . . .

EXCURSIONS TO POLAR REGIONS

Associated Press

Miami, Fla., Jan. 30.—Who would like to spend his summer vacation around the North Pole?

Igor Sikorsky, builder of airships, thinks the giant luxury airliners "sure to come" within the next few years may make it entirely feasible.

"One of the most interesting possibilities of the large future ships," the Russian-born designer said in his precise, faintly accented English, "will be excursion flying, visits to the most remote parts of the globe.

"The jungles of Central America, Labrador, Greenland and the North Pole will be easily accessible.

IN ONE WEEK

"It will be possible to see more of the globe in one week—in these large ships with sleeping and dining accommodations comparable to those of a small steamer—than in a year otherwise."

Mr. Sikorsky believes land planes of 50,000 pounds and flying boats of 100,000 pounds gross, approximately twice the size of ships now in commercial use, will be built "very soon."

They are probable within the next five or ten years, he said. "Much bigger ships will be built—the limit is not yet in sight."

ELEVATOR MEN SCORE SMITH

Strike Threat Heard at Empire State Building in New York

Associated Press

New York, Jan. 30.—Alfred E. Smith faced repercussion from a new quarter to-day over his Liberty League speech last Saturday at Washington.

The union of building service employees announced yesterday that 320 employees of Smith's Empire State building, including elevator operators, probably would strike unless they were returned a 25 per cent wage cut.

"Last Saturday night," declared J. J. Bambrick, union chief, Mr. Smith Pleaded the cause of the common people, and still refuses to consider the plight of employees in his own building, who are underpaid."

In the event the strike is called, Mr. Smith would have to hike up thirty-two floors to his own offices, and in case he decided to get a bit of fresh air on the roof it would require a trek of 102 flights. The Empire State building is the tallest office building in the world.

Twenty Face Election Tests

In Quebec More Than One-fifth of Polls Results Are Contested in Courts

Canadian Press

Quebec, Jan. 30—The twenty members elected to the Quebec Legislative Assembly in the November 25 election who face ouster actions before the courts still eye their plight with equanimity.

In their number are the three party leaders—Premier Taschereau, Liberal; Maurice Dulessis, Conservative, and Paul Gouin, Action Liberale Nationale. The Conservatives and the A.L.N. combined their forces to secure forty-two seats against the adminstration's forty-eight.

Of the twenty actions in contestation the Liberal party took twelve against opposition members-elect.

The constituencies involved are Jacques Cartier, Montreal St. James, Montreal Laurier, Montreal St. Mary, Montreal Dorion, L'Assomption, Three Rivers, Yamaska, Montmagny, St. Sauveur and Quebec.

The allied parties challenge the election of government supporters in eight seats: Montmorency, (Premier Taschereau's constituency), Two Mountains, Terrebonne, Abitibi, Bellechasse, Natapedia, Drummond and Montreal St. Lawrence.

All actions charge electoral irregularities.

Some of the actions have reached the stage where prelinary objections are being submitted. Members-elect are not prevented from taking their seats in the Legislative Assembly because of pending contestation actions, which may require months before the courts due to delays and appeals

MAY NOT ATTEND

Two Liberal members-elect, however, may not be able to be in the House when it convenes for the next session due to legal tangles following the election. They are Hon Athanase David, Provincial Secretary, Terrebonne, and Dr. Aanatole Plante, Montreal Laurier.

The case of Terrebonne is unprecedented in Quebec annals. Following a judicial recount all ballots were voided due to printing error. The returning officer cast his deciding vote in favor of Mr. David and sent his report to the clerk of the crown in chancery here. Laweyrs for Herman Barrette, defeated Conservative candidate, obtained a court order for the return of the documents Lawyers for Mr. David obtained a counter-order by which the clerk was authorized to keep the papers.

This procedure was twice repeated, the documents now being in the hands of the clerk of the crown. Following this lawyers for Barrette entered suit in contestation of Mr. David's election and asked again for return of the election documents to the returning officer at St. Jerome. Should the documents not be in possession of the clerk at the opening of the Legislature Mr. David could not take his seat as the election report is needed for proclamation of a member's election. The whole matter is pending before the court.

In Montreal Laurier the ballots and report of the election of Dr. Plante did not reach the clerk of the crown—the only missing documents of Quebec's ninety electoral districts

A judicial recount was halted when an injunction prevented the presiding judge from taking evidence of alleged irregularities. The ballots are in custody of the sheriff of Montreal pending outcome of litigation arising from the right of one judge to issue an injunction against a fellow-judge of the superior court.

Date of the opening of the Legislature has not been chosen as yet.

Famous Doctor Now Destitute

Dr. A. H. Brundage, Aged 73, Is Dispossessed of Home in New York

New York, Jan. 30.—His home was being moved out around him. His precious books were gone. His private office was a wreck.

But Dr. Albert Harrison Brundage, seventy-three, yesterday left his foreclosed cottage full of courage.

The well-known toxicologist and former president of the Brooklyn College of Pharmacy, practically destitute now, smiled at the welfare worker who came to take him to a home for the aged.

Dr. Brundage is sure he will not stay at the home long. Contributions are coming in from former students and patients.

The old gentleman said:

"I was particularly touched when an Italian came in and gave me $25. Sixteen years ago I attended his wife in childbirth. They were too poor to pay me anything then."

Sitting in his demolished office, the doctor planned new work. He said:

"My publishers want me to revise Brundage's Manual of Toxicology (it reched its thirteenth edition in 1921) and I have material for two new books which eminent scientists want me to write. I will never be content to stop work and let someone else wait on me!"

F. HUNT SEES THREAT OF WAR

German Armament Is Main Factor Now, Says Noted Writer

New York, Jan. 30.—Frazier Hunt, Eden Valley, Alta., author and journalist, said in an address here yesterday evening that Germany at present offers a greater threat to world peace than any other country.

"To most skilful observers in Europe, the date of the second world slaughter will be determined by the date when the new German army is ready for war," he said.

These observers, he said, now fixed the date of the second world war at 1938.

"But I do not believe there will be war by 1938," he added, "because I do not believe the German war machine will be fully built by that time. Nor do I believe that German's chances for victory would be bright enough then for her to attempt another war of aggression."

Mr. Hunt returned recently from a three-months' tour of Europe.

A FINE ASSET

APART FROM ITS MERIT AS AN EXhibition the rugby football game between the All-Blacks of New Zealand and the Victoria team yesterday served the useful purpose of impressing upon some five thousand people a realization of the fine community asset the city authorities have developed on the old Macdonald estate. There are few places on the Coast which can boast of as fine a playing field of this kind as Macdonald Park, in the spaciousness of its area, the condition of the turf, the facilities for players and especially for the accommodation of spectators. The grandstand, which was completed with surprising celerity, has room for a thousand, and can easily be extended to several times its present dimensions.

The development of the Macdonald playing field has been carried out as a work of unemployment relief, and the City Council can feel that its course in this respect has been entirely justified. The cost of the grandstand has been defrayed out of the appropriation of $100,000 received from the provincial government and the result speaks for itself in answer to the criticism voiced against this expenditure when it was first authorized. It will not be long before it will be necessary to expand this accommodation, for at present it is inadequate to the demands which will be made upon it when attractive sports, pageants, parades and reviews will be conducted on the field.

The development of recreational facilities as part of the city's unemployment relief programme has been a sound policy, for these improvements are reproductive assets of a wholesome character in many ways. They stimulate the public morale, provide a healthy outlet for the energy of a sport-loving community, especially that of its youth, and also afford opportunities for the entertainment of visitors. Tangibly and intangibly they pay for themselves many times over in the long run, and they present a marked contrast to emptiness of the dole.

"HAPPY WARRIOR" ON THE RAMPAGE

REPUBLICANS IN THE UNITED States fervently hope that colorful Al. Smith's attack upon the New Deal and President Roosevelt a few days ago prefaces an insurrection in Democrat ranks and the consequent election of their presidential candidate. They recall with poignant memories the disastrous effect upon their party's fortunes in 1912 of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt's organization and leadership of a second Republican element which was dubbed the Bull Moose Party, and which ruined the prospects for re-election of President Taft, the regular party candidate. If Al. Smith only would create a similar rift in the Democrat ranks it is felt the Republican candidate would be sure of victory next November.

But Smith's closest friends say he will not divide the Democrat party in the coming election. They say he will not even offer his name for nomination at the convention. It is too early, however, to prophesy with any degree of confidence just what he will do. He is close enough to the big interests of New York to share their hostility to the New Deal, but whether he is close enough to carry their flag against the President, or not, remains yet to be seen. The announcement that he will not offer his name for nomination in the convention in itself means very little. Such declarations often are made for tactical purposes by aspirants for nomination. It is now known that when President Coolidge said he did not "choose" to run for the presidency he was deliberately playing on words and actually did want to run. Smith's name is bound to bob up at the Democrat convention and there will be plenty of ballyhoo for him, whether he will want it or not.

The whirligig of time brings many changes in political partnerships. Ten years ago when Al. Smith was at the zenith of his popularity as Governor of New York, Franklin D. Roosevelt was one of his strongest supporters. When Smith was nominated for the presidency by the Democrats to contest the election with Republican Herbert Hoover in 1928, the nominating speech was made by Mr. Roosevelt, who in a memorable utterance described the nominee as the "happy warrior." In the convention of 1932 in which Mr. Roosevelt was chosen as a candidate, there was an incipient boom for Smith which evaporated before the far-flung sentiment in favor of the man who was selected and who won a sweeping triumph at the polls. It was evident, however, that Smith at first took his rebuff in the convention with some bitterness and it was feared at the time that he would campaign against the president. Finally, however, he swallowed enough of his chagrin to permit him to participate in the Roosevelt campaign. Later he took up editorial work on a New York magazine and contributed articles which were sharply critical of the New Deal.

The response of the Roosevelt forces to Smith's attacks and the onslaught of the powerful financial interests which went whining to the President to save them four years ago, and which now that they are getting out of the woods inveigh against his policies, will be to extend the boundaries of the Democrat party so as to include all supporters of liberal thought. Smith already has been painted by administration speakers as a compound of disappointed aspirations and reaction, as an advocate of special privilege against the welfare of the country as a whole. It may turn out that his opposition to the president will be a political asset for the Democrats throughout the republic whatever effect it may have upon the electorate of New York City.

SMALL OUTLAY, BIG RETURNS

ADDRESSING THE VANCOUVER GYRO Club last Monday, Mr. Ray W. Clark, president of the Pacific Northwest Tourist Association, said that for an expenditure of $880,000 in advertising the holiday attractions of California in 1935, the city of Los Angeles alone got a return of no less than $178,000,000.

To afford a better conception of the possibilities of the tourist industry, it is only necessary to point out that the Los Angeles total for 1935 was $48,000,000 more than the whole of Canada's return for 1934. Estimates of the Dominion's business under this head for last year are not yet available, but it is expected they will show at least a 20 per cent increase.

Taking the states of Washington, Oregon, and California combined for 1934, the return from the tourist industry was just a little less than $238,000,000. The significance of this figure is better understood by noting that it represents a greater value than the returns from either petroleum refining, lumber and lumber products, meat packing, fruit canning, printing and publishing and allied industries, or field crops.

There is no single business in Canada which can yield as prolific a return for a comparatively infinitesimal outlay as the tourist industry. But it is necessary to keep all our goods in the window all the time in order to meet other competition.

Happily, Canada now has an agency which is busy on the job of co-ordinating the work the various agencies are doing to bring the Dominion's attractions to the attention of the outside world—particularly in the United States, from where the major part of our tourist revenue comes.

COMMENDABLE ENTERPRISE

THE PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENT IS to be commended for its efforts to increase the sales of this province's lumber in empire and world markets. Last year a fund of $100,000 was furnished—half by the government and half by the lumbermen—for this purpose, and it is hoped that a similar financial arrangement will be possible this year.

Missions have been sent to the Antipodes and to South Africa, and it is now suggested that a drive will be made on the large potential market in the West Indies, the lumbermen feeling confident that there is nothing like personal contact to promote sales. Already our business with Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, and, of course, with the United Kingdom, has increased very considerably since the more intensive process of canvassing for orders has been set in motion.

As an earnest of their intention to back up personal consultation with prospective buyers in the southern Dominions, the lumbermen of the province have entered an exhibit for the Adelaide Centennial Exhibition, which will open on March 20, taking the form of a miniature building with British Columbia fir and red cedar used exclusively in its construction and finishing. Lumber assembled in this manner naturally furnishes a more convincing argument in support of its utility than the most eloquent sales talk. This was the case at the British Empire Exhibition at Wembley, in 1924, when an average of 3,000 persons an hour passed through the British Columbia Bungalow. The object of this exhibit was to demonstrate to the building trades and the public of the United Kingdom—and visitors from all over the world—what could be done with British Columbia's clear grades of fir, hemlock, cedar, and spruce.

As for lumber business with the United Kingdom, while it has increased from 98,000,000 feet board measurement in 1930 to 455,000,000 feet in 1935, constant sales promotion will be required there all the time in view of the very keen competition of the nearer sources of supply—the northern European countries and Soviet Russia, all of which are able to quote lower prices to importers who have been using their products for more than 200 years.

As far as the Antipodes are concerned, however, it ought not to be very difficult for British Columbia to secure the lion's share of that business. Apparently the lumbermen are of the opinion that there also is room for the development of exports to the West Indies. In any case, it is gratifying to note the main point which now seems to be thoroughly understood by the government and the lumbermen is that if business is to be developed it must be gone after energetically.

It is significant that immediately the Dominion Government announced the appointment of a commission to investigate the closing down of a rayon plant at Sherbrooke, Quebec, and the textile industry generally, the operating company which dominates the Canadian textile field decided to reopen the establishment. The commission no doubt will proceed with its inquiry just the same.

What Other Papers Say

THE ETHIOPIAN IN THE WOODPILE
The Philadelphia Evening Bulletin

Blessed is the peacemaker, because he gives away something that doesn't belong to him.

A MOST MEMORABLE REIGN
The New York Herald Tribune

The King was unassuming, modest, somewhat reserved and highly conscientious. He performed his constitutional functions with the utmost tact and discretion. He was always correct, punctilious and self-restrained. He was a king without blemish, whose whole effort was to do his duty irreproachably. His character stood the hard tests of his office. His reign, covering the World War, will remain one of the most memorable in British history, recalling Great Britain's most colossal military effort, a notable extension of her outlying possessions and a frictionless recasting of the imperial structure, adapting the latter to the progress and national aspirations of the Dominions, to new conditions, new responsibilities and a new time.

HOMAGE AND AFFECTION
The New York Times

Personality and in his family life, George V exhibited qualities which undoubtedly endeared him to the mass of the British people. This was testified to last year by the remarkable displays of homage and affection to the King on the occasion of his Jubilee. That was a wonderful tribute to the man as well as to the monarch. He will be sincerely mourned, but his death will not shake the structure of the British government. In it the King is the great symbol of national and imperial unity, aloof from all political parties, from from the strife of tongues, who goes quietly along his constitutional way, while one Prime Minister is succeeding another. To that tradition King George was loyal, and there is no doubt that his successor will also be.

Loose Ends

Green may be red or it may not
It depends on the optic nerve—we grow more brutal all the time—and I hit it rich at last.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

GREEN AND RED

A MAN WAS ARRESTED in Cincinnati recently for persistently driving his car through red signal lights. Invariably he disputed with officers of the law, insisting that the light had turned green before he crossed the street. In due course it was discovered that the man was color-blind. All his life he had considered red green and green red. It took a lot of trouble to convince him that he was wrong. Probably he still thinks privately that he was always right; but in future he will drive ahead when the light turns red and all will be well.

What the newspaper dispatches about this matter failed to point out is that the man in Cincinnati may well have been right. He and other color-blind people may have more sensitive optic nerves than we have. When light rays filter in through the eyes and stimulate their nerve and carry a message to their brains, it may be a more accurate message than our nerves carry. They may be the clever, reliable people with a clearer vision.

This crude example of mere color blindness indicates a much wider possibility. The only messages that ever come through the eye and, via the optic nerve, to the brain, are the messages that the optic nerve can carry. If the nerve isn't thoroughly accurate, its messages are bound to be wrong, just like the messages of the man in Cincinnati. With all our telescopes and scientific equipment, we can never understand anything about the world or the universe around us more than the optic nerve can carry.

It is amusing, therefore, when scientists look through their telescopes and measure things in their test tubes, and announce that the universe is of such-and-such a composition, size and shape; that life is made up of certain ingredients and that God is electricity or a superior kind of ultra-violet ray. To the man in Cincinnati, with his different sort of optic nerve, the universe may be something else entirely. To little Smoky, the dog next door, undoubtedly the universe is composed of rocks and trees and beds of earth where he can dig up our daffodils,—a universe much more satisfactory in every way than Dr. Plaskett's or Dr. Einstein's.

Who is to say that the man in Cincinnati or Smoky next door is wrong? Who is to say that the majority of us, with the standard variety of optic nerve, are right? Usually majorities are wrong, a fact well known to every historian, and the basis of democracy. Who is to deny that in a million years or so, which is just next spring in the march of time, men's optic nerves will have improved and they will see the earth, the universe and everything in an entirely different shape and character. They will see, perhaps, innumerable things all about us which our optic nerves just couldn't distinguish, our receiving outfits could not catch, because their selectivity is mediocre, at best.

The profound lesson to be drawn from all this is that the police of Victoria should not toot their whistles at me, with sharp little toots, if I drive through a red light. It may be green, for all they know. The man in Cincinnati may be right. Next time you get into trouble tell that to Magistrate Jay.

FRUGAL

THE LATE Andre Sennwald, a famous movie critic in New York, says that the most noteworthy trend in the cinema in the last year has been toward scenes of "physical torture and brutality." This trend, he thinks, "may be related distinctly to the national state of mind." On the day that Mr. Sennwald published this view he was blown to pieces in an explosion in his penthouse, but this was only a coincidence.

The notion that the national state of mind (which would include, of course, the mind of Canada) is becoming more brutal is not confined to the late Mr. Sennwald nor is it original with him. I have been saying so for years without the aid of the movies. But the movies, probably the most reliable and universal thermometer of human values at the moment, have shown such an increasing brutality that they have concentrated public attention on this thing.

We love violence and sudden death on the screen, but this is just a reflection of a more general attitude. The whole world has become definitely harder-boiled in the last twenty-five years. It accepts without a shudder things which would have shocked it to the quick before the War. We hear that several thousand Ethiopians have been killed and no one in these parts is in the least distressed. Most people don't bother to read more than the first paragraph or so. We hear that thousands of Italian soldiers have died of tropical disease, thirst and snake bites, and the average man says to himself: "That serves Mussolini right," and he turns to the comics.

The fact that there is war in Africa of the most brutal sort; the fact that Japan has overrun China; the fact that individual liberty and public decency have disappeared from a large part of Europe; the fact that all the nations are piling up armaments in an effective race toward general suicide, doesn't fizz on this generation in the least.

It is rather amusing, however, to see such a generation just a trifle shocked at the scene in "Mutiny on the Bounty," where they flog a seaman to death. But the shock doesn't last long. The public loves that sort of thing, along with gangster murders, beatings-up of all sorts and pictures of Mr. Joe Louis converting white gentlemen into pulp. The movies are not to blame. They are simply telling the truth about us.

NEW MINE

AFTER MY ADVENTURES in higher finance, with the Golden Calf, I have made a stake at last. I have found pay dirt and found it rich. As in most discoveries of this sort, the treasure was in plain sight of everybody but overlooked for a long time, passed by, forgotten. As a matter of fact, I put it there myself some ten years ago and went away and never gave it another thought.

To-day, as I viewed the rock garden and found it starving for nourishment, while I was powerless to feed it, I began to think and to remember. I hurried over to the oak woods like a hungry man hurrying toward food, and there I found my pay dirt—ah, richer, better, and far more digestible than any ore they ever found or will ever find in the Golden Calf. There, in the oak woods, I found a pile of sod four feet high, and as I tore aside its outside covering and got down into the vein proper, I found there a huge deposit of true leaf mould, free-milling, and about $100 to the ton.

You can't buy such stuff. You can't manufacture it. Only nature can rot down a pile of oak leaves, age them, season them, flavor them, and convert them into pure mould. As in whisky, age and nature have to combine in a great feat of alchemy. Gold ore is made in the same way, through the curious silent work of nature, but that takes longer and you have nothing worth while when you are finished; whereas a pile of leaf mould, a hundred wheelbarrows of it, is beyond price, cannot be bought with gold, is probably the most valuable discovery made in British Columbia this year—rich stuff, this, with a touch as you roll it in your hand smoother than a lovely woman's cheek, with a quality in it which comes only from true oak leaves and from sunshine and frost.

They could have found gold in the Golden Calf and our rock plants would still have starved, for leaf mould. Now they will feast and flourish, even though we starve. And I will not sell shares in my mine. I will not give you a chance to get in on the ground floor as the mining men always do. (They are such a generous fraternity). I will not issue a prospectus or employ an engineer to advise the immediate installation of a mill. I will not list my property on the stock exchange. I propose to work it by hand, laboriously, while you play golf on Saturday afternoon, but I will keep all the profits for myself. At last I have got into a good thing.

Twenty-five Years Ago To-day

JANUARY 30, 1911
(From The Times Files)

A. H. Ridgeman, who for nearly seventeen years has acted as outside officer at a local branch of the island revenue department, has been promoted to the position of accountant in the general office; A. P. Hugget has been given the position of surveying the local cigar factories, and Roy Clements is taken on as probationary officer of excise. (Both Mr. Hugget and Mr. Clements were killed during the Great War).

On Saturday afternoon Premier McBride was interviewed by a deputation representing the coal mine operators of the province in regard to the consolidation of the coal mines regulations acts now before the Legislature. In connection with the Draeger life-saving apparatus the operators say there is a difficulty in securing the necessary oxygen and they urge the government either to manufacture it or make arrangements for an adequate supply.

The Foresters' eleven was too good for the Esquimalt soccer team in an island league match on Saturday afternoon, the latter being beaten by 7 to 2 on the Canteen ground, which was in a very sloppy and muddy condition.

Bringing sufficient wire netting to fence in the greater part of the island and enough barbed wire to place on top of it to keep intruders out, the Canadian Mexican liner Lonsdale arrived in port yesterday afternoon from Salina Cruz and way ports.

WARNING!

Henceforth it positively will not print communications which exceed that length.

These letters must be plainly written on one side of the paper only, and must be accompanied by the names and addresses of the writers, not necessarily for publication but as a guarantee of good faith.

Letters will not be re-written for publication. If they are not legible no attempt will be made to read them.

Letters not used will not be returned to the writers.

Letters containing offensive personal reflections will not be printed.

These rules, which henceforth will be carried out absolutely, are designed as much for the protection of our patient readers as for that of The Times.

CAUTION!

The Times will not assume responsibility for the return to the writers of articles sent for publication in the Correspondence Column or anywhere else in this newspaper, whether they are published or not, unless they have been specially solicited.

THANKS

To the Editor: — Through the medium of your paper I wish to thank the Esquimalt Ratepayers' Association and all others who gave me their support in the recent municipal election, and I can assure them I will do my best to warrant that confidence.

APPRECIATION

To the Editor:—Please accept my thanks and that of the committee for the excellent publicity that you have given to the Vancouver Island subregional contest of the Dominion Drama Festival.

It is to be regretted that neither the governing bodies of the province or of the city of Victoria take the same interest in this contest as that shown by the press and by the general public.

Again many thanks.

A Governor of the Dominion Drama Festival.

BOY SCOUTS' DRIVE

To the Editor:—The Boy Scouts Association has been asked to put on a drive for clothing for the clothing department of the city relief office.

Will anyone having any old clothing, boots, shoes, underwear, etc., please phone G 8104 and leave their name and address. Scouts will call and leave one or more sacks as required in which clothing may be packed, and on Saturday, February 22, will collect the sacks and deliver them to the city relief office.

It is felt that there must be thousands of people in Victoria who have clothes for which they have no further use and it is to these people we are appealing to help to make this drive a real success.

Death Mystery Puzzles Britain

London, Jan. 30.—The mysterious murder of the jeweler, Max Kassel, also known as Emil Allard, continued to perplex officials of Scotland Yard to-day. He was shot five times last week in typical gangster fashion while sitting in his automobile near St. Albans.

Testifying at the inquest yesterday evening, Sir Bernard Spilsbury, noted pathologist, said the killer or killers wanted to make sure of their crime. He explained that after two bullets had struck Kassel three other shots were fired from different angles.

Earlier, Kassel's name was revealed by a witness at the inquest who took an oath in Yiddish and who asked that his own name be kept secret. He also asserted Kassel was unmarried.

Police kept working on the theory that Kassel was the victim of a continental gang of narcotic drug peddlers and gunmen who came to England especialy to kill him. Scotland Yard announced developments were expected in the case.

Ex-soldier tells how Fellows' Syrup helped him and his family

"Yes," said John Brett, 45-year-old war veteran, 'Fellows' put me on my feet many times.

"My father was a professional man—and had faith in Fellows' Syrup. In my childhood, it was the family tonic whenever we were sickly.

"During the 1914-18 period, army life almost finished me. Had a complete breakdown—discharged as unfit for further service. I was sent to hospital, and one of the first things there the Doctor did was to put me on 'Fellows'. Thanks to 'Fellows', fresh air and good food, I picked up appetite, put on weight and today I'm fit as a fiddle!

"Ask any of us Brettswhat's the best tonic for young and old and we'll tell you it's Fellows' Syrup."

For 60 years, medical men everywhere have prescribed 'Fellows' with its splendid balance of vital minerals for—

Run-down Conditions. A weakened system leaves you open to attack-you've no resistance! 'Fellows' helps to enrich your blood and to restore health and vigour.

Nervous Ailments. If you're jumpy, irritable; ready to go to pieces, you need the mineral salts in Fellows' Syrup. 'Fellows' eases the tension and nourishes weakened nerves.

Lagging Convalescence. The tonic properties in 'Fellows' sharpen the appetite, restore wasted strength and lead you to robust health.

By asking for "FELLOWS" you get what only 'Fellows' can give you. Two sizes at your druggist's.

PLAYS SAFE EARLY

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY

Secretary, American Bridge League

Chicago's safety first week has attracted widespread attention among the nation's motorists. In fact, its far-reaching effects are being felt even at the bridge table.

Here is a hand from the recent national tournament, which definitely shows the safety first influence permeating the Chicago atmosphere. When West led the queen of diamonds, South's contract was certain if the trump should break two-two, or if East should hold the ace of clubs. An optimistic South player would expect one or the other of these possibilities to materialize, and would consider his contract fairly safe.

A cautious declarer, however, would take an added safety measure at once, to provide for emergencies.

Under the correct method of play, declarer wins the first diamond trick in dummy and takes the heart finesse immediately. When it succeeds, he plays two rounds of trump, followed by the ace and king of hearts.

On the last heart he discards a small diamond from dummy. He cashes the king of diamonds in his own hand, and ruffs the third round of that suit. This provides an additional entry in dummy, to lead a club toward declarer's king.

Even when that play fails, declarer still makes his contract, losing only two clubs and one spade trick.

South should take the heart finesse early, because at that point the play can be made without risk. Even if the finesse loses, the two high hearts will provide a discard for the losing diamond.

If South postpones his heart finesse until the second diamond stopper is forced out, he is taking an unnecessary chance. If it fails then, he will lose both a heart and a diamond trick.

With a slightly different distribution of the outstanding cards, this may defeat an otherwise makeable contract.

MAKES APPEAL FOR INDIGENT

Boy Scouts to Help Relief Office In Collecting Used Articles

Co-operation of the Boy Scouts in a drive to collect clothing and household furnishings was announced at the city relief office to-day by E. G. Snowden.

"The department of the city welfare office, which is endeavoring to cope with the work formerly undertaken by the Friendly Help Welfare Association in collecting and distributing used articles of apparel and household furnishings, has been offered the co-operation of the Boy Scouts," Mr. Snowden said.

"We feel convinced a large percentage of homes in Victoria have a surplus of furniture or clothing which they would be anxious and willing to contribute to this department if they really understood the necessity," he continued. "Anyone wishing to donate goods for this cause is asked to telephone the city welfare department, G arden 8104, and a Boy Scout will leave sacks or some receptacle in which clothing may be packed and will call back on Saturday, February 22, to pick up contributions. These will be promptly delivered to 1322 Broad Street for distribution.

"We are at present greatly in need of a child's cot. We also have on our waiting list at the present time numerous requests for beds, bedding, stoves, chairs, tables, etc. Blankets and clothing are always needed," the city relief officer said.

Patriotic Angler Cuts Fish Loose

Gets Bite Just As Two-minute Silence For King George Starts and He Cuts Line.

Roger Monteith and Arthur Pitts landed only one Steelhead each in the Cowichan River . . . and Mr. Pitts lost another. He h. . just had a strike when Mr. Monteith called that it was 1.30 o'clock, the time set for the two minutes' silence in memory of King George V.

Mr. Pitts cut his line and both anglers stood in silence with bared heads for two minutes.

Cecil Heaton and John Barnes landed seven Steelhead trout in the Big and Little Qualicum Rivers. They ranged from eight to thirteen pounds in weight.

Mr. Barnes hooked one fish which ran out fifty yards of line, and the line then snapped.

Walking on the other side of the Little Cowichan later in the day, Mr. Barnes saw the line tangled in some bushes.

He drew in the line and found the fish struggling weakly, having played itself out trying to get free from the line which had caught in the bushes.

It is expected that Steelhead trout fishing will continue good for some time in these rivers.

LOOKING INTO LIQUOR LAWS

William Bender, Chairman of Indiana Commission, Gives Views On Moderation

Reports Show Good Work Done During Year

William Bender, chairman of the Indiana state liquor commission, of South Bend, Ind., who is at the Empress Hotel to-day, has just completed a tour across Canada investigating the operation of provincial liquor laws.

"We think we have a pretty good liquor law in Indiana," said Mr. Bender, "but we are always open to learn something and it is quite possible that Canada can show us a thing or two about liquor control."

He made inquiries about the operation of the liquor laws of British Columbia and was interested in the movement here designed to permit the sale of beer and light wines in hotels and restaurants.

"It is only in hotels and restaurants that we in Indiana permit the sale of liquor for consumption in a public place," Mr. Bender said.

"To our way of thinking, the fact that people are compelled by law to drink in full visibility and partake of food with their meals, tends to moderation." His reference to visibility, he explained, meant that only booths of a certain height were permitted in restaurants the windows of which were kept clear, so that drinking was done in full view of the public.

Liquor to be consumed at home is sold in Indiana in drug stores and other premises licensed for the purpose.

RESTAURANT LICENSES

Restaurant operators pay an annual license of $900 for a restaurant with a seating capacity of fifty, and $1,000 for a capacity of 100 people. One third of this, the liquor commissioner explained, is earmarked for schools, and two-thirds goes into the state general fund, all finding its way back to the district from which it originally came to finance improvement works.

The state imposes a tax of $1 a gallon on liquor and the same on a barrel of beer.

Beer parlors, such as are operative in this province, do not exist in Indiana. One point about beer parlors in British Columbia that Mr. Bender thinks is a good one, however, is the regulation requiring the provision of separate accommodation for men and women.

While in Alberta he was particularly interested in the Social Credit system, which is based somewhat along the lines of the Townsend plan in the United States, and he expressed the view that Premier William Aberhart has "a big job on his hands."

Mr. Bender is accompanied by his wife and will spend several days in the city. He has interviewed William F. Kennedy, chairman of the B.C. liquor commission.

FINAL TRIBUTE FROM PROVINCE

B.C. Wreath "To a Beloved Sovereign" Takes Place With Other Floral Offerings at Funeral.

British Columbia's floral tribute to King George V was delivered at Windsor Castle Monday to deposit among the thousands of other wreaths and flowers at the funeral yesterday, according to word received from the acting agent-general for the province.

The message accompanying the wreath read:

"A last tribute to a beloved sovereign from the Prime Minister, the members of the Executive Council and the people of the province of British Columbia."

PEACE SHIPS OUT MORE LIVESTOCK

Agriculturist Reports Large Gain Last Year in Amount Moved

An increase of 58 per cent in value and 46 per cent in tonnage of livestock shipped out of the Peace River area last year is shown in returns filed with Hon. K. C. MacDonald, Minister of Agriculture, by James Travis, the district agriculturist for Prince George and Peace River.

Through one co-operative association 875,790 pounds of hogs, 381,650 pounds of cattle and 8,030 pounds of sheep and lambs were shipped, bringing a net return of $70,000. An additional $20,000 went through independent agencies.

Extensive shipments of livestock from the central interior to Vancouver and Prince Rupert markets are noted in the report of Donald Sutherland, agriculturist at Smithers.

Reporting on the crops, Mr. Sutherland stated 400 acres are now seeded to alfalfa in the Vanderhoof district, and in the Bulkley Valley a crop of approximately 1,000,000 pounds of timothy seed was produced, but not sold.

J. W. Eastham, pathologist at Vancouver, and W. R. Foster, assistant pathologist at Saanichton, reported to the minister on plant diseases, stating that experiments for the control of plant and fruit diseases show the necessity for immediate application of remedies in various forms and control of conditions predisposing to diseases. Brown rot of sweet cherries is one that has been carefully investigated.

THE U.S.S. HENDERSON - NAVY TRANSPORT.

Last of the first flight China Clipper covers to be returned to collectors are on their way back from Guam on the navy transport, U.S.S. Henderson. The ship is due at San Francisco Jan. 25. It carries covers sent to Guam from San Francisco Hawaii, and Manila.

The reason so few covers caught the China Clipper at Manila on its return flight was that Saturday, Nov. 30, when the Clipper arrived, was Bonifacio Day, a national holiday at noon. Since the Clipper left early the next morning, Dec. 2, there was little or no time to affix the stamps and cancel the mail destined for this return.

With Wisconsin Tercentenary stamps withdrawn from sale at the U.S. Philatelic Agency in Washington, the next to go may be the Mother's Day issue.

The twenty-five-cent China Clipper stamp may be short-lived, since it is reported that the Post Office Department is considering changing the transpacific rates to twenty-four cents, forty-eight cents, and ninety-six cents, and issuing stamps accordingly.

Vancouver, B.C., is seeking a series of commemorative stamps to be issued by Canada on the Golden Jubilee of the city.

An historic foreign issue to obtain is the new series of six stamps portraying as many military heroes of Austria. There are five famous Austrian generals and one admiral.

Beware of stamp fakes. The latest is that of the famous Weeping Princess" Elizabeth one-cent jubilee stamp of Canada, showing a spot beneath the girl's right eye, in only one stamp of an entire sheet. The fake "tear" is just a little too obvious.

MUST CHANGE PLANE RULES

Present Responsibility In Case of Accident Puts Harbor Out of Question

Establishment of a seaplane base in Victoria harbor is out of the question until regulations governing responsibility for collisions between ships and planes is altered, Col. A. W. R. Wilby, agent for the Federal Department of Marine, told Alderman Walter Luney in a recent interview.

Commenting on the meeting, Alderman Luney, who is chairman of the public works committee, to which questions regarding harbor negotiations were turned when the Central Harbor Commission ruled them beyond its jurisdiction, stated the seaplane base was one of several matters taken up with the federal official here.

At present, Alderman Luney explained, regulations state that in the event of an accident between a plane and a steamship, responsibility rests with the latter. Col Wilby would not commit himself on the question of securing the base in the harbor even if regulations were changed, Alderman Luney said. The official preferred to remark that Esquimalt harbor appeared suitable for such a base.

SQUATTERS' DWELLINGS

In reply to questions regarding jurisdiction over squatters using the harbor foreshore for their dwellings, Col. Wilby asked for a letter from the city showing the unsanitary conditions obtaining in such premises.

Col. Wilby felt the question of structures on the foreshore was one for the consideration of the federal Public Works Department.

There was nothing in the city by-laws coverings sanitary arrangements for structures on wharves, Alderman Luney said. He would recommend the city write to J. P. Forde, representing that federal department, stating the city was prepared to work with the department in drafting and enforcing regulations regarding structures built on wharves, the alderman said.

In the meantime, Alderman Luney said he would ask the city engineer to have a complete survey made of squatters' dwellings around the city to acquaint Col. Wilby with the circumstances related to them.

LOAN SOUGHT FOR PIPELINE

Nanaimo City Delegation to Interview Provincial Government

Nanaimo, Jan. 30.—Mayor John Barsby, City Clerk Hackwood and City Engineer A. G. Graham were named by the city council on Monday evening as a delegation to interview the provincial government to negotiate a loan for relief work on Nanaimo waterworks pipeline.

The Red Cross Society's application for a tag day in September was granted.

Following a complaint presented on behalf of ratepayers in Newcastle Townsite that straying cows were causing damage to gardens, the board decided that increasing fines for repeated offences would help to remedy the nuisance.

The council accepted an invitation to attend divine service in Haliburton United Church on Sunday.

LOBSTERS ALIVE AFTER 3,000 YEARS

Buried in Frosty Region of Siberia, Insects Are Now Revived

Moscow, Jan. 30.—A statement from the Soviet Academy of Scientists yesterday said that insects and a small variety of lobster born thousands of years ago have been revived and are pursuing a normal existence.

They were found buried fifteen to twenty feet under the surface of a region of eternal frost in the Siberia peat fields, the statement explained. The region comprises a zone sweeping from the Arctic across central Siberia to Mongolia. Ground there below the depth of six feet never thaws.

The academy estimated its finds, which were dug out of the solid, frozen earth, were entombed at least 3,000 years.

REPORTS TELL OF STEADY PROGRESS

The annual meeting of the congre- was held on Monday at which time the reports for the year's activities of all branches of the church were read, all of which showed steady progress and a healthy financial condition.

Dr. G. B. Switzer acted as chairman and Capt. F. W. Wright as secretary.

A resolution embodying the thanks and appreciation of the congregation for the work of the pastor, Dr. G. B. Switzer, and his wife, was passed by the meeting; also a resolution to Miss E. Clarke, pianist.

Reports were submitted by the Women's Auxiliary, Sunday School, Women's Missionary Society, Choir, Young People's Society, C.G.I.T., Board of Stewards and Quarterly Official Board.

New members elected to the session were: Mrs. M. G. Moore, J. P. Carmichael, and A. L. Carruthers. New members elected to the Board of Stewards were: Geo. H. Gardiner, Jos. Sutton, John Gelling, H. G. Kinghorn and H. W. Cochrane.

During the last year forty new members were added to the church making the present enrolment total 350.

Loggers' Wages Up $1,200,000

Province's Lumber Workers Will Have $100,000 Per Month More to Spend

When the loggers come to town out of the woods of British Columbia on pay days this year they will have about $100,000 more a month to spend than they had last year as a result of wage increases generally enforced throughout the logging industry this month.

A check-up of the increases now in effect indicated to the industry that its payroll for 1936 would be at least $11,000,000, or something like $1,200,000 more than in 1935, easily the largest industrial payroll in the province.

Ten thousand loggers are receiving, on the average, 42 cents a day more now than in December last, a total increase in payroll of $4,200 a day or about $100,000 for every month of twenty-five working days. This brings the total increases in loggers' wages since the worst days of the depression up to a total of $3,500,000, the operators estimate.

Log prices have not increased in this period substantially, though they have risen recently after a severe drop in the last two years, but volume is up and loggers are benefiting largely from it.

The average wage in the logging industry to-day is estimated at $4.75 a day. It varies considerably, of course, in different locations where cost of transportation is a factor. This average wage is an increase of approximately $1 a day from the wages paid two years ago, in January, 1934, when the average was $3.79.

HIGHER THAN 1929

In the unskilled occupations of logging wages are higher now than in the boom year of 1929, as a result of the recent increases. For example, donkey firemen were paid $3.20 in 1929 and receive $3.68 now. Signal men's wages rose from $3.20 to $3.68, graders advanced from $3.50 to $3.60, section men from $3.20 to $3.52, steel gangs from $3.40 to $3.52, and blacksmith helpers from $3.20 to $3.68.

The latest wage increase, representing one of the largest advances in British Columbia's industrial payroll since the beginning of the depression, is the second in logging in two years. In 1934 wages advanced on the average 54 cents or a gross increase in the payroll of that time of $850,500 a year. This increase continued in 1935 and the total number of men employed rose steadily, with a longer working year. Operators estimate that the 1935 payroll was $1,431,000 larger than that of 1934, while the 1936 payroll will be $1,200,000 larger than that of 1935 if lumber markets remain strong.

Dance Numbers Cause Concern

Press Club Cannot Decide About Old-fashioned Numbers.

Professor Tickle, that genial, smiling person, who softly waves his baton for his Empress orchestra each Saturday evening at the Empress Hotel, has been engaged to play at the Press Club's ball at the hotel on Valentine's Day. This announcement will, no doubt, be greeted with a great deal of satisfaction by the scores of people who are already planning to "take in" the event.

The orchestra will have ten or twelve pieces and much consideration is being given to the programme. There are those in the Press Club who want a couple of old-fashioned dances, such as a minuet and a three-step inserted, but there are others who insist such dances would be inconsistent with the ultra modernity of Press Club functions.

No agreement could be reached by the music committee on the point; and it was decided to invite views on the subject from prospective guests.

A number of surprise features are being planned and of course The Press Gang will be issued and will make its appearance during a sensational moment.

Came 1,000 Miles To See All-Blacks

Three Edmontonians registered at the Empress Hotel yesterday traveled 1,000 miles to see the All-Blacks play on the coast.

These rugby enthusiasts are Fred Chorley, president of Dominion Motors; W. G. Strachan, of the Heintzman Piano Company, and G. Higginbottam, wholesale grocery broker, all prominent business men of Edmonton.

Mr. Strachan, president of the Alberta Rugby Union for five years, said he and his friends were so determined to see the All-Blacks play out here that they decided it was time they took a holiday and the visiting New Zealanders provided the excuse.

Mr. Chorley is an old Cardiff man who got a real kick out of Wales beating the All-Blacks.

The Edmontonians this morning looked up Joe Pryke, professional at the Colwood Golf Club, who came here from the Edmonton club, and accepted an invitation from him to stay over for a day or two and test out the local course.

They witnessed the rugby game at Vancouver and came over here to see the Victoria rep team tussle with the All-Blacks at Macdonald Park yesterday.

SEE NEED OF CREMATORIUM

Desirability of Establishing Plant at Royal Oak Outlined in Cemetery Report

Further efforts will be made to establish a crematorium at the Royal Oak Burial Park, according to the annual report of the Board of Cemetery Trustees of Greater Victoria released yesterday.

"The matter of cremation has received a great deal of consideration during the year, the board being of the opinion that establishment of such facilities at the Royal Oak Park at an early date is extremely essential. Information has been secured from all available sources and from data on hand the board is now prepared to apply for the permission and sanction of the respective councils," the report said in part.

Diminishing revenues during the year necessitated rigid curtailment of upkeep costs, the report said. Revenue last year totaled $11,398.50, against $15,750 the year before.

Expenditures for the year 1935 amounted to $14,348.46 which included $3,850 transferred to coupon account up to December 31 and $984 to the maintenance fund account. Wages for the year amounted to $6,740.41 being $1,403.75 less than the previous year. Sundry accounts totaled $2,774.05.

MAINTENANCE FUND INTACT

Surplus earnings of the sinking fund, while not defintiely computed, were understood to have virtually offset the annual sinking fund installment foregone last year. The maintenance fund for the perpetual upkeep of the park received its full requirements up to the end of December and stood at $15,256.77, the report said.

At the end of the year 144 plots at $44, seven at $100, fifty-four at $50, a total of 126 at $60 and several in other sections remained unsold the trustee learned.

Interments were less last year, many using Ross Bay Cemetery in preference to the new burial park, while Colwood provided plots for 128.

A complete investigation into the competition between Ross Bay, Colwood and Royal Oak cemeteries is recommended in the report with a view to securing remedial measures justified by the heavy commitments made by the city and Saanich.

Many improvements during the year were noted in the report.

A general meeting of the Seafarers' Industrial Union will be held at their headquarters, 1304 Government Street, to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock. All members are requested to attend.

THE GOODNESS OF BEEF

Royal Oak

A birthday party was held on Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. S. Travers, West Saanich Road, in honor of the tenth birthday of her son, Eddie. Refreshments and games were enjoyed by the children.

The guests included Pamela Butcher, Helen Phillips, Mary, Helen and Walter Burgess, Jack Boorman and Arthur Benson.

On Monday afternoon, Rev. F. Comley, rector of St. Michael's Church, addressed the pupils of the Royal Oak School, paying tribute to the memory of King George V. The hymns, "Abide With Me" and "O God Our Help in Ages Past," were sung by the children.

Dean Quainton and a group from the Cathedral Fellowship Guild, paid a visit to the friends and members of St. Michael's Church, Royal Oak, on Wednesday evening.

The annual vestry meeting of St. Michael's Church, Royal Oak, was held in the Parish Hall on Wednesday evening. Rev. F. Comley, presiding. A satisfactory financial report was presented by R. Butt.

P. Warren and Richard Butt were re-elected, respectively, as rector's warden and people's warden.

The following church committee were elected: Mrs. F. Comley, Mrs. W. Jackson, Mrs. K. Mead-Robins, Mrs. L. Towler, Miss K. Oldfield, Miss D. Young, Messrs. G. W. Stone, J. Roberts, R. Layritz, H. Oldfield, C. Oldfield, W. Blake, F. Doyle, A. P. Hobbs and Mr. Saunders. Delegates elected to Synod were P. Warren and H. Oldfield, with alternates, W. Blake and Mr. Boydell.

Miss K. Oldfield read the women's auxiliary report, showing another year of progress. Miss Dora Young, president of the A.Y.P.A., struck an optimistic note regarding the progress of the association, followed by a satisfactory financial report by the treasurer, Lyndsay Towler. St. Michael's and Prospect Lake Sunday school reports showed a healthy condition and reflected great credit on their teachers.

The rector expressed his sincere thanks to Mrs. Jackson, the organist, the choir and all officers.

A clock which may well be regarded as a historic timepiece when pioneer steamship travel on the West Coast is studied, was presented to Mayor David Leeming to-day.

M. L. Greene, of the Capital Iron and Metals Limited, 1832 Store Street, made the presentation. The case for the clock, made in the shape of a ship's wheel with spokes, was constructed from a brass nut which held in place the propeller of the C.P.R. vessel Charmer.

Memory Of King Honored On Jug

Interesting Piece of Historical Chinaware, Dated 1830, brought to Times by Mrs. H. Walker of Metchosin.

An interesting and historical piece of chinaware was brought to The Times newsroom yesterday afternoon by Mrs. H. Walker, of Metchosin.

It is a jug manufactured in the year of the death of King George IV, 1830, and inscribed "In memory of His late Majesty King George IV, born August 12, 1762, ascended the throne January 29, 1820, publicly proclaimed January 31, 1820. Died June 26, 1830, aged sixty-eight years."

The jug, which stands about six inches high, is of cream china, patterned in royal purple, and bearing a portrait of the king.

Mrs. Walker also has a souvenir of the coronation of King George V in 1911, in the form of a mug bearing the portraits of the king and queen on either side of the royal coat of arms.

TWO SENTENCED TO DEATH

Minedla, N.Y., Jan. 30 (Associated Press).—Mrs. Mary Frances Creighton and Everett C. Applegate were sentenced to-day to die in the electric chair the week of March 9 for the poison murder of Applegate's wife, Ada, last September 28. Applegate told the court in a calm voice he was innocent of the crime.

The GOLDEN FEATHER

by Robert Bruce © 1935 NEA Service, Inc.

"I am a Department of Justice agent, and we have the place surrounded," he called out in a loud voice. "If you'll come out peaceably, no one will be hurt."

There was a tense silence. Then, somewhere below, came the crash of a gun going off, and another, and another. Quick spurts of flame stabbed through the darkness beyond the lawn. Larry Glenn leaped down rrom the porch and slipped behind a tree trunk near the corner of the house. A racket more intense and fiendish than anything Jean had ever dreamed of split the night air—shots, yells, the evil spat of bullets against stone, the splintering of woodwork, the jangling crash of broken windows—

CHAPTER XLII

When Jean Dunn fainted, the last sounds she heard were the ear-splitting noises of a large-scale and sustained gun battle. When she emerged from her stupor, three or four minutes later, the sounds were still in her ears.

She lay on the floor of the bedroom, blinking at the darkness, as her senses returned. Someone had come into her room and was kneeling there, tense and motionless, for a moment; then his trigger fingers moved, and the sharp rat-tat-tat of his weapon drowned out all the other noises.

Acrid powder smoke was on her tips and in her eyes, as she lay there dully watching. The night had gone insane; it seemed as if she would always be in just this position, groveling on the floor while a nerve-destroying racket filled the air and shadowy figures moved about in the half-light on errands of violence and destruction.

"Hey!" he said hoarsely. "Who is it?"

Jean made no answer, and the man evidently took it for granted that she had been killed. He wasted no time on vain regrets, but slowly raised himself to peer out of the window. After a long look, he got to his knees again and raised his weapon to shoot; but before he could press the trigger he unexpectedly spun half around, teetered drunkenly on his knees, and then collapsed on his face. The machine gun lay beneath him; Jean found herself stupidly wondering if it wasn't an awfully uncomfortable thing to lie on—until, suddenly, she realized that the man was dead.

With this realization of lethargy that had held her seemed to fall away. Outside, somewhere, was Larry Glenn—and Larry represented safety, rescue, a return to the old life which, half an hour ago, seemed forever out of her reach. No longer could she lie here in a half stupor, listening to the clamor all about her in a drugged detachment. The fight that was going on was her fight. If the people of the house won, then she lost—everything that made life worth living.

She raised herself to her hands and knees; conquering her revulsion, she crawled to where the dead gunman lay. She wanted a weapon and she meant to have one. . . .

Tugging at his shoulder, she rolled him over. The sub-machine gun lay there, vicious-looking—and, she realized altogether too complicated to do her any good even if she did take possession of it. Did this man carry a revolver? Jean bent closer. His coat had fallen back, and a shoulder holster was visible under his left armpit. She reached in, pulled out a revolver, and looked at it curiously.

At least, now, she was armed . . . and if worst came to worst, and Larry's fight failed—

There was a momentary lull in the firing; and in the lull Jean heard hurried footsteps coming along the hall. A voice called, "You, Spike, in there—what's th' matter?"

She moved before she had time to think—one quick lunge that h'd her in the shadows in the corner of the room. The door swung open and someone came in and went to where the dead man lay. Jean could see him squatting down, could hear him mutter something; then she saw him pick up the machine gun and move cautiously toward the window. As he came into the moonlight, she saw his face. It was Red Jackson.

Jean never quite knew, afterward, how she managed to do what she did then. She could only remember raising the heavy revolver gripping it with both hands, pointing it at the man at the window, shutting her eyes tightly, and squeezing the trigger. Then, for the second time that night, she collapsed in a faint.

When she woke the noise had ceased. She was lying on a bed, the lights were on, and someone was bathing her face with a cold cloth. She stirred, blinked a couple of times, and then looked up.

Larry Glenn bent over her, a damp handkerchief in his hand. On the bed beside her he had put an enormous, old-fashioned china washbowl from the stand in the corner; for some reason this was the first thing that caught Jean's attention, and it seemed so utterly ridiculous that she began to laugh.

"Larry, wherever did you get that and what's it for?" she said. He stopped mopping her brow—he was doing it rather clumsily—and begged her to tell him that she was all right.

"Of course I am" she said, "but what on earth are you doing with that bowl?"

He looked at the bowl, straightened, then tossed the damp handkerchief on the bed, and laughed.

"Well, if you aren't a cool one," he said, gripping her hand. "Here you come through something just one size smaller than the battle of Gettysburg, and you want to know what I'm doing with that washbowl. Listen, Jean, I had to have some water and that was the only container I could find and—"

"All right." She swung her feet down and moved to a sitting position, helped by his arm. She looked up at him, and realization came to her; she was safe, free, rescued!

Then she remembered something else and looked cautiously toward the window. There was a stain on the carpet there, but nothing else.

"We carried 'em out," said Larry briefly.

"Were they—were they—" she began.

"One was," he said. "Jackson wasn't. He was lying there unconscious. A bullet had just creased the top of his skull—just enough to put him out cold. Your bullet, I think."

He looked at her quizzically. She rubbed her forehead.

"I'm glad I didn't—kill him," she said.

It was an hour before they were ready to leave. A patrol wagon was backed up against the carriage house to receive the bodies of two gangsters who had been killed in the fighting. Four others, including Red Jackson and Sandy Harkins, who had been wounded, were being loaded into another patrol wagon for removal to the prison ward of the Portsmouth hospital—three men, and white-faced Evelyn Brady—had been manacled and put in one of the sheriff's cars for removal to the jail.

Of the government's force, four men had been wounded. They had already been taken to the hospital, and the report had come back that all of them would recover. Under Larry's direction, the officers who were not busy looking after the prisoners had been searching the house from top to bottom, collecting a small arsenal of firearms and a cache of bonds and currency worth many thousands of dollars.

"It's a cleanup," Larry jubilantly told Mike Hagan. "We got 'em all. Jackson will keep, now, until he's put on trial for murder. We have plenty of evidence to get the electric chair for him and for his chief lieutenants. The rest of the gang are good for long terms in prison."

Jean was standing beside him, waiting for him to take her back to Dover. She laid her hand on his wrist and said, "Larry, how about—?"

He looked down compassionately. "How about Sandy?" he asked softly. "Sandy is on his way to the hospital. He was shot four times, and—" He hesitated, then decided that she might as well be told bluntly. "He's dying. I doubt if he will live until he reaches the hospital."

Jean made no reply, but looked at him soberly.

"Do you still care for him?" he asked, putting his arm about her shoulders. Her eyes met his without wavering, and she shook her head

"No," she said evenly. "I don't think I ever did. I—oh, Larry, I was just insane, that's all—insane. I—"

She broke off abruptly, then added: "Of course, I—Larry, it's a shock to know that he's dying. Don't think I'm heartless. But the man I thought I cared for—he died long before the fighting started."

The Truth About Diet

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

Buying food properly is not just a matter of choosing anything that tickles the fancy, and laying down the money. The person who does the family marketing must keep in mind a number of facts.

For instance, she must consider the varying appetites of dad, mother and the others. If your father is a laborer, he will need more food energy than he would if he were a clerical worker. Brothers and sisters at work will require more calories than those at school.

Dr. M. Fishbein

Perhaps Brother Bill is an athlete; if so, he should have more food energy than Harold, the quiet, studious brother.

A quart of milk for each child and a pint for each adult will provide one-fourth of the total calories your family needs each day. Bread and cereals furnish another fourth. Fruits and vegetables supply one-fifth to one-sixth of the calories.

If the purse runs low, more dried fruits and canned vegetables may be used. Remember, however, that canned tomatoes, fresh cabbage, and potatoes provide vitamin C in large amounts, and that spinach, string beans or green peas, carrots and oranges also afford important vitamins and mineral salts.

Fats are frequently expensive, but good milk provides butter fat. If your family gets the amount that it ought to have, Mother need not worry so much about the vitamin A that comes from butter.

In general, we use too much sugar. Syrups and sugars should constitute about 10 per cent of our total calories.

Dietary authorities believe that children particularly need not overemphasize meats. A half ounce of meat for a child eight to ten years old, an ounce for one eleven to fourteen, and two ounces for an older child or grown-up, should do very well. Remember, however, that liver and glandular organs, as well as kidney and heart, are richer in iron and vitamins than muscle meats.

Even if the grown-ups do not get them so often, children should have eggs three or four times a week. Cheese, incidentally, is a concentrated food having the qualities of milk and being especially rich in calcium.

In buying food, too, there are other things to be considered. There is, of course, the budget question; division of expense for food needed for actual nourishment, luxuries required for satisfaction of special appetites, and victuals to have on hand for entertainment and social purposes.

Regarding the last item, food has come to have a signficant place socially in our lives. When you entertain friends at dinner, you like to provide something "extra special," a custom that flourishes even in Arctic climes.

Among the Eskimos, it is a great occasion when fresh meat is available; and the Eskimo possessing it is, temporarily at least, a "big mogul" in his community.

It is also necessary that the person handling the food have cooking ability. Remember; you must like the food or you won't eat it.

To-day's Health Question

Q.—When I was five years old, my right eye was hit by a missle. A cataract which formed was removed, leaving the eye completely blind. At the age of sixteen, the color of this eye turned from blue to brown. Can anything be done about it?

A.—Nothing can be done to restore the natural color of the iris in such case, but the change in color suggests a degeneration of the eye that may menace the other eye or even the general health. Consultation with an opthalmologist is desirable.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel"

FRIDAY, JANUARY 31, 1936

As the month closes benefic aspects rule, according to astrology. With the new year well started, there may be slight reverses in business trends in February.

In the morning hours the stars warn against incurring big obligations of any sort. Contractors should be especially careful. Newspapers to-day may carry foreign dispatches that are illuminating.

This is an auspicious day for making plans and for laying the foundations of big enterprises. Strict methods of business must govern for there will be much laxity in the applications of rules that affect public projects.

Despite the uncovering of waste in the use of public funds, there will be new scandals that Congress will investigate, it is prophesied. Danger of too much suspicion is foreseen as lack of responsibility to the people is revealed. It is well to overcome pessimism that is destructive.

While this planetary government continued, women may be changeable and difficult to direct, especially if they are singers or actresses. In the household there may be discord.

The evening of this day is lucky for weddings. Many brilliant marriages will take place when social affairs will be marked by much costly pomp.

Wealth is to be spent generously at this time. Prosperous cities will again be the backgrounds for costly feasts and ceremonious entertainments

Contrasts between the rich and the poor will accentuate unrest among the unemployed. New leadership in relief policies is foretold.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of success in work and many days of recreation.

Children born on this day probably will be leaders in whatever vocation they may choose. Subjects of this sign usually have ability of a high order and a sense of responsibility to their fellow men.

Nathan Straus, American merchant and philanthropist, was born on this day, 1848. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include James G. Blaine, statesman.

BROADWAY HAILS TWO HITS

Ranch Drama and Mystery Enliven Rialto

Martha Sleeper . . . she's hailed for a wide-awake performance in "Russet Mantle."

By GEORGE ROSS

New York, Jan. 30.—Broadway's prospects are looking up. They were pretty low for a while. So low that one theatrical manager was heard to mutter something about his show being so terrible that even the warehouse refused to accept it.

But now two new plays have arrived to remain longer than the recent overnight guests. These newcomers are "Russet Mantle" and "I Want a Policeman."

Hollywood, saddled to the box office, usually identifies its Westerns with Tom Mix and Hoot Gibson, but Broadway trusts to Lynn Riggs for a truer view of the cowboy country. His "Green Grow the Lilacs" was a folk play of endearing memory. Now, in "Russet Mantle," which has lodged at the Masque Theatre, Mr. Riggs, the Oklahoma poet, has a gentle laugh and a warm tear for various Easterners who take a ranch on the Santa Fe trail and feel miserable in God's country. Because they are likeable people, Mr. Riggs casts them in the show with tolerant affection, and the simple humors and high ideals of his play so affected New York's critical clan that they greeted "Russet Mantle" the next morning with hosannas.

Specifically, "Russet Mantle" deals with the Kincaids, who have as guests at their Santa Fe ranch, their niece and her garrulous mother. Life is stolid for the older folk, who have a sound respect for the proprieties. But the young girl is restless, untamed and seeks adventure. This comes to her when a young, amiable poet happens along to take charge of the hens and chickens and instantly falls in love with her. It is when her family finds out that she is affianced to the handsome vagabond that the fun and trouble start. And end, Mr. Riggs implies, upon a happy note.

For this subdued comedy, several sterling players do proudly by their art. "Russet Mantle" gives Martha Sleeper an opportunity to show that she is one of the prettiest and most talented ingenues in the current theatre; and it affords Margaret Douglass, who can make a Southern accent as thick as Chicken Gumbo, a chance to reveal herself as a hilarious comedienne. You will hear from her. While Evelyn Varden and Jay Fassett are perfect as the quiet gentlefolk inhabiting New Mexico.

And now, who killed Cock Robin? Well, if not Cock Robin, old Eric Davidson. For old Eric is the first victim of the calculating killer in Broadway's new see-and-shudder thriller, "I Want a Policeman."

Not the most mystifying of mystery plays, "I Want a Policeman" will do until we get a better one. For what would Broadway be without a single Who-Done-It to puzzle us?

The authors of this shocker, the Messrs. King and Lazarus, have tossed in about every device you and I could possibly think of, when contemplating murder. Secret panels, dark rooms, passages in the clothes closet, knife-throwing, sustituting corpses—they all figure in the aftermath of old Eric's demise.

Knowing that they are engaged in lethal hokum for the sake of entertainment, the players do their bounden duty by the terror. Sylvia Field shrieks and shrugs like a real mystery play heroine and Estelle Winwood, holding court in a Long Island mansion, is every inch of her a lady. As the "dick" who is, of course, fearless, Weldon Heyburn faces gun nozzles heroically and Harold Moffet shuffles along engagingly as a dumb flatfoot.

LES STOEFEN WILL MARRY

Famous United States Tennis Player Will Wed Ruth Moody Next Month

Los Angeles, Jan. 30.—Lestre R. Stoefen twice national tennis doubles champion, will marry Miss Ruth Moody, eighteen, Cody, Wyo., at the home of her mother here February 4.

The six-foot four-inch net star said he and his bride will leave a few hours after the wedding on a honeymoon trip north, stopping that night in Santa Barbara where he will play a tennis match.

Miss Moody, a beauty contest winner, is a film actress. She has appeared in the pictures "Gold Diggers of 1936," "Frisco Kid," and others. She and Stoefen have been engaged for more than a year. It was Miss Moody who definitely squelched Stoefen's ambition to quit the courts for the boxing ring.

ALBERTY BABY IS BORN ON SLEIGH

Pouce Coupe, B.C., Jan. 30.—Mrs. A. York is in a hospital here with a nine and a half pound boy which was born as the mother arrived in a sleigh at the door of the hospital, the horses exhausted after a five-hour race from Baytree, Alta.

Mother and child, her twelfth, are doing well.

Appoint Delegate—Queen of the Island, L.O.B.A., held its regular meeting recently with Worthy Mistress Mrs. W. Baker in the chair. Members stood in silent tribute to the memory of His late Majesty. The forthcoming sessions of the R. W. Grand Lodge were discussed and Mrs. W. Baker appointed delegate. Arrangements were made for a card game after next meeting. Will all members of the get-together committee please note the meeting to-night at 8 o'clock in the small hall.

ON ROUND-THE-WORLD TRIP

HOSPITAL WILL HOLD SHOWER

Annual Appeal For Linen For Jubilee on February 7, W.A. Decides

Friday, February 7, is the new date chosen for the annual linen shower of the Royal Jubilee Hospital, the change from February 14 being decided upon at the monthly meeting of the Women's Auxiliary held yesterday afternoon at the Nurses' Home, the president, Mrs. John Phethean, in the chair.

Mrs. L. G. W. Tallamy and Mrs. H. Billingsley will be conveners of the tea; Mrs. F. C. Dillabough will have charge of the linen, and Mrs. Guy Sheppard is arranging a musical programme.

Prior to the opening of business, the members stood in silence as a tribute to His Late Majesty King George, and standing votes of sympathy were extended to Mrs. T. W. Walker, Mrs. Aaron Read, and to the relatives of the late Mrs. R. B. Wilson and Miss Wigley.

Mrs. H. G. S. Heisterman reported two well-attended sewing meetings in January. The sum of $4 for dues was received from Mrs. F. M. Bryant and Mrs. F. V. Longstaff.

A letter was read from the City Council granting permission for the auxiliary to hold its annual tag day for the hospital on Saturday, April 4. A letter of thanks from the hospital board acknowledged the auxiliary's gift of an inductotherm, which was proving of great value to the hospital.

Miss C. Hall and Mrs. L. G. W Tallamy were appointed visitors for the next three months, and Mrs. E H. Griffiths and Mrs. Vaughan Roberts as the buying committee for the same length of time.

Miss Mitchell, director of nursing, asked for chintz for the fourth floor and also asked to have the dishes in the kitchen of the Nurses' Home replenished. A Christmas donation from Mrs. Dunsmuir of $50 was gratefully acknowledged, and with this donation, slippers were purchased for the men's and women's wards, and Christmas cheer for the aged men and women in the hospital annex.

RESPECT GIRL'S LAST REQUEST

Identity of Montreal Suicide Not Disclosed By Parents

Canadian Press

Montreal, Jan. 29.—Parents of a youthful widow are keeping the last request she made before committing suicide more than a month ago. They will not disclose her identity.

The body of the twenty-three-year-old widow was found in a hotel room. Police failed to find any relatives or establish her identity.

Apparently the girl's parents have been in Montreal all the time. A letter received yesterday by the Big Sisters' Association asked that some representative of the association attend the funeral, to be held next week, and place on the coffin a wreath to be purchased with an enclosed $5.

"Please see that she has a Protestant funeral," requested the note. "Buy some flowers with the enclosed $5 and place them on her coffin in the name of her family, who are respecting her last wish that they do not claim her body.

"She was a good girl who adored her husband, and did not wish to live without him. . . . If you do this it will be a great comfort to those who loved her."

The letter was unsigned.

A surprise party was held on Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. McCague, 2808 Grahame Street, the occasion being the birthday of Mrs. McCague. Bridge was enjoyed, the winners were Mrs. Scoular and Mrs. Alexander. A dainty supper was served, the decorated birthday cake occupying the centre of the table. Mrs. Keeler presented the guest of honor with a cutglass flower vase with a birthday card. Evening was brought to a close by the singing "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows." The self-invited guests were Mesdames M. Elder, T. Scoular, L. Richards, M. Farquhar, D. Yeamans, J. Stewart, L. Alexander, D. English, M. A. Thompson, J. Hogg, E. Laver, M. Keeler, E. Graham, Messrs. T. Scoular, J. Hogg, A. Marconini, J. Stewart, W. McCague and J. McCague.

AMATEUR HOUR AT BEAUX-ARTS

The Beaux-Arts Society is anticipating an evening full of fun tonight at their new headquarters in the Crystal Garden auditorium, Belleville Street.

Arrangements have been made to stage an "Amateur Hour," with songs, barnyard noises, impersonations, recitations and musical selections. Maurice Humber will take the role of Major Crows, armed with the gong, and Gilbert Fraser will be the announcer.

As this will be the monthly social meeting, members are privileged to bring their friends.

Pupils' Recital At Victoria West

Before an interested audience in St. Saviour's Hall, Victoria West, on Saturday evening, the pianoforte pupils of Mary Edwards, L.R.S.M., gave a recital, assisted by other artists. It was also the occasion of the presentation of certificates to pupils who had been successful in the examinations of the Royal Schools of Music, the recipients being Edith Vesey, Jeanne Stewart and Marian Watson.

The following pupils took part in the programme of pianoforte solos and duets: Gordon Wilfert, Betty Garnett, Audley Haack, Myrtle Painter, Virginia Goodman, Margaret Hiquebran, Eric Going, Margaret Wilfert, Jeanne Stewart, Frank Wilfert, Alice Stone, Edith McGoldrick, John Wilfert, Marian Watson, Alfred Jenkins, Edith Vesey, Melville Painter.

Others assisting included John Pimm, who was heard to advantage in two violin solos, and James McVie contributed two vocal solos in a pleasing manner.

The programme was brought to a close by the singing of God Save the King.

LANGFORD

The monthly meeting of the Langford Women's Institute was held Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. D. B. F. Bullen presiding. Mrs. R. J. Smith, secretary-treasurer gave the financial statement.

An invitation was received from the committee of the Queen Alexandra Solarium to attend their annual meeting on Monday, February 10.

Mrs. D. B. F. Bullen, Mrs. R. J. Smith, Mrs. E. C. Brock and Miss L. M. A. Savory were appointed delegates to the annual meeting of the Local Council of Women on February 12. Resolutions on the principle of state health insurance and safety instruction in motor traffic were endorsed.

The child welfare and infant clinic will be held at Shirley at 10.30 on Saturday morning, February 1, instead of Langford.

The following conveners were appointed: Institute work and method, Mrs. D. B. F. Bullen; home economics, Mrs. J. M. Ritchie; education and better schools, Mrs. P. N. Welch; agriculture and industries, Miss Savory; league of nations, Mrs. R. J. Smith; legislation, Mrs. R. M. Heggie; publicity, Mrs. H. A. Hincks; child welfare and public health, Mrs. E. C. Brock; visiting committee, Mrs. R. J. Smith and Mrs. H. A. Hincks; community betterment, Mrs. E. C. Brock.

COURT REFUSES ANNULMENT

Canadian Press

Montreal, Jan. 30.—A Protestant married to a Roman Catholic before a Protestant minister cannot complain of the competency of the officiating clergyman and ask the civil courts to annul his mixed marriage on the grounds it should have been performed by a Roman Catholic priest, Mr. Justice Alfred Forest ruled in superior court yesterday.

First of its kind in Quebec, the judgment rejected suit by which George Griffiths, Protestant, sought to have his marriage to Evelyn Riggs, Roman Catholic, annulled because the officiating clergyman was a Protestant. Rev. Lachlan A. MacLean, a United Church minister, performed the ceremony. Mrs. Griffiths now lives in Ottawa.

In support of his plea for civil annulment Griffiths filed an ecclesiastical decree of annulment, granted by the chancellery of the Roman Catholic diocese of Montreal, obtained in the name of his wife.

Griffiths said he was married before a Protestant clergyman because his future wife was with child at the time and "there is less publicity in a Protestant marriage than in a Catholic one." Justice Forest said the reason had "no legal value."

Several 1935 Festival winners will appear in the concert which will be given under the auspices of the Dominion Academy of Music, to-morrow night, January 31, at the Shrine Auditorium, commencing at 8.15 o'clock.

The programme, including vocal and elocution numbers as well as pianoforte and embracing a wide range of style in musical composition from the early seventeenth century to the present day, follows and should prove thoroughly attractive to all music-lovers.

WOMAN'S AGE IS COURT SECRET

Edmonton, Jan. 30.—When an inquisitive barrister asks a woman witness her age that delicate question need not be answered, according to a ruling made in the Alberta Supreme Court here yesterday by Chief Justice W. C. Ives.

During the trial of Henry Graves Curlett, Westlock mayor, on a charge of false pretences, the accused's sister-in-law, Miss Doris Marjorie Bailey, was asked by J. J. Frawley, K.C., crown counsel, her age at a certain date.

The witness hesitated. "You don't have to answer that question," interrupted Mr. Justice Ives with a smile. So the question remained unanswered.

AIRMAN PRAISES WOMAN'S PLUCK

Seattle, Jan. 30.—A fifty-seven-year-old aviatrix, modest Emma Edwards Leavenworth, complained today that the moderate pace of an automobile cramps her style.

"You can't get any speed out of an automobile," she complained as she tugged a pilot's helmet down on her ears—"so I took up flying."

Leonard R. Peterson, her instructor, said he believes she is the oldest American woman to fly a plane. "All the other women fliers are much younger than Miss Leavenworth in years—but certainly not in grit and viewpoint."

CIRCLES LIVE UP TO MOTTO

King's Daughters Aid Many Needy Cases "In His Name"

Practical assistance in the shape of gifts and cash to many institutions, as well as help to individual cases and families, was extended by the King's Daughters circles last year in exemplification of the order's motto to lend a hand "In His Name."

Among the institutions and organizations with whom the circles co-operated were the Jubilee Hospital, the Victorian Order of Nurses, W.C.T.U. Home, King's Daughters Hospital at Duncan, Y.W.C.A., Children's Ward of the Jubilee Hospital, Sunshine Inn, Chinese Relief Inn, Solarium, T.B. Veterans and the Gyro hamper fund. In addition, the order maintained its Rest Room for business girls in the Hibben-Bone Building and renovated and refurnished its cottage at Sunshine Camp at Saseenos.

These activities were enumerated in the general report presented at the annual district meeting of the King's Daughters held early this week." A brief summary of the work of the individual circles follows:

HAWTHORNE CIRCLE

Hawthorne Circle has a membership of nineteen. Helped with all the district undertakings and supplied groceries to three families, coal and wood to another family, cod liver oil for a sick child, gave out two layettes and also provided a bolt of flannel to another mother to make up herself. Supplied one man with clothing from head to foot to assist him to get a job, gave shoes, stockings and underwear to several school children, while the sewing members made and distributed seven nightdresses, sweaters and children's undergarments. One hamper was sent out at Christmas, and milk has been supplied to an elderly woman.

MINISTERING CIRCLE

With a membership of twenty, the Ministering Circle gave cash donations to the Rest Room, Children's Aid, Sunshine Inn and Salvation Army, and also distributed six hampers and fuel at Christmas.

SPEEDWELL CIRCLE

With only eleven members, Speedwell Circle raised funds through talent money and the sale of a cook book comprising favorite recipes collected by the members. The district undertakings were supported, and a gas plate and oilcloth donated to the Rest Room. A layette was given to a needy family.

READY-TO-HELP CIRCLE

The making and distribution of layettes was the chief work of the Ready-to-Help Circle, layettes being supplied to the Victorian Order of Nurses and the Jubilee Hospital, also to two needy cases. Donations of cash and groceries were made to the Protestant Orphanage, Gyro hamper fund, V.O.N., also clothing given to needy cases and hot soup provided twice weekly to a V.O.N. patient.

L. H. HARDIE CIRCLE

This circle, named after Mrs. L. H. Hardie in tribute to her many years of devoted service as district president, sent a box of jam to the Solarium in March and a quilt in October, which was made by the members at their meetings. The circle adopted a girl at the Orphanage, giving her Easter, birthday and Christmas gifts. At Christmas the older girls of the Orphanage were entertained at a party at the Rest Rooms.

VICTORIA CIRCLE

The Victoria Circle, though with only about five active members, knitted six jerseys and made a pair of pyjamas for needy cases, and helped a rural family with cash and clothing. One member visited two blind residents. In addition, the circle supported the various district activities.

FELLOWSHIP CIRCLE

Organized last May, the Fellowship Circle of young girls increased in that short time from sixteen to thirty-five. Considerable sewing was done for the King's Daughters' Hospital at Duncan, infants' garments knitted for the Jubilee Hospital, scrap books made for the little patients and Christmas candy bags made for them. At Christmas the circle sent gifts to each of twenty-nine Indian children at Squirrel Cove.

ON LONG SEA VOYAGE BY HIMSELF

The prospect of a long sea voyage held no terrors for four-year-old Donald Paul Giddings, who sailed from Victoria yesterday evening aboard the Canadian Australasian motorliner Aorangi for his new home in Honolulu. Left an orphan, young Donald was adopted by a Honolulu couple. He came to Victoria yesterday afternoon from Seattle aboard the Ss. Princess Charlotte, in charge of Stewardess Mary Malcolm. He was met here by C. E. Blaney Jr., traveling passenger agent on Vancouver Island for the Canadian Pacific. "Bud" took his small charge for a drive about the city, played marbles with him, and because Mr. Blaney lost the game he stood the treat for ice cream. Later he took Don to the Y.W.C.A. where the small boy remained until he went aboard the Aorangi. He went to bed immediately, had a big dinner, under the supervision of Stewardess Amy Elders and was fast asleep when the Aorangi backed out into the moonlight at 9 o'clock. This time next week he will be with his new parents in Honolulu.

"HOME PLANNING" LECTURE

IN THE VICTORIAN RESTAURANT

To-morrow Afternoon, at 2.30 o'clock

"The Bay" extends an invitation to all those interested in new ideas for tasteful and attractive home arrangements to hear a special lecture which will be given by Mr. Lownds, adviser on Interior Decorating. He will illustrate how easy it is to arrange your furniture, furnishings and decorative pieces so as to give a cheery and extremely effective atmosphere.

If you are planning a new home—or modernizing your present home—or have a refurnishing plan in mind—or wish some new ideas on home arrangement—

. . . we suggest that you attend this lecture to-morrow afternoon. We invite you also to consult Mr. Lownds, personally, on any of your Home-planning problems. Appointments may be made with Mr. Lownds to discuss Home Furnishings from 4 to 6 o'clock each afternoon.

Woman Clown Now "Top-liner"

Mrs. Dorothy Vardell, of London Circus Fame, Makes Hit With Children.

London (Special Correspondence)—The only woman clown in Great Britain, Mrs. Dorothy Vardell, is in her element just now. She is one of the big "hits" of the Crystal Palace Circus, to which flock school children from all parts of South London and the suburbs.

How she came to be a clown is a romantic story. Seventeen years ago, her husband, leader of the "Vardell Four," was in danger of losing his livelihood because he could not find a good clown for his act.

In desperation, he asked his wife to try. So she daubed her face with flour, blacked her eyebrows with burned cork and put on a wig. She looked so comical that her husband burst out laughing.

Encouraged by this success, Mrs. Vardell applied real clown's make-up—including the thick red lips and face patches— and accompanied her husband next time he entered the ring.

They made a perfect pair. They tumbled about as if they had acted together all their lives and the children shrieked with laughter.

That was seventeen years ago—but Mrs. Vardell has gone on appearing in the ring. Now she is a "top-liner" clown.

FORGOT £2,000

A woman who saw £2,000 put down on her doorstep—and forgot all about it—is to-day bewailing the loss of her life savings. She is Mrs. Susan J. Follows, who keeps house for her brother at East Ham, near London.

She had taken the money, together with her jewellery and some important documents with her when she went to a friend's house not far away.

Fear of fire made her do this, but as she was accompanied by her brother, Mr. Whybro, she felt quite safe in carrying such a large sum.

When they returned, Mr. Whybro was carrying two cases: his sister's, containing the £2,000 and one of his own. While opening the door, he put both cases down on the doorstep.

They went inside. Fifteen minutes later, Mrs. Follows remembered that she had not seen her brother pick up both cases, when he had opened the door.

She rushed into the hall. Her fears were confirmed. There was only one case. She opened the door. But the other case was missing. Although only a quarter of an hour had elapsed, somebody had taken it.

For its return £100 is being offered.

AGE NO BAR

The "Cycling Grandmother" is Mrs. M. A. Spanton Cooper's newly-won title.

Although seventy-two, she has just cycled 544 miles in nine cycling days. She set out from the Cycle Show in London and did the journey on a new machine chosen specially for her at the show.

The old lady's hobbies are swimming and whist drives. During her tour, she attended several whist drives and won two prizes.

Mrs. Margaret Fullerton, of Glasgow, has another claim to fame.

This week she celebrates her 103rd birthday — and she attributes her longevity to two bottles of stout daily.

Late nights, too, she believes are good. At any rate, she insisted on staying up till long past midnight to see in the New Year.

Their romance follows a fireside courtship. Both possess many common interests, including a hearty dislike of talkies and neither is "fond of gadding."

BRIEF ROMANCE ENDS IN JAIL

Canadian Press

Kansas City, Jan. 30.—The romance of "Dr." Bernard Henry Sewell ran like this: He met the girl Saturday.

He married her Monday.

He went to jail Tuesday.

His picture of himself as a millionaire, doctor of philosophy and professor of geology at the University of California captivated the heart of a lingerie saleswoman whom he met at a theatre here.

Yesterday, while his bride sobbed at her home, Sewell, who police said confessed he was none of the things he had stated, was held for questioning. Authorities sought to learn if he was wanted for confidence operations.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

DON'T ENCOURAGE CHILD TO EAT MORE THAN HIS APPETITE DEMANDS

"Exactly how many spoonfuls of the different foods should I give my baby?" The answer to this often asked question is really very simple. As many spoonfuls as the baby will eat with relish, and not one spoonful more

There is no question but that the road to enjoyment of foods as food, is too often denied the well fed, or rather the overfed child. Food is something which his mother stuffs into his mouth three times a day whether he will or no.

VARIETY IS THE SPICE

Before him at each meal is a stated number of tablespoons of cereal, vegetable and pudding, and so many ounces of milk. Every dish should be empty, the cup drained dry, at the end of each meal.

The mothers themselves do not consume at each meal exactly the same amount of food. They consider it no crime to refuse meat some days and at others to ignore their desserts. Likewise, they should realize that children do not always feel up to four tablespoons of vegetable, or half a cup of pudding or a cereal dish of porridge, however, appetizingly prepared.

MAKE IT PRECIOUS

Our leaflet, "Introducing New Foods," is intended as a check on the enthusiasms of mothers introducing the child to the joys of new foods. It may be had for a self addressed, 3-cent stamped envelope sent to Myrtle Meyer Eldred, "Your Baby and Mine" department of this newspaper.

But by and large the mother's rare opportunity to make food seem precious and likeable to a child is to offer just a little less at each meal than the child will eat with relish. A clean plate may satisfy the mother but it often represents distasteful satiety to the child.

GIVES LATE KING'S CODE FOR LIVING

Canadian Press

Toronto, Jan. 30.—Mayor Sam McBride presented members of the city council to-day with copies of the "King's Code for Living," subscribed to by King George V and commended by him to the empire's school children.

It read:

"Teach me to observe the rules of the game.

"Teach me neither to cry for the moon nor for spilt milk.

"Help me to distinguish between sentiment and sentimentality, cleaving to one and despising the other.

"Help me neither to proffer nor to receive cheap praise.

"If I am called upon to suffer, let me be like the well-bred beast, which goes away and suffers in silence.

"Teach me to win when I may, and, if I may not win, then above all else, I pray, make me a good loser."

Sister MARY'S KITCHEN

By MARY E. DAGUE

ONE of the supposedly complicated processes of housekeeping is making cream of tomato soup. I say supposedly complicated because it seems to me the premise is all wrong. Cream of tomato is no harder to make than a piece of toast if you know how. I am against adding soda. In fact, it is almost impossible to add soda in small enough amount to small quantities of soup not to ruin the flavor entirely.

The following rule is carefully worked out and produces a deliciously smooth cream soup. The method is quite as important as the proportions.

CREAM OF TOMATO SOUP

Two cups canned tomatoes, 1 small onion, 2 teaspoons sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, celery tops, 3 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 2 cups milk, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, 6 peppercorns.

Melt one tablespoon butter and add onion, peeled and sliced. Cook over a low fire for five minutes. Add tomatoes, sugar, salt, celery tops and peppercorns. Cover pan and simmer fifteen minutes. Rub through a sieve. In another pan melt remaining butter and stir in flour. Cook and stir until bubbly. Slowly add milk, stirring constantly. Take the sauce from the fire and add the sifted tomato pulp which has been kept hot while the thin white sauce was being made. Be sure to add the tomato puree to the sauce, not the sauce to the puree. Add parsley and serve at once. This soup will separate or curdle if allowed to stand or if reheated.

Apple up-side-down cake is a good dessert to serve when you have cream of tomato soup and a green salad for luncheon.

APPLE UP-SIDE-DOWN CAKE

Four tablespoons butter, 1 cup brown sugar, 3 or 4 apples, ½ cup seedless raisins, ¾ cup grated cheese, ¼ cup shortening, ¾ cup granulated sugar, 1 egg, ¾ cup milk, 2 cups cake flour, 2½ teaspoons baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon vanilla.

Wash raisins and cover with boiling water. Let stand five minutes and drain. Melt butter in frying pan and sprinkle evenly with brown sugar. Add apples pared and thinly sliced and sprinkle with raisins. Sprinkle with cheese and cover with batter made as follows:

Soften shortening. Beat egg until light, beating in sugar and softened shortening. Mix and sift flour, salt, cinnamon and baking powder and add with milk and vanilla to first mixture. Beat well and pour over prepared apples. Bake forty minutes in a moderate oven (350 degrees F).

MAKING POINSETTIAS LAST

The stems of poinsettas and other flowers with juicy or milky stems should be sealed before they are placed in water. Hold the ends of the stems over a flame for a second or two or, if you like, immerse in boiling water for two minutes. Then place in vase of cold water.

WILL ROGERS'S DAUGHTER ON BROADWAY

PLAN COLLEGE OF NURSING

Canadian Press

Montreal, Jan. 30.—Plan for establishment of a Canada-wide registration of nurses was outlined here yesterday at the annual meeting of the Association of Registered Nurses of the Province of Quebec by Miss E. MacPherson Dickson of Toronto, a former president of the national association.

That the affairs of the college be administered by a council of two nurses appointed by each provincial association; two members appointed by the Governor-General in council, and a director from each provincial association, making twenty-nine members in all.

It was recommended the government appointees should be one Protestant and Roman Catholic nurse.

Miss Dickson said the committee report was sent to all provincial associations with a recommendation they study it before the final draft is submitted to the general meeting of the Canadian Nurses' Association at Vancouver, June 29 to July 4 next.

Smart Gunboat Takes To Water

New York, Jan. 30.—The U.S.S. Erie, one of the first modern gunboats to be built by the navy, was launched at the Navy Yard in Brooklyn yesterday.

The craft is intended for use in West Indian and Asiatic waters. Built at a cost of $2,000,000, it is 328.5 feet long and capable of developing a speed of twenty knots. It is armed with four six-inch guns.

NEW EUROPE SERVICE SET

Seattle, Jan. 30.—W. L. Comyn, head of W. L. Comyn Ltd. of San Francisco, arrived here yesterday from New York and announced organization of the Brostroem Line, first direct connection between Seattle and Rotterdam, Antwerp and Ostend.

He said he had completed arrangements with T. E. J. Brostroem, owner of the ships, for service to start with the motorship Falsterboro, due in Vancouver, B.C., late in March and due here in early April. The second will be the motorship Permia, due on this range in late April.

Brilliant All-Blacks Running Attack Beats Victoria Ruggers

Lester Patrick Still Changing His Team

Manager of New York Rangers Asks Waivers on Keeling, Ayres and Mason; Charlie Conacher Will Return to Toronto Line-up To-night

New York, Jan. 30.—On the heels of two trades with Chicago which involved a couple of hockey's outstanding stars, New York Rangers have begun another shakeup in an effort to find a winning combination for the National Hockey League battle.

In the trades, the Rangers sent Earl Seibert to Chicago for Art Coulter and brought the famous Howie Morenz to New York in exchange for the comparatively obscure Glen Brydson.

The latest Ranger move has been the asking of waivers on Butch Keeling, Vernon (Jumbo) Ayres and Charlie Mason.

Ayres and Mason already have been sent to the Rangers' Philadelphia farm. Keeling, if all National League clubs waive on him, probably will be given his unconditional release, Lester Patrick, Ranger manager, said.

Keeling may possibly go to New York Americans, although they've indicated they don't want to pay the $5,000 waiver price. The Amerks had to recall big Dede Klein from Rochester, for left wing service against the Montreal Maroons to-night when an injury to Tommy Anderson's hand turned out to be more serious than they had thought.

Toronto, Jan. 30.—Toronto Maple Leafs are mighty glad Charlie Conacher will be back in their lineup to-night when they meet Canadiens in Montreal and not only because of the aid the big right winger may give them against Habitants.

They must play three games in the next four nights and feel if Conacher has recovered sufficiently from his back injury to take his regular turn of duty their chances of picking up badly needed points will be improved.

Conacher probably will be used sparingly to-night and may not get into action on the line with Joe Primeau and Harvey Jackson. Coach Dick Irvin may use Rookie Jack Markle at right wing with that trio and break Conacher in gradually at a defence post.

The Toronto-Canadien clash is one of three games to-night that bring all four teams in the National Hockey League's Canadian division and the two leaders in the American section into action.

Montreal Maroons, who lead Toronto by only a point at the Canadian group top, play Red Dutton's Americans in New York, and Chicago and Red Wings meet in Detroit.

The Montreal and New York contests are expected to break up the tie between Americans and Canadiens for third place. They both have twenty-three points, five less than Maroons.

Black Hawks move into Detroit only a point behind Red Wings, they could take the division leadership by beating Detroit, who have lost their last two games to Toronto and Boston.

THE SPORTS MIRROR

LEGS GO FIRST and then the eyes. Jack Dempsey still had his famous punch at Soldiers' Field, but a groggy Gene Tunney ran backward faster than the old Man Mauler could move forward.

Walter Johnson fogged the ball by the Cleveland Indians in batting practice last summer. Creaking underpinning put the Big Train on the sidelines.

Babe Ruth remained dangerous when he didn't have a leg under him, but was on his way out when he commenced to take good pitches.

Wahoo Sam Crawford and many others could whack that ball when they could no longer get around, but a star in any game must be able to stand up—even in billiards. Steady pins are as important as hitting the object ball.

Willie Hoppe, first of the boy wonders, says that the three-cushion world championship, which he captured in his challenge match with Walter Cochran in Chicago, was won on the St. Albans golf course on Long Island.

"Most people don't realize the importance of strong, sound legs to a tournament billiard player," asserts Hoppe. "I haven't been in such fine physical condition in five years. That is why I am playing better than in any recent season.

"I don't know how many miles a billiard player walks during a tournament, but I do know that the strain eventually becomes terrific. If the legs have not been made ready for the test, they will fail the player at some important stage of the match and he is beaten."

Hoppe spent practically every afternoon last summer and early fall on the St. Albans course, where his playing partner frequently was Ruth.

"Those St. Albans hills helped my legs," he beams. "I took long walks after the golf season closed. I walked much out of doors in preparing for Cochran. It was proper preparation that enabled me to win."

Hoppe was introduced to the royal and ancient game two summers ago by Jack Doyle, the sage of Broadway. In learning the sport, the master of the ivories went to work with the same painstaking attention to detail that marked his success in the precise game of billiards.

"I have seen Hoppe practice a single billiard shot hour after hour," explains Doyle. "And I have seen him spend hour after hour on the practice hole at St. Albans, developing his wood shots and approach. As a result, he came to be a good golfer in a short period. Oh, nothing in the way of a champion, perhaps, but a player consistently in the 90s, and one with a delicate touch on the green."

Hoppe, of course, pooh-poohs his prospects in golf. He looks with no covetous eyes on the honors of Lawson Little or Gene Sarazen. But he doesn't discount the physical benefits the fairways brought to him.

Hoppe won his first world championship, the 18.1 balkline title, just four days less than thirty years before he defeated Cochran to become the only luminary of cue and ivories to hold three world championships simultaneously. He was sixteen years of age when he became an international figure by repulsing the veteran Maurice Vignaux of France at the Grand Hotel in Paris, January 15, 1906, to acquire his first major crown.

Such athletic stars as Jim Jeffries, Battling Nelson, Joe Gans, Ty Cobb, Hans Wagner, Three-Fingered Brown, Ted Coy, Mel Sheppard, Devereux Milburn, and Maurice C. McLoughlin were then in their prime or still pointing toward the peak.

Dempsey, Ruth, Bobby Jones, Big Bill Tilden, and Little Bill Johnston were names still years away from flashing across the sports pages.

The thirty years have seen the greatest parade of sports champions in history appear on the horizon, march over the hill, and disappear, leaving the memory of thrills and mighty deeds accomplished.

But Willie Hoppe was there as a champion when the procession came into view and is still here to-day, a champion of the present as well as the past—and still only forty-eight years old.

And billiards experts declare that he is good for at least ten more years if his legs—and the St. Albans golf course—hold out.

VIRGINIAN TO OPPOSE KRUSE

"Wee Willie" Davis to Make Initial Mat Appearance Here Saturday

Another leading heavyweight wrestler will make his initial bow before local wrestling enthusiasts on Saturday evening in the person of "Wee Willie" Davis, who is slated to grapple with Bob Kruse, Oswego farmer, in the main bout on Promoter Fred Richardson's weekly wrestling show at the Tillicum Gym. The opening tussle will be at 8.45 o'clock.

Davis is a giant. He stands six feet five in his stockinged feet and weighs all of 250 pounds. He hails from Virginia. He has earned himself a bad reputation owing to his rough tactics and it looks like Bob Kruse will have another tough opponent.

Kruse has met and defeated some of the best of heavyweights, and is one of the best on the coast. He may not be popular with the fans but he is a great drawing card. He took on Tiger Dauda, giant East Indian, in his last appearance here.

Promoter Richardson will secure two other good matmen for the semi-final event and local wrestlers will fight it out in the opener.

New Grandstand Jammed To Capacity For Big Match

An indication of the support Victoria sports followers gave the New Zealand All-Blacks-Victoria rep team rugby game is shown in the top picture. The new grandstand, with a capacity of about 1,000, was completely filled and the overflow rauged four and five deep completely around the field. In the centre picture are the New Zealanders giving their "Haka," a sort of war dance, welcome greeting or sign of jubilation. Led by Tory Reid, the Maori forward at the extreme left, the members of the team participating are, from left to right, Corner, Brown, Ball, Oliver, McLean, Best, Dalton, MacKenzie, Lambourn Adkins, Mahoney, Caughey, Tindall and Solomon. Side by side before the battle, the All-Blacks and Victoria reps had nothing but smiles for the camera, the players along with the different officials in the group follow: Sitting, left to right—Bob McInnes, Victoria manager; Harry Peard, Henry Brown, Ian Acland, Dave Solomon, Ronnie McConnan, Mac Mackenzie, Bill Wharton, Victoria captain; V. R. S. Meredith, tour manager; Charlie Oliver, All-Blacks captain; Pete Turgoose, Tonk Mahoney, Jack Bankes, Doug Dalton, Campbell Forbes, Tom Caughey, Doug Peden, Tory Reid, Russell Ker, Arthur Cox, J. B. Acland; standing, left to right—Ernie Butterworth, Charlie Morton, N. Wright, Captain E. D. W. Levien, Kenny Buxton, J. L. Griffith, G. F. Hart, Harry Warburton, Bill Hadley, R. R. PETERSEN IS STILL CHAMP

Retains British Empire Heavyweight Title By Decision Over Harvey

London, Jan. 30.—Jack Petersen yesterday evening retained his British and British Empire heavyweight championship by outpointing Len Harvey in a fifteen-rounder at Wembley Stadium.

A number of heavyweights are anxious for a try at Peterson's crown. Ambrose Palmer, the Australian champion, was signed earlier this month to meet the winner of the Petersen-Harvey fight. Ben Foord South African champion, claims he has a prior right for a title go because of his victory over Larry Gains, the Toronto negro, last year.

As the fight began, Petersen floored Harvey for a count of four with a stinging right hook to the jaw. The challenger was dazed and Petersen followed up his advantage punishing his opponent with head and body blows. Harvey backed to the ropes and covered up against the onslaught.

ROCKS PETERSEN

By the third round, however, he had recovered and launched a spirited attack. He landed two hard rights to the jaw and followed with another in the fourth which rocked Petersen on his heels. It was the champion's turn to be dazed by Harvey's speed.

In the fifth the challenger shook Petersen with two uppercuts to the jaw. His speedy footwork enabled him to outwit the champion.

From then on, however, Harvey began to weaken, and Petersen maintained a continuous offensive. He landed a terrific right to the chin in the twelfth and scored frequently in the last three rounds.

A crowd of 12,000 saw the fight. Petersen received £4,500 and Harvey £3,000. The champion weighed in at 187 pounds and the challenger at 177.

BLANTON SIGNED BY PITTSBURGH

Shawnee, Okla., Jan. 30.—Pitcher "Cy" Blanton announced jubilantly yesterday he has signed a new Pittsburgh Pirate contract, calling for a raise of "more than 100 per cent"—and he is "rarin' to go."

PERRY READY FOR PRACTICE

British Tennis Star Announces He Will Be Ready For Coming Tournaments

London, Jan. 30.—Fred Perry isn't through with competitive tennis, temporarily or otherwise.

The sparkling Briton said so himself yesterday when he announced he intends to take part in the Wimbledon programme next summer, including the Davis Cup competition, and then go to the United States for the United States singles at Forest Hills.

Perry said he was well on the way to recovery from injuries he suffered in the bad spill he took in his semi-final match against Wilmer Allison in the American championships last September. The injury has been variously described as a ruptured kidney and a broken vertebrae.

"I've followed the doctor's orders and I'll be 'right as rain' when I start practicing again in three or four weeks," Perry added.

The first intimation that Perry's injury was of a lingering nature came last November when he announced from Australia he would be unable to participate in any of the tournaments there because he was still bothered by the effects of the fall.

"I tried to play in Australia after being injured at Forest Hills," he said. "The doctors cautioned me to rest, but I went against their orders. I soon found out that my back muscles had not healed definitely so I withdrew from the tournaments and ever since then I've been careful.

"I have avoided taking any chances so that the injury will not prevent me from participating in any of the 1936 competitions."

BARNEY ROSS TO TAKE ON RISKO

Philadelphia, Jan. 30.—The ambition to crack all records for the fight game by reaching championship heights in four divisions sent Barney Ross in quest of the middleweight title yesterday.

LOCAL TEAM IN FIGHT ALL WAY; FORWARDS STAR

Play-making Insides Major Feature in New Zealand's 27 to 3 Victory

DOUG PEDEN SCORES TRY

Pierced by the spear-like drives of lightning-fast insides, ably buttressed by speedy support, Victoria's rep ruggers yesterday fell the thirtieth victims of the New Zealand All Blacks during their playing tour in the British Isles and Canada. Before a crowd of 5,600 which set a new record for Macdonald Park, the Crimson Corsairs lost 27 to 3, scoring their lone points on an early try by Doug Peden.

Defeated though they were, the Victorians fully earned the paeans of praise that were being showered on them to-day. In the fight all the way, they never ceased their efforts to break through the mighty All-Black defence and in forward formation play were little, if any, below their distinguished opponents.

Masters at lightning breaks themselves, the New Zealand backs gave the Victoria running attack scant opportunity to get started. The visitors smothered the local three before they could get under way and showed the Victorians how fast a backfield should work as they swung through on several of their scoring and yard-gaining plays.

TOOK ALL BREAKS

Quick to take every advantage, the Blacks availed themselves of all the breaks coming their way. When they found they could get away with playing the men instead of the ball on dribbles they used those tactics to stop several promising Victoria rushes.

Charlie Oliver, rated the most brilliant back in New Zealand, displayed the talent that earned him that distinction as he engineered plays, blocked and furnished the speed and brains that made many of the openings. Tom Caughey, sterling five-eighths, ranked scarcely below him on the day's play.

The whole New Zealand backfield moved at times with machine-like precision, although the wings were weak in comparison to the insides.

Once again Victoria saw the value of follow-up plays as crowded New Zealand wings heaved fly-away passes to where supporting players were awaiting them.

The tackling by both sides was as rugged as could be asked.

The Victoria forwards came in for most of the laurels bestowed on the local side. They more than held their own in the heeling, when New Zealand did not play fest up, and would have made their creditable showing in the loose even more effective if the defending All-Blacks had not picked off men instead of the ball on the dribbles.

RUNNING ATTACK EDUCATIONAL

There were no Nepias to show outstanding kicking feats, but the running attack was an education to Victoria followers.

To the impressive war dance of the tourists, Victoria replied with arm-waving drills and "The Big Black Wolf" as the teams took the field.

Veterans comparing the game with that played ten years ago against the All-Blacks felt the improvement in the local team rather than any deterioration in the All-Blacks accounted for the less impressive score piled up by the visitors yesterday.

The game ended fourteen minutes before time, owing to a stoppage in the referee's watch.

Caughey and Hugh McLean scored two tries apiece for the visitors, while Henry Brown, Tory Reid, the Maori, and Oliver each contributed one. Oliver converted two and Reid kicked the extra points on another.

THE PLAY

Wharton kicked off and Victoria was called offside for a midfield scrum. The Capitals went down to the Blacks twenty-five when the Blacks played feet up and one of the visitors fumbled Peden's kick. The visitors cleared with a kick against Victoria for offside and the Blacks' forwards dribbled down. Fleming intercepted on the Victoria twenty-five and ran back to the All-Blacks' forty-five-yard line, where he passed to Forbes. Ball closed on Forbes and brought the Victorian down on New Zealand's thirty-five.

The visitors came back on backfield movements and kicks. Oliver opened up a lovely run and got past Colgate, local fullback, but the attack ended when Brown played offside on Victoria thirty-yard line. The Blacks

SIDELIGHTS

By A. S. — P. S.

CAN YOU get away with that in New Zealand?" asked one of the local scribes as All-Black backs went for men instead of the ball as local forwards dribbled down. "We're getting away with it here, aren't we?" laconically replied the New Zealander so questioned.

Dave Solomon, the Maori boy who played fullback yesterday, is not a fullback. His regular position is five-eighths, teammates explained, but he has not had much action during the trip and the team wanted to bring him into the game.

You need only consider the way Ken Fleming and Paul Rowe streak through local backfields to realize how fast the New Zealanders are. The Victorians are rated ten-second men, but they did not run away from the visiting backs.

It doesn't seem possible to keep those Pedens down. Just when Torchy appears to be having a rough ride in the six-day bike game, up bobs Doug to score the only points against the New Zealanders during their Canadian appearance.

Incidentally that was Wally Byngjolfson, drop-kick hero of the 1923 game, who gave the running description of the match over the air.

A suggestion came from one of the scores of little girls who nearly crawled down the sports writers' necks in their efforts to crane forward and see the game.—"Why don't they cut out those 'scrummy' things in rugby anyhow?" she queried.

A blessing goes to Fred Garvey, rugby specialist for The Province. Fred, in face of dire possibilities in the sport-conscious Terminal City, bet Victoria would make a better showing against the Blacks than did Vancouver. May he rest happy in the collection of his wager.

Funny, isn't it, how the spectators, reporters included, all know more about the game than the players and the referee?

Everything was perfect for the staging of the game. The huge crowd was well-handled and the ticket holders had no trouble getting their reserved seats in the stand. And don't forget that Victoria held up her reputation by providing ideal weather.

Outstanding player on the field was the mild - mannered soft - soften Charlie Oliver, skipper of the Blacks. One of the most noticeable features of his play was a marvelous change of pace on his runs. Just when a Victoria player figured to stop him Oliver would open up with a burst that would do justice to a sprint champion.

One very keen Victoria fan approached several of the New Zealand players after the match and accused the visitors of using "dirty" tactics in their play. The touring players just smiled and one replied: "That is just hard play." However, the New Zealanders earned the reputation of being a "rugged" team during their tour of Britain.

How Victoria was deprived, through an accident, of fourteen minutes of the game was explained to-day by Captain Levien, referee.

"I asked the touch judge to find out what the time was when one of the New Zealanders ran into me and stopped my watch. He did not know but he asked Charlie Morton, who went over and asked Ernie Butterworth. He came back and said thirty minutes. I just added ten minutes on to the time at that point. There was no object in me changing the time. It was merely a misunderstanding."

The referee also explained he was aware of the feet-up" infractions in the scrum but did not want to slow up the exhibition too much. "Both sides had their feet up continually. I couldn't give free kicks against both sides all the time, so what could one do?" he asked.

At the banquet following the match several of the New Zealanders told Captain Levien his refereeing was better than that of several Old Country matches.

Victoria held the All-Blacks scoreless for over twenty minutes. In Vancouver the New Zealanders went over in the first two or three minutes.

Edmonton Continues Sensational Drive In Northwest Hockey

Eskimos Register Seventh Straight Win 7 to 2; Gagne Is Star

Seattle Turns Back Vancouver

Edmonton and Seattle found their reward to-day for a long and gallant climb from cellar berths in the Northwest Hockey League.

Seattle defeated Vancouver 2 to 1 in Seattle yesterday evening while the Eskimos delighted a home crowd by trouncing Calgary 7 to 2 to record their seventh consecutive victory. As a result, Sea Hawks and Eskimos moved into a tie for second place, only half a game behind the leading Lions. Portland was dropped to fourth place, a full game behind the leaders.

Seattle's great defence proved too great an obstacle for the Lions to Hurdle. The first period was scoreless although Clint Smith was robbed of an almost certain goal when Emmett Venne flung himself flat on the ice to make a sensational save after the Vancouver centre had left the defence flatfooted.

Leo Lafrance punched in the first Seattle goal in the second session to make amends for a bad miss he made shortly before when Johnny Houbregs gave him a perfect pass in front of an open goal. Lafrance made a lone rush from mid-ice on the next play and, splitting the Vancouver defence, gave Goalie Johnny Clark no chance.

PROTEST GOAL

Lions uncorked a terrific attack in the final period and were rewarded when Captain Charley O'Neill snapped up a pass from Smith and rifled it into the net. Goalie Venne and other members of the Seattle team protested the goal, contending that Brian Hextall had kicked the rubbed into the net but referee Bernie Morris declared the counter legal.

When Loren Mercer, Vancouver defenceman, was sent to the penalty box, Seattle in turn put on the pressure and Johnny Sheppard took a pass from Dave Gilhooley for the winning goal. Vancouver sent five forwards on the ice near the close but their efforts were thwarted by the strong Sea Hawk defence.

Art Gagne, former major league star, again stole the spotlight at Edmonton as he bagged three goals and assisted in another to lead in the Eskimo victory. Hank Dyck, recently obtained from Vancouver, scored twice in his debut with Edmonton.

Morey Rimstad, Martin and Gagne counted in the first period while Gordon McFarlane scored for Calgary. Dyck made it 4 to 1 in the second on Gagne's pass and in the final session Gagne scored twice and Dyck once. Gordon Savage netted for Calgary in this frame.

An argument between Gagnen and Bob Gilmour in the third period resulted in both being sent to the cooler for five minutes.

Summaries follow:

SEATTLE-VANCOUVER

First period—No score. Penalties: Carse, Gilhooley.

Second period—5, Edmonton, Dyck (Gagne), 8.55. Penalties: Townsend, Holmes.

Third period—6, Edmonton, Gagne, 2.45; 7, Calgary, Savage, 6.00; 8, Edmonton, Dyck (Holmes), 8.25; 9, Edmonton, Gagne (Holmes), 19.58. Penalties: Townsend, Gilmour (five minutes), Gagne (five minutes).

Phelan Signs Year Contract

Seattle, Jan. 30.—Irish Jimmy Phelan will attempt for the seventh time this fall to lead the University of Washington to a Pacific Coast Football Conference championship.

This was made manifest yesterday evening when Phelan affixed his name to a one-year contract at behest of athletic director Charles Frankland of the U. of W., who said terms will not be announced.

Phelan's present salary is $12,000.

ALL-BLACKS GIVE THANKS

New Zealand Ruggers Praise B.C. Officials on Series at Farewell Dinner

Before departing on the liner Aorangi on the final leg of their tour which will carry them back to their homes, members of the New Zealand All-Blacks rugby team, along with the Victoria players who opposed them in the afternoon, were the guests of the British Columbia Rugby Union at a dinner in the Empress Hotel yesterday evening. Russel Ker, president of the B.C. Union, acted as chairman.

In proposing the toast to the All-Blacks, Mr. Ker expressed the appreciation of the province and the provincial union at having such distinguished guests. He congratulated the the Victoria boys on putting up such a splendid game and felt certain they would benefit considerably from playing against such fine opposition. Following the drinking of the toast the assembly honored the visitors by singing "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows."

Replying on behalf of the New Zealand team, Charlie Oliver, captain, thanked the British Columbia rugby officials for their wonderful hospitality. He paid special tribute to H. J. Ketchen, president of the Canadian Rugby Union. "Mr. Ketchen is the man who did the most toward making our Canadian tour such a grand success," Mr. Oliver said. In commenting on the performance of the Victoria team, Mr. Oliver complimented the locals, but offered one word of advice. "Players and officials in Victoria are playing 1936 rules and 1934 standards," he said. "You witnessed our tactics to-day and I hope you copy them and then you will benefit by our playing here." The visiting players then sang, "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows," and finished up by rendering the song in Maori.

Hon. Wells Gray, representing Premier Pattullo, on behalf of the province congratulated the All-Blacks on their wonderful showing throughout their long tour and on their great exhibition in Victoria. He hoped that in future British Columbia would do more business with New Zealand and that both countries would prosper in the coming year.

MANAGER REPLIES

V. D. Meredith, manager of the Blacks, in replying said that he and his boys would carry back to New Zealand many pleasant memories of their trip across Canada. As for doing more business, he said that New Zealand was willing to sell British Columbia all the butter and cheese this province wanted and was willing to do anything that would help to bind together two great nations of the Empire.

Alderman James Adam, representing Mayor Leeming, congratulated the touring players and paid a compliment to the officials of the Victoria Rugby Union for the fine manner in which they staged the first major match at the new Macdonald Park. Alderman Adam introduced ex-Alderman John Worthington as one who was mainly responsible for making the new park such a fine one.

Following the banquet the Victoria officials and players accompanied the All-Blacks to the Outer Docks and wished them bon voyage.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

James Otis, early American statesman whose efforts on behalf of colonial rights gave to the American Revolution its first impetus and directions, ended his days tragically, the victim of an unbalanced mind—a condition believed to have been brought about by a bullet wound in the head inflicted by a customs commissioner with whom Otis quarreled.

His first important contribution to the colonies was his fight against the infamous Writs of Assistance before the Massachusetts Supreme Court. The speech he made before that court has been called the prologue of the revolution. For eight years, from the time he was elected to the legislature until he was wounded, he was the leader of American thought and political development. Later his behaviour was marked by erratic conduct, and during the Battle of Bunker Hill he grabbed a gun and ran into the thick of the fight and was miraculously unharmed. He was still in the legislature even after he was definitely unbalanced—once he shot windows out of the statehouse.

James Otis, in saner days, often said that when it came time for him to die he wanted to be killed by a bolt of lightning. And, strange as it seems, this wish came true. He was killed in 1783 by lightning as he stood at the window of a house in Andover watching a summer thunderstorm.

Strange as it seems, fingering fish can be—and, in fact, have been—"planted" in mountain lakes by dropping them from airplanes. The fish, falling a thousand feet and more, apparently suffer no injury, according to officials of the Quebec Fish and Game Bureau, who have conducted experiments in this connection. The Canadian Bureau stocked lakes by airplanes where it would be difficult and costly to bring the young fish overland.

To-morrow: The Man Who couldn't Be Killed.

HOYLE-BROWN CAGE VICTORS

Beat Firestones 37 to 36 and Gain Right to Meet West Saanich For Hoop Title

With Frank Elliott contributing a fine basket in the last minute, Hoyle-Brown, third place Senior B squad, scored a 37 to 36 win over the Firestones in the feature on the three-game card staged yesterday evening on the High School gym. It was a sudden death play-off fixture.

Island Tug Red Stacks, league-leading intermediate A cagers downed the Trade-Ats 15 to 10 in the opening tussle on the programme, while Sooke hoopsters checked in with a 30 to 24 victory over the Hudson's Bay in a men's senior C encounter.

In defeating the Firestones, Hoyle-Brown earned the right to meet West Saanich Mercantiles, league-leaders, in the final play-off for the city championship, the first game of which will be played Friday evening at the High School gym. The play was close and fast in this encounter. The teams went into a 3 to 3 tie at the three-minute mark, but free shots by Preston and Robertson and a basket by Jack Caddell put Hoyle-Brown in the lead.

Pressing heavily, Firestones caught up with the merchants about half way through the session with the score being 9 to 9. For the next five minutes play was close, and the teams tallied basket for basket and tied the score continuously. Firestones surged ahead, however, and were leading 20 to 15 at the interval

HOYLE-BROWN RALLY

Hoyle-Brown had the upper-hand on the resumption of play, and outscored their opponents eight points to six, at the eight-minute mark. Keeping up their offensive play Hoyle-Brown came within one point of their opponents' score, minutes later.

Four minutes from time saw the score 35 to 33 for the Firestones, but the teams went into a deadlock when George Robertson, Hoyle-Brown, tip-off, made good, a fine long shot. The score at this time was 35 to 35.

Elliott gave his team the lead in the last minute of play when he scored on a long shot from the side. At this time, however, a foul was called against the merchants. P. Atkinson sunk his first attempt, but failed to register on his second throw, and the final gong saw Hoyle-Brown leading 37 to 36.

The Red Stacks-Trade-Ats game was featured by close checking, which accounted for the low score. It was the initial fixture of the two-game play-off series. Red Stacks took the lead early in the match, and held it throughout. The score at the breather stood 15 to 10 for Red Stacks.

With both teams playing a defensive game, Sooke managed to beat Hudson's Bay 30 to 24 in the first match of a home-and-home series. They will meet in the second match Monday evening at Otter Point.

Sheffield Team Defeats Preston

Sheffield, Eng., Jan. 30.—Sheffield United will play Leeds United in the fifth round of the English Football Cup competition. To-day the Sheffield team gained a 2 to 0 verdict over Preston North End in a fourth round replay here. On Saturday the teams played a scoreless draw at Preston.

TABLE TENNIS

The 1936 table tennis season got off to a good start yesterday evening, with eight teams battling over the green tables at the Crystal Garden. Under the new rules whereby high ranking players cannot all be on one squad, some close matches were seen with The Times, Melrose, and Royal Arcanum tasting the first sweets of victory in the first division.

* * *

The Times defeated a highly-touted Bluebird team carrying such stars as Tully, Bowden and Hi Lowe, 10 to 6. Rigby and Stursberg were best for the newspaper men, while Tulley had a lapse and won only one game.

The players and games won follow:

Melrose vanquished their old rivals, the Coach Lines, by a 12 to 4 score. Brynjolfson was back in the ranks of the drivers. Chattel and Whittingham scored shut-outs for the paint men.

The players and games won follow:

The Royal Arcanum edged out the new and weakened Red Wings, last year's champions, by a 9 to 7 score. Campbell was best for the club men, who all held up their end well. Browne-Cave, city champion, scored a shut-out as usual, while Mabee added the other three points to make up the Wings' seven.

The players and games won follow:

JOE DELEHANTY DIES

Cleveland, Jan. 30.—Joe Delehanty, sixty, former star major league baseball player, died yesterday with cerebral hemorrhage. He played with St. Louis Nationals, Buffalo, Toronto, Montreal, and Southern Association. He was an outfielder and a leading hitter, and one of the six Delehanty brothers whose names were noted in baseball. Brother Ed died at the height of his career. The others, Jim, Frank, Willie and Tom survive.

Victoria Included In Golf Schedule

Plans Announced For Series of $3,000 Purse Tournaments in Pacific Northwest Cities; Leading Professionals Willing to Come

Seattle, Jan. 30. — A golfing "gold trail" through the Pacific Northwest late this summer is being considered by the Professional Golfers' Association, Jim Christie, assistant pro at the Inglewood Golf Club, reported to-day.

Christie said the plan called for a series of $3,000 purse tournaments in Seattle, Vancouver, Portland, Victoria, Tacoma and Spokane, in addition to Banff and Jasper Park in Alberta.

The tournaments probably would be staged during August and September, with the traveling pros swinging south later for the money events in California, Texas, Florida and the lower Atlantic coast.

Christie, back from California tournaments, reported at least fifteen upper bracket professionals would enter the various northwest gold quests, should final arrangements with individual cities be completed.

SOCCER TEAMS ARE SELECTED

England and Wales Name Players For International on February 5

London, Jan. 30.—Six Arsenal players are included in the team chosen to-day to represent England against Wales in an international soccer match to be played February 5 at Wolverhampton. Derby County and Manchester City provide two men.

The Welsh team announced January 25 includes three Aston Villa men and two each from Brentford and West Bromich Albion.

The teams:

Wales — Goal, John (Sheffield United); backs, Ellis (Motherwell), Jones (Leicester City); halfbacks, Murphy (West Bromwich Albion), Griffiths (Aston Villa), Richards (Brentford); forwards, Hopkins (Brentford), Phillips, Astley (Aston Villa), Robbins (West Bromwich Albion), Evans (Tottenham Hotspurs).

ARSENAL IS AWAY AGAIN

London, Jan. 30.—Fortune continues to frown on Arsenal in its career in the English Football Cup competition and the draw for the fifth round announced to-day sends the famous Gunners away from home for the third time.

The Londoners will play at Newcastle February 15. In the third round at Bristol, Arsenal defeated Bristol Rovers 5 to 1 and last Saturday sent Liverpool down with a 2 to 0 victory at Anfield Road.

Meetings of first and second division clubs are numerous. Stoke City will play at Barnsley, Chelsea entertains Fulham and Middlesbrough is at home to Leicester City. No third division or minor league teams remain in the competition.

Barnsley vs. Stoke.

Grimsby Town vs. Manchester City.

BOXING

Red Park Winner Cranford Handicap

Capt. J. W. Bridge's Morse Code was second and G. W. Chesterton's Cranford St. Andrew third.

Red Park, held at 100 to 7 in the betting, won by three-quarters of a length while Morse Code, at 7 to 1, beat out the 10 to 1 shot, Cranford St. Andrew, by a length and a half.

John Henry Lewis Loses By Decision

Denver, Jan. 30.—Unable to flash any threat of a knock-out, Johnny Henry Lewis, light-heavyweight champion, was beaten by Emilio Martinez, Denver, in a ten-round battle in City Auditorium yesterday evening.

Lewis, who will defend his championship against Jock McAvoy, England, in New York, April 3, outweighed Martinez, 181 to 176¼.

Canadian Hockey Team in Fine Win

Paris Jan. 30.—Canada's defenders of the Olympic hockey title to-day were greater favorites than ever to retain the honors at Garmisch-Partenkirchen following their fine performance here yesterday evening in defeating the Parisian versions of Montreal's "Flying Frenchmen," 5 to 2.

French critics classed the tussle one of the best of the season. The wearers of the Maple Leaf flashed a nerve-tingling offensive in the early part of the game to gain a lead they held safely despite the vigorous attacks of the Flying Frenchmen who recently trounced the United States Olympic squad in a similar exhibition battle.

It was the only, exhibition game the Canadians will play before the Olympic games get under way February 6. The team will leave Paris directly for Garmisch-Partenkirchen.

ALABAMA PITTS SIGNS CONTRACT

Ossining, N.Y., Jan. 30.—Edwin "Alabama" Pitts, former Sing Sing athlete, has signed his 1936 contract with Albany Senators of the International League, Warden Lewis Lawes of Sing Sing disclosed yesterday.

Lawes said the new contract, considered on a monthly basis, represented an increase over 1935.

GARAGE TRADE SEES FORD FILM

National Motor Company Host to 200 Island Service Men

National Motor Comany, Limited, local Ford dealers, were hosts last night to the garage trade of the lower island. Two hundred men filled the showroom to take part in the discussion of servicing the modern automobile.

The ideal of service upon which Henry Ford has built his vast organization is: "It is our belief that purchase of an automobile does not complete the transaction between us and the buyer but involves on our part, a new obligation to see the car gives economical and satisfactory service." This was the keynote of the evening's programme of lectures and talking pictures.

W. P. D. Pemberton, president of National Motor Company, was in the chair. Two Ford officials from Vancouver, Clarke Simpkins, district sales manager, and R. M. Gardner, service manager, reviewed the remarkable progress made in the industry through depression years and said that to-day's cars seldom need the extensive overhauling of the past but with their finer and more exact construction require preventative service attention of an inexpensive and highly skilled type to retain the performance built into the car. Mr. Gardner dwelt at some length on the correct adjustment of to-day's high speed ignition and carburetion system.

Ford talking pictures depicted the story behind Henry Ford's promise to build "a million cars or better" in 1935. Pictures of the Dagenham, England plant, the largest automobile factory in the British Empire, and Ford factories in France, Holland, Brazil, forty-four foreign branches pictured vividly the world-wide international character of the Ford organization. Of particular interest were the actual manufacturing operations, the control of quality in raw materials and the finished product through continuous laboratory testing and research.

Group Honors Double Memory

The memory of two great men lost to Britain and the empire almost at the same time, King George V and Rudyard Kipling, was honored last night by the Victoria Kipling Society.

Members of the society stood in silent homage to the author whose name their group honors, and joined in singing the late King's favorite hymn, "Abide With Me."

The work of Kipling with the Imperial War Graves Commission in helping restore and perpetuate the graves of the empire's soldiers was told to the society by Colonel H. T. Goodland. Colonel Goodland was himself a member of the commission and worked side by side with Kipling on the battlefields of France and Belgium.

A reading appropriate to the mourning of the British Empire for its late King was given by K. C. Symons. It was a portion of one of Kipling's short stories, "In the Presence," which describes the lying in state of King Edward VII at Westminster Hall in 1910.

Selections from Kipling's poems were read by T. A. Simmons.

"Better Terms" Case Coming Up

B.C. to Press Plea For Commission After Session of House

After the next session of the Legislature is over, Premier Pattullo will go to Ottawa again to take up, among other things, British Columbia's case for "better terms."

This morning the Premier explained that on his visit to Ottawa this month, the federal government was so busily engaged with other matters, it was decided to defer presentation of the B.C. argument on "better terms."

While documents covering every phase of the case are on file with Ottawa, the government is prepared to back this data up with verbal arguments, the Premier said. The province is asking that a commission be set up to go into the whole question of revising the terms under which British Columbia went into Confederation, the objective being increased subsidies and more favorable financial treatment in view of the large revenues the Dominion collects from the province.

The validity of B.C.'s claim was recognized by the Bennett govrenment to the extent that an interim subsidy payment of $750,000 a year was granted, in addition to the regular grant. It is understood this additional payment will be paid again this year pending the steps for a permanent settlement of the whole issue.

King Honored By "Y" Toastmasters

T. Scott presided as toastmaster last evening at a special meeting of the Victoria Toastmasters at the Y.M.C.A. in honor of the British Empire.

In accordance with the purpose of the meeting all toasts were given as a tribute to the departed King George and to King Edward VIII. J. Rowlands toasted "The Flag." A toast to the "Motherlands" was given by Col. D. McGugan and "Edward VIII" was toasted by J. E. Paulding.

Individual critics for the evening were A. Slocomb, A. Cann and V. Shoemaker. General critic was G. G. Fraser.

A frame for the recently acquired charter, making the local group a member of the Toastmasters' International, was presented by Len Woodhouse of the Speakers' Club, to G. S. Fraser, chairman.

A meeting of the Victoria and District Cornish Association will be held on Saturday evening in the Women's Institute, 635 Fort Street, at 8 o'clock. All members are asked to attend.

At its recent telephone bridge party, the Rotary Club raised $108 for its boys' work fund, Mason Sands to-day told members of the club at their weekly luncheon at the Empress Hotel.

The total bank clearing in the city for the week ended January 30 was $1,186,662, according to a statement issued by the Victoria Clearing House this morning. The figure for the same period last year were $1,123,558.

Hon. H. G. Perry, Speaker of the British Columbia Legislature, will arrive here to-morrow to start making arrangements for the opening of the 1936 session on February 25. He will deal with organization of the sessional staff and then go back to the mainland to return in time for the opening.

Ten tables of progressive five hundred were in play yesterday evening in the clubrooms of the Victoria West Liberal Social Club, 414 Skinner Street. Ladies' first prize was won by Mrs. Armond; ladies' second, Mrs. J. Constable; ladies' consolation, Mrs. E. Johnson; gentlemen's first, H. Adams; gentlemen's second, M. Salverson. Refreshments were served by the committee.

A Valentine dance has been planned for February 12, at the K. of C. Hall, by the Catholic Young People's Club. Fred Pitt's orchestra has been engaged. Several novelty dance numbers have been arranged to combine the Leap Year and Valentine spirit. Balloons and favors will be distributed during the evening. Dancing will be from 9 until 1 o'clock. Invitations may be obtained from club members or the dance committee.

Members of the Victoria Fish and Game Association of Victoria and District are reminded that the general meeting of the association is to be held this evening in the A.O.F. Hall, corner of Cormorant and Blanshard streets, at 8 o'clock. Many important questions dealing with fish and game will be discussed, as well as the preservation of Cathedral Grove at Cameron Lake. All sportsmen are urged to attend the meeting.

The Victoria Japanese Association at its annual meeting Monday paid a silent tribute to the late King George V and concluded the meeting with the singing of "God Save the King." Officers were elected as follows: President, Robert Hoita; vice-president, M. Kawasoye; speaker, N. Watanabe; vice-speaker, T. Uyeda; secretary, O. Onishi; treasurer, J. Doi; auditors, G. Watanabe and C. Sonoda; committee, B. Kuwadara, K. Ise and K. Kaneda.

The B.C. Hothouse Tomato and Cucumber Board held a meeting in the Chamber of Commerce yesterday evening at which various parts of the Natural Products Marketing Act which affected the products under their control were explained. The meeting it was said, was not in any way a formal session, though the financial statement for the last year was brought down and explained by Secretary B. Parkin. George Riddle, president of the tomato board, answered a number of questions. Neil Pollock was in the chair.

The annual meeting of Gizeh Temple Shrine was held in Victoria last Saturday and was attended by members not only from the island but from the mainland and as far north as Prince Rupert. The officers elected were W. C. Grieve, potentate, of Vancouver; J. W. Patterson of Vancouver, chief rabban; Col. D. McGugan of Victoria, assistant rabban; F. V. Hobbs of Victoria, treasurer; L. A. Ann Breton, H. F. Bewett Win Drama Awards For Festival Performances

Adjudication at Island Sub-regional Contest Made By Dr. Alan Wade of London; Four Plays Presented Before Intensely Interested and Crowded House

They were chosen for their stage work at the Dominion Drama Festival, Sub-regional Vancouver Island Contest, at the Empire Theatre yesterday evening.

The awards were made by Dr. Alan Wade, adjudicator of London, Eng., who has been brought to Canada to adjudicate at the regional drama festivals, starting from Victoria, and at the finals in Ottawa.

Miss Breton and Mr. Hewett, at the conclusion of the performances and adjudication, were called to the stage and the prizes were presented to them by Mrs. Wade.

THEATRE FILLED

The interest of the audience which filled the theatre was such that with few exceptions it remained through midnight and until after the conclusion of the proceedings nearly half an hour later.

Mr. Hewett won for his presentation of the elderly blind man, Lisle Talbot, in "Through Other Eyes," a one-act play by Ellen O'Brien of Victoria.

Captain T. L. Thorpe-Doubble, chairman of the local drama festival committee, spoke from the stage at the opening, and after the performances introduced Dr. Wade and Mrs. Wade.

The four plays presented and their casts were:

By the Beaux Arts.

"Boccaccio's Untold Tale," by Harry Kemp; director, A. Legge-Willis.

Cast — Lizzia, Faith Cummings; Violante, Margery Benson; Olivia, Orrie Bramfoot; Fiorio, Peter Saxton-White.

By the Forbes-Robertson Players: "The Wasp," by Essex Dane; director, Ethel Deese Burns; stage manager, Harold Gelling; costumes, Doreen McGregor; properties, Dorothy Grighton and Theresa Lowden. Characters: General Peter Gretcheff, Bert Bailey; Lieut. Sergeitch, William Lambert; Mlle. Irma Melopoff, Gertrude Partridge. Scene: A deserted inn on the road to Pinsk, a village in N. E. Siberia. Time: Just after the assassination of the Czar.

By the Victoria Little Theatre Association, "Through Other Eyes," by Ellen O'Brien; director, Enid Cole; characters, Lisle Talbot, H. F. Hewett; Lia Talbot, Norah Paitson; Mary Jennings, Helen Pearce; Dr. Norman Lawrence, Bob Rideout; Wally Talbot, Frank Taylor.

CRITICISMS

In his criticisms, Dr. Wade said: "Boccacio's Untold Tale"—Because a play is cast in the time of Boccaccio and the scene laid in Florence, I don't think it should be excused from presenting a creditable story. Certain elements in this play were rather difficult to believe. As it was a one-act play, there was little opportunity for the development of character, where so much depended on the winning of the sympathy of the audience. I felt that the company who played this play must have felt themselves a little puzzled by what they had to do and they acted very hard in places where they needn't have acted hard. They were trying to make something come that wasn't there. It should have been played more simply. Lizzie was not sufficiently characterized. Violante acted too hard and her gestures were too studied. Olivia—I liked her simplicity of speech, she got the spirit of the play more than the others. Fiorio was inclined to chant his lines too much. The stage made a beautiful picture: it looked lovely. It was mostly a question of playing too hard, and there is no cause for the company to be ashamed of the good work they put into it.

"The Wasp"—This is a melodrama, without subtlety. The weak spot was the general; he was inclined to be a beaten man from the start. Mlle. Melipoff was inclined to be indistinct at the beginning and make meaningless gestures, but when she got the spirit of the house she gave a very excellent performance. It was very dramatic when the lieutenant came back. On the whole it was a satisfactory production and reflects great credit on the three players.

"Through Other Eyes"—An extremely interesting play, well written, with great economy of line. The company played it well and it was extremely well produced. The men gave a better performance than the women. The end of the play is a little inconclusive or weak. The man who played the part of Lisle Talbot gave a really beautiful performance: it was very natural and never overdone. He spoke most delightfully and his modulation was excellent; his movements were exactly those of a man who has been blind for many years and knows his way about a room. The part of the doctor was excellently done. The man who played the part of Wally Talbot was good and got his character. Lia Talbot's performance was sincere, but indistinct. I would like to congratulate the producer over the movements, which were all very natural and easy.

"Outward Bound"—Nearly everyone here gave a good performance. I congratulate the producer on the excellent set and movement of the scenes. Ann and Henry in this play are extremely difficult parts, but the two who played them understood what they were doing; she and he gave a charming performance with complete understanding, conveying that strange eerie feeling the first act was supposed to give. Mrs. Cliveden-Banks should not have been too nice a person but should have been a horsy-hard, bitter woman. Mr. Lingley was very excellent in the right key. More could have been made of the character of Mr. Prior if it had been made more whimsical. Rev. Wm. Duke was very good, but perhaps a bit too parsonical. Scrubby was excellent, but missed the spirit a bit.

ON VISIT HERE OUT OF YUKON

G. S. Hill, Mayo, Makes First Trip South of Prince Rupert in Seven Years

On his first trip south of Prince Rupert in seven years, George S. Hill arrived at the Dominion Hotel this morning from Mayo, Yukon Territory.

Traveling mostly by plane, Mr. Hill took four days for the trip. By land and water he would have spent just two weeks on the voyage.

Mr. Hill is connected with a trading company in Mayo. He used to be in mining. "I decided I'd start making some money, instead of sinking it all in holes in the ground. Mining up there isn't all that it is cracked up to be," he said this morning.

To make anything out of mining independently, he said, a man had to go far back into the interior, and use boilers to thaw out the ground. Even at that he was faced with a serious problem in getting his gold and himself out again.

For Mr. Hill, the weather of Victoria at present is like summer. There were a lot of people, he said, who went up to the Yukon from Victoria and Vancouver during the summer months, but there were not many who had any conception of what the district was like in the winter.

He will visit Vancouver and Seattle, before returning to Mayo in about a week's time.

Mrs. D. F. Christie Dies in Calgary

Canadian Press

Calgary, Jan. 30.—Mrs. Florence E. Christie, a sister of H. W. Newlands, former Lieutenant-Governor of Saskatchewan, died in hospital here yesterday following a lengthy illness.

Besides her husband, D. F. Christie, she is survived by a sister, Mrs. M. J. Olsen of Victoria, and two brothers, H. W. Newlands of London, England, and John Newlands in Florida.

Obituary

GERALD PALMER

After an illness of two months, Gerald J. Palmer passed away yesterday at St. Joseph's Hospital. He was born in Aylesbury, Buckinghamshire, England, and had been a resident of Victoria for sixteen years. Mr. Palmer was employed by Sweeney, McConnell, Limited, for many years, and for some time was with the Provincial Government printing service, and latterly was on The Daily Colonist mechanical staff. The deceased was a member of the Victoria Typographical Union.

Mr. Palmer is survived by his widow, one daughter, Miss Edna Palmer, at the family residence, 1755 Haultain Street; a brother, Frederick William Palmer, Winnipeg, a sister, Mrs. A. Porter, in England, and an uncle, David Tuckwell, Victoria.

The remains are resting at Sands Mortuary Chapel, where Rev. T. G. Griffiths will conduct services on Saturday at 2 p.m. Interment will be made in Royal Oak Burial Park.

ARTHUR JOSEPH WOODWARD

In the presence of a large congregation of sorrowing friends and business associates the funeral of Arthur Joseph Woodward, pioneer florist, was held yesterday afternoon. Services were held in Victoria Gospel Hall, T. H. Maynard and R. A. McDonald officiating. The hymns sung were "Forever With The Lord," "How Sweet The Name of Jesus," "Peace, Perfect Peace" and "Jesus, The Very Thought of Thee." The flowers were unusually numerous and beautiful. Interment was in the family plot in Ross Bay cemetery. The pallbearers were: Edmund Woodward, Wilfred Woodward, Laurence Woodward, P. K. Cummings, Curtis Watson and Hubert Munday.

THOMAS J. THOMPSON

Rev. E. F. Church conducted the funeral services yesterday afternoon for Thomas J. Thompson, who passed away on Sunday. Mrs. S. M. Morton sang a solo, and the hymn sung was "Rock of Ages." Beautiful floral tributes were received. The following acted as pallbearers: George Twamley, F. Eastwood, A. MacKinnon and W. McMichael. The remains were laid at rest in Colwood Burial Park.

THOMAS H. OSTREM

Many sorrowing friends were present at the funeral of Thomas H. Ostrem, held yesterday afternoon, Dean Quainton conducting the service. The hymns sung were "Peace, Perfect Peace" and "O God, Our Help in Ages Past." An abundance of beautiful floral tributes was received. The following acted as pallbearers: F. Le Roy, A. Baird, A. Scroggie, W. Higgins, J. Rice and A. Nichols. The burial service at the graveside was read by Chief Ranger Bro. L. Fletcher of the Ancient Order of Foresters. The remains were laid at rest in the family plot in Ross Bay Cemetery.

WILLIAM HENRY THORPE

The funeral of William Henry Thorpe, former secretary of the St. John Ambulance Association and a member of the Nanaimo Pioneers' Association, who passed away at his home, 36 Strickland Street, Nanaimo, on Monday, was held at Nanaimo this afternoon, under the auspices of the I.O.O.F. Lodge, Rev. W. P. Bunt officiating.

ERNEST VICTOR TURNER

The funeral of Ernest Turner was held yesterday afternoon at St. Barnabas' Church. Rev. N. E. Smith conducted the service, during which the hymn, "The Strife Is O'er, the Battle Done," was sung. Interment was in Colwood Burial Park. The following fellow workers from the Red Cross Workshop acted as pallbearers: H. Crabtree, D. Knight, C. Paterson, F. Cliff, P. Beaven and J. Anderson.

JANE BECK

Funeral services for Mrs. Jane Beck, who passed away last Sunday evening at the family residence, 1032 Victoria Road, Nanaimo, were held yesterday afternoon from St. Paul's Church, Nanaimo, Canon H. V. Hitchcox officiating. Interment was in Nanaimo Cemetery.

ALFRED ERNEST MAGGS

A large number of friends, including pioneers of the Vermillion district of Alberta, attended the last rites yesterday afternoon for Alfred Ernest Maggs. Rev. W. G. Wilson, D.D., pastor of First United Church, conducted the service, during which the hymn, "Abide With Me," was sung. "Peace, Perfect Peace" was rendered as a solo by James Petrie. Interment was in Royal Oak Burial Park. The following friends acted as pallbearers: W. Milligan, H. R. Dawe, W. Childs, J. D. Davidson, James Hough and C. H. Wilson. Many beautiful flowers covered the casket and hearse.

MARGARET HAYBURN TURLEY

The remains of Margaret Hayburn Turley, wife of Frank Turley of 316 Newport Avenue, who passed away on Tuesday at Harrison Hot Springs, were forwarded this afternoon to Vancouver, en route for Philadelphia, for interment in the family plot.

Fined For Selling Sweepstake Tickets

Arthur Beeston was fined $50 in the City Police Court this morning when he pleaded guilty to a charge of selling sweepstake tickets.

Prosecution was laid by police after Constable Alex. Nichol purchased from the accused a book of tickets on the Dominion Racing Association draw for $6. The premises were later searched and several stubs and other books of tickets were found. Inspector Boulton said the accused was apparently a distributor of books of tickets. The draw was scheduled to be held in Toronto on February 12.

N. W. Whittaker, defence counsel, pleaded for leniency for the accused, stating business at his second-hand store had not been good during recent months and he was endeavoring to do his best to keep off relief.

NOT WORRIED OVER ACTION

City Awaits Notification of Suit on Cold Storage Plant

Officials at the City Hall to-day awaited official notification of suit filed against the city for alleged breach of contract in regard to the Panama Pacific Cold Storage and Terminal Warehouse Company Limited. No notification had been received at noon, although the action was reported to have been instituted in Vancouver yesterday.

There was little excitement over the action at the City Hall. Victoria is steadily adhering to the position it has maintained for the last four or five years that the city can not be held responsible for the bonds.

H. S. Pringle, city solicitor, is supported in that stand not only by Elliott, Maclean & Shandley, city counsel, and N. W. Rowell, K.C., of Toronto, to whom the issue was referred some time ago.

"The city takes the attitude that we are not liable," Mr. Pringle said to-day. "We claim that the company having failed to live up to its agreement the city's guarantee is not effective under the circumcircumstances."

The city has been prepared for action for some time.

SEEKS $200,000 DAMAGES

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Jan. 30.—Victoria Cold Storage and Terminal Warehouse Company Limited of Victoria and Administration and Trust Company of Vancouver has started a $200,000 damage action against the city of Victoria in the Supreme Court here.

Plaintiffs claim damages for alleged breach of agreements, entered into on August 6, 1927 and August 13, 1928, whereby, it is said, the city guaranteed payment of $580,000 debenture issue which financed the building of a cold storage plant.

Appeal Arguments Continue Here

Mrs. Romano obtained judgment in the State of Washington courts for $3,332 against the Maggiora interests. When she sued in British Columbia on the foreign judgment, it was pleaded on behalf of the Maggiora interests, resident in British Columbia, that there was lack of jurisdiction. Mr. Justice Fisher issued an order against Mrs. Romano here last October holding it necessary in the interests of justice to depart from the ordinary rule requiring witnesses to attend at the trial to give evidence in open court.

The appeal justices late Wednesday afternoon, at the conclusion of the arguments of Alan Maclean for the Attorney-General, and D. M. Gordon, on the other side, reserved judgment in the Attorney-General's appeal against the Supreme Court ruling in favor of the Royal Bank and the Island Amusement Company Ltd., and against the Attorney-General. This was the case in which the Crown claimed the $7,000 left on deposit in the Royal Bank here after the amusement company, which had operated a local theatre, had been struck from the B.C. company list at the registry at the Parliament Buildings. When the money in the bank was discovered, Mr. Gordon had the company restored to the list and claimed the sum for the benefit of the Victoria shareholders.

William Mather Here Saturday

William Allan Mather, general manager, Canadian Pacific Railway western lines, Winnipeg, is expected to arrive in Victoria on Saturday.

Mr. Mather is making a special trip to the Coast to address the annual meeting of the transportation and customs bureau of the Vancouver Board of Trade, which will be held to-morrow in the Hotel Vancouver.

Mr. Mather has enjoyed wide experience in engineering and administrative aspects of the railway business in Canada. He will speak in Vancouver to-morrow on future trends in the transportation industry. While in Victoria Mr. Mather will be registered at the Empress Hotel.

CHURCH MEETS ALL ACCOUNTS

Annual Meeting of Belmont Avenue United

Reports of the work of the church were given, and officers elected for 1936 at the annual meeting of Belmont Avenue United Church yesterday, Rev. James Hood presided.

Mrs. Groves reported on the work of the Mission Band. The Wastika Mission showed a year of good work, said Miss P. Wharton, and the Mission Auxiliary told of progress through Miss E. Hood. The Women's Missionary Society had an active year, raising a good sum of money, which had been forwarded to the Church Mission Board. A number of outstanding speakers had addressed the group during the year. Mrs. John Chapman gave this report.

Mrs. John Hall told of the work of the Women's Auxiliary, showing an increase in membership and funds raised.

SUNDAY SCHOOL

T. Bailey, superintendent, told of the work in the Sunday school. Improvements had been made in the classrooms during the year by installing gas heaters, he reported. All accounts were paid, and there was a favorable cash balance on hand.

The stewards' report was submitted by R. P. Knott, showing all church property was free from debt, and all obligations met up to the end of the year.

A. H. Hundleby in the session report showed twelve new members had been received in the fellowship during the year.

T. Bailey will continue as Sunday school superintendent, with Miss I. Chapman as assistant. Three new members were elected to the session: J. R. Barnes, G. H. Henderson and E. Watson, those still in office being S. McGowan, W. Webster and A. H. Hundleby.

C. Wharton, H. Andrews and Mrs. G. Butler were re-elected to the board of stewards, Mrs. John Chapman being the only new member.

W. B. Wellwood, J. Chapman, R. P. Knott and F. Emmery still have part of their term to complete.

A. H. Hundleby, speaking for the quarterly board, brought in a recommendation from that body that the pastor, Rev. James Hood, be asked to continue another year. This was unanimously accepted and passed by the members.

In June Mr. Hood will have completed ten years of successful work with the church, and will then enter the eleventh of his pastorate at Belmont.

At the close of the business a social hour was spent, the ladies of the Women's Auxiliary serving refreshments.

The Y.M.C.A. hobby fair committee will meet this evening at 5 o'clock in the association building to discuss plans for the event, which will take place toward the middle of next month.

DIED

PALMER—On Wednesday, January 29, in St. Joseph's Hospital, there passed away Gerald J. Palmer, aged fifty-five years; born in Aylesbury Buckinghamshire, England, and a resident of this city for the last sixteen years; late residence, 1755 Haultain Street. He is survived by his widow and one daughter, Miss Edna Palmer, at home; a brother, Frederick William Palmer, in Winnipeg, and a sister, Mrs. A. Potter, in England; one uncle, David Tuckwell, Victoria. The late Mr. Palmer was a member of the Typographical Union for many years and had been employed by Sweeney-McConnell Ltd., The Daily Colonist and the Government Printing Bureau.
The funeral will take place on Saturday, February 1, at 2 o'clock, in the chapel of the Sands Mortuary Ltd. Rev. T. G. Griffiths will officiate and the remains will be laid at rest in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that all persons having any claims or demands against the late Edward Henry Lineker, who died on or about the 27th day of February, 1935, at the City of Victoria in the Province of British Columbia, intestate, are required to send by post, prepaid, or to deliver to the undersigned Stuart Henderson, of 521 Sayward Building, 1207 Douglas Street, Victoria, B.C., the solicitor for the administrator of the estate of the said Edward Henry Lineker, their names and addresses, and full particulars, in writing, of their claims and statements of their accounts, duly verified, and the nature of the security, if any, held by them.

And take notice that after the 27th day of February, 1936, the said administrator will proceed to distribute the assets of the said deceased among the persons entitled thereto, having regard only to the claims of which he shall then have had notice. And that the said administrator will not be liable for said assets or any part thereof to any person of whose claim he shall not then have received notice.

Dated the 21st day of January, 1936.

STUART HENDERSON,
Solicitor for the Administrator.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Protection Wall, Mouth of North Arm, Fraser River, B.C.", will be received until 12 o'clock noon, Wednesday, February 12, 1936, for the construction of a pile and timber protection wall on the dredged mound at the Mouth of the North Arm of the Fraser River, New Westminster, B.C.

Tenders will not be considered unless made on printed forms supplied by the Department and in accordance with conditions set forth therein.

Each tender must be accompanied by a certified cheque on a chartered bank in Canada, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, equal to 10 per cent of the amount of the tender, or Bearer Bonds of the Dominion of Canada or of the Canadian National Railway Company and its constituent companies, unconditionally guaranteed as to principle and interest by the Dominion of Canada, or the aforementioned bonds and a certified cheque if required to make up an odd amount.

NOTE—The Department will supply blue prints and specification of the work on deposit of a sum of $10.00, in the form of a certified bank cheque payable to the order of the Minister of Public Works. The deposit will be released on return of the blue prints and specification within a month from the date of reception of tenders. If not returned within that period the deposit will be forfeited.

By order,

J. M. SOMERVILLE,
Secretary.

Department of Public Works,
Ottawa, January 1, 1936.

secured again and swung into the Capitals' ground. Ball lost the ball and Colgate dribbled back to midfield.

Tindall was dropped in his own ground as Victoria pressed, but Corner got the ball away. Rowe kicked down and the locals followed up to maintain pressure. Peden secured well outside the Blacks' twenty-five and tried for a field goal. The ball went wide.

Oliver secured and kicked down to Victoria's twenty-five. Victoria broke through the line out but were forced back by the bustling All-Blacks' forwards who reached the local fifteen-yard line, where the dogged Capital defence held. From a scrum Victoria wheeled and carried the ball to their own twenty-five with Forbes in the lead.

The Blacks swung away on their shifting backfield attack again at mid-field and Oliver missed a wide pass as they neared Victoria's line. Victoria closed fast to bottle up the attack.

The Capitals finally cleared, with McConnan hoisting a high punt into the All-Blacks' ground. Dave Solomon called a mark and returned play to midfield with the kick.

VICTORIANS ATTACK

Swinging right back, Victoria punted into the New Zealand ground. Pete Turgoose blocked Solomon's attempt to return and Peden secured. He gained ground and passed to McConnan who kicked over. The All-Blacks won the race for the ball and relieved with the kick. Solomon gained more ground when the visitors secured a free kick for Victoria's interference.

The New Zealanders pushed into the local ground on a kicking exchange and finally swept away on another run. Brown was forced out at Victoria's twenty-five on the attack and the local forwards bunched and dribbled back to midfield.

The Capitals went down and Rowe dropped Ball who attempted a clearance. Solomon, supporting the All-Black wing secured and kicked away.

McConnan stopped a neat inside passing run as the All-Blacks swung away and Colgate cleared. The Blacks forwards broke through from a midfield scrum to gain Victoria's twenty-five where an accidental offside robbed them of a possible score.

The visitors opened the scoring twenty minutes from the start. Ball started a run, cutting in from the wing and giving the ball to Caughey. Caughey carried it to Victoria's ten-yard line and made an opening for Henry Brown to go over near the corner. Solomon's kick from the sidelines was wide.

PEDEN SCORES

Victoria came right back. The fast closing All-Blacks bottled up a local backfield attempt, but Fleming got a kick away to the visitors' twenty-five. The local forwards broke through the scrum in that part of the field and kicked ahead. Peden picked up with the pack behind him and forged across for the tying try four minutes after the All-Blacks' score. McConnan made a good but unsuccessful effort to convert.

The Blacks forced down to Victoria's twenty-five when Fleming missed a high pass and broke through from a scrum to the local ten-yard line, where Ball was held out.

Doswell kicked back to midfield and Oliver opened up another run that was blocked in Victoria's twenty-five. Colgate cleared to his twenty-five. Lambourn, All-Black forward, broke through from the scrum and scooped up a high kick. Reid dashed through and wrenched the ball from the local defence to put it down for the second try. Oliver missed the kick and the score stood 6 to 3 five minutes after Victoria's try.

Following a dog pile near midfield the Blacks came back on a three-quarter movement, Ball and McLean carrying the ball until the latter was forced out on Victoria's line. From the line-out, McLean secured and plunged across for the third New Zealand try two minutes after the second. Oliver converted, and the score stood 11 to 3.

Victoria stormed down from the kick-off, returning Solomon's clearance with a low punt by Wharton. Solomon cleared again, but Victoria gained on the kick exchange with Colgate punting deep into the New Zealand territory.

SCORE ON FOLLOW-UP

The Blacks gave a perfect display of follow-up running to score their next try, three minutes later. Ball secured and raced away on a wing run. He threw a blind inside pass as he was crowded to the side-line, and McLean secured to pass to Caughey, who went over to make the score 14 to 3. Oliver again converted.

The Blacks, closing like machines, were not giving the local backs a chance to use their breaks when they secured from scrums. Following a kick exchange, Solomon punted to midfield after Fleming had put the ball well down.

The visiting backs tried another run, but were checked to a standstill and Victoria surged through to gain nicely. The New Zealanders broke up a local three-quarter attempt and forged back into Victoria ground. Tindall started away and raced for the corner where he gave Caughey the ball. Caughey went over to raise the score to 19 to 3. Oliver's attempt failed, and the half ended shortly after.

SAVES NARROWLY

The visitors' forwards broke back and Reid raced through to fly-kick the ball ahead when Colgate failed to gather it. The local backs covered up and cleared to their own twenty-five. Colgate was forced out near his own line but the Capitals cleared again to their own twenty-five. The locals secured from the scrum, but the Blacks broke through an attempted three-quarter movement and carried play to the city's fifteen-yard line. Doswell cleared to near centre, where Caughey fielded perfectly and kicked back to Victoria's ten-yard line. The locals wheeled again on the scrum and rushed to their own thirty-five.

Turgoose was forced out as the local backs initiated a run. The New Zealanders tried to run the ball over, but were held until the Capitals cleared on a kick and Caughey punted back to Victoria's thirty-five.

Solomon outdistanced Colgate on a return of punts and the Blacks held at Victoria's twenty-five until the locals broke away on another forward rush with Forbes, Acland and Bankes leading. Solomon cleared again, but Victoria stormed back at the corner, forcing the flag over as they drove for the line. The Blacks gained a twenty-five yard kick and Tindall put the ball out on Victoria's thirty-five yard line. Colgate punted nicely when Victoria heeled and the locals went down. Rowe secured and kicked ahead, dropping Solomon when he took the catch.

The Capitals raced down and all but scored near the uprights. The ball went over the All-Blacks' line and when the heap was raised Peden and Doswell appeared to be on it, but the referee called a scrum just beside the Blacks' posts. Peden was knocked down trying a field goal when the pack broke, and the Blacks forced back.

FIFTY YARD RUN

Oliver took the ball near the halfway mark and streaked through, swerving beautifully and pulling the dummy on the local defence to go over for the first try of the second half, fifteen minutes from the interval. Reid kicked the extra points to make the score 24 to 3.

The Blacks rushed back from the kick-off. Bankes and Acland led the Victoria forwards on a dribbling attack back, but the New Zealanders stopped the offensive by hitting the men instead of the ball.

New Zealanders came back on kicks and Oliver started a pretty criss-cross three-quarter attack that baffled the Victorians. He carried the ball down the wing and passed inside to Brown. Brown started for the corner and gave the ball to McLean who cut in to score the last try of the match. Reid missed the kick and the score read 27 to 3.

The Capitals bucked an All-Black attack and Fleming swerved away on a pretty individual rush. With Solomon to beat and the Blacks closing fast on his heels, he slipped and Ball secured to clear.

SUDDEN END

Oliver broke away on a kick and run attack, but Colgate fell on the ball to halt the rush on the local twenty-five. From the scrum the Blacks moved up on a pretty passing movement, the ball going from Corner to Tindall to Caughey. Caughey drew his man and passed to Ball who fumbled the catch. The game ended suddenly at that point fourteen minutes from time.

Capt. E. D. W. Levien, Shawnigan, refereed and the teams lined up as follows:

CAPITOL THEATRE

Jean Muir wants to become an established movie singer. She revealed this while singing in a church choir for a special scene in "Stars Over Broadway," the Warner Bros. production, now showing at the Capitol Theatre.

"I've been taking singing lessons for nearly a year now," said the blonde movie star, "and I think I'm about ready to try a featured singing role."

Miss Muir, whose talents so far have been devoted to straight dramatic work on the New York stage and screen, makes her debut as a singer in "Stars Over Broadway," singing one hymn.

GAIL PATRICK AT PLAYHOUSE

Popular Young Actress Has Leading Role in "Wanderer of the Wasteland"

Gail Patrick is featured with Dean Jagger and Edward Ellis in Zane Grey's Paramount film, "Wanderer of the Wasteland," now at the Playhouse Theatre.

"Wanderer of the Wasteland" concerns the hazardous life of a man who sought refuge from the law, for a crime he did not commit, in the lawless desert wastes of the Old West. The romance, adventure and vindication he finds among the gold prospectors makes for the absorbing, dramatic tempo of the picture.

Directed by Otho Lovering, the cast includes Monte Blue, Larry "Buster" Crabbe, Trixie Friganza, Anna Q. Nilson, Raymond Hatton, Benny Baker, Charles Waldron Sr., Pat O'Malley, Kenneth Harlan, and other old-time favorites.

Also being shown as the second feature is Bing Crosby with Joan Bennett in "Two for To-night."

Lowe, McLagen Columbia Stars

Edmund Lowe and Victor McLaglen, who created the famous characters of Captain Flagg and Sergeant Quirk in "What Price Glory," are up to their old rivalries again, this time in a mystery comedy drama. It is called "The Great Hotel Murder," and will come to the Columbia Theatre to-day.

This is Fox Film's adaptation of Vincent Starrett's fine mystery yarn, "Recipe For Murder," which Red Book Magazine featured.

Lowe and McLaglen are rival sleuths in this picture. One is a mystery writer who solves real murders for the fun of it. The other is a hotel detective with an inflated ego and a dislike of amateur crime solvers.

Also showing on the same programme as the second feature is Buck Jones in "The Ivory-handled Gun."

"Richelieu" At Little Orpheum

The magnificent spectacle, "Cardinal Richelieu," starring George Arliss, will open at the Little Orpheum Theatre to-day for a three-day run. This picture, which is said to surpass "The Iron Duke" and "The House of Rothschild," centres its drama around a great historic controversy, depicting the stormy times of Louis XIII of France, when church and state were contending for power and the great political prelate, Richelieu, was the real power behind the throne. Based on the play by Sir Edward Bulwer-Lytton, the screen play is credited to Maude Howell.

Beery, Cooper To Star Here

Wallace Beery and Jackie Cooper are united once more in the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, "O'Shaughnessy's Boy," coming Friday to the Dominion Theatre. Their new picture is described as a dramatic, human interest story of father love told against a background of universal appeal—the circus with all its pathos, humor and spectacle, abundantly punctuated with sure-fire animal thrills.

The picture was directed by Richard Boleslawski, whose star is the fastest rising in Hollywood, with such recent hits to his credit as "Les Miserables" and "Clive of India."

Romilly Singers Popular in Wales

Every member of the Romilly Boy Singers, who will be here on Saturday, February 8, matinee and evening at the Empire Theatre, is a gold medalist and a soloist in his own right. The choir is a prize one and enjoys an enormous reputation in Wales, a land which is the home of song and consequently highly critical.

The Romilly Singers have achieved many successes recently as a unit. They won first prizes at the Mid-Wales competition held at Llandrindod, at Bristol, Swindon and Bournemouth. Famous musicians who have written praising the choir include Sir Walford Davies, Sir Richard Terry, Sir Ivor Atkins, Dr. David Evans, Prof. Granville Bantock, Dr. Hopkin Evans, Sir Henry Coward and Julius Harrison.

Sir Henry Coward, perhaps one of the most famous choral conductors England ever possessed, wrote after hearing a concert given by the Romilly Boys: "They are as near perfection as they could possibly be."

Profit-taking At Wall Street Curbs Upward Movement

Associated Press

New York, Jan. 30.—The stock market turned in a rather ragged performance to-day as profit takers went home with some of their gains in the recent favorites.

At the same time, some of the steels, utilities, oils and specialties were resistant, and scattered strong spots were in evidence.

The close was irregular. Transfers approximated 2,850,000 shares.

Trading was fast at times, with the ticker tape behind. Realizing set in after a steady firm opening. Numerous new six-year highs were recorded before selling began. The activity was inclined to dwindle on declines. Technical influences connected with the sharp advance of past sessions were seen in the downward movement of various stocks.

Cotton and grains dipped and rallied in a restricted range. Bonds were fairly steady. Foreign exchanges gave ground slightly in terms of the dollar.

Radio preferred "B" got up about 4 points and Alleghany preferred was up as much. Among the steadier shares were U.S. Steel, American Steel Foundries, U.S. Pipe, Standard Oil of California, Standard Oil of Indiana, Continental Oil, Atlantic Refining, Warner Bros., Electric Boat, Columbia Gas, McIntyre, Dome and Alaska Juneau.

American Can and Case dropped around 4 each and Deere Continental Can, U.S. Smelting, Schenley, Hiram Walker, Distillers Corp., Chrysler and a number of others lost one to two. Douglas gyrated erratically and the majority of the rails and motors were lower.

MINE SHARES TURN HEAVY

Canadian Press

Toronto, Jan. 30.—With a few issues holding to the up side, the general mining list of the Toronto Exchange turned moderately heavy to-day and closed with a mild setback in the price index.

In the medium-price gold group Central Patricia, Pickle Crow and Perron all were higher by 7 to 10 cents.

Among big producers McIntyre gained 1½ and Wright-Hargreaves 20 cents. Pioneer weakened about 75 cents. Hollinger gained ½ and Dome added two points.

LATE RALLY AT MONTREAL

Canadian Press

Montreal, Jan. 30.—Montreal Stock Exchange list righted itself quickly during the final hour to-day and though weakness predominated in one or two sections the general tone was firm.

National Breweries advanced a point while Distillers Seagrams dropped 2. Canadian Industrial Alcohol "A" and "B" eased fractions.

Electrolux gained more than three points around 3¾. International Power preferred jumped 5 to 75, and Shawinigan firmed slightly. Brazilian slipped a bit.

Nickel, Noranda and Hollinger held about steady.

Stocks Generally Easier In Early Mainland Session

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Jan. 30.—Stocks were generally lower during the morning session of the Vancouver Stock Exchange to-day, led by declines in Mak Siccar and several of the cheaper issues.

Mak Siccar was most active of the list, coming out for a decline of 2½ cents to end the session at 11 cents. It was the most active of the list, scoring a turnover of better than 9,00 shares.

Minto was a close second, bringing about the same turnover to end off an eighth cent. B.C. Nickel turned more active, declining one cent.

Pioneer was weaker, following declines in Toronto. Price closed off 25 cents on unofficial reports of power trouble at the property as a result of cold weather.

Gold Belt, Wayside and Morning Star were among the few to resist the general decline, closing the session with gains of a fraction to a point.

Several stocks came out for one-cent declines, among which were Big Missouri, Cariboo and Relief Arlington. Pend Oreille dropped five cents in light trading. Island Mountain, Dentonia and Taylor Bridge were quieter and held generally unchanged.

Freer Offerings In Wheat Export Marts Induce Down-trend

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, Jan. 30.—Recessions ensued on the Winnipeg grain exchange to-day following reports of freer offerings of wheat in the export market. Future prices closed ⅜ to ⅝ cent lower, May at 86⅝, July 87 and October 85¼ cents.

Several continental countries, including Portugal, offered wheat for sale in Liverpool, where net losses of ⅝ to ⅞d were registered. Trading was dull with export estimated at 250,000 bushels.

Cash-grains trading was quiet, with spreads unchanged. Coarse grains prices, too, were quietly steady, with the exception of flax, which at one time eased more than a cent a bushel.

Chicago, Jan. 30.—Renewal of inflation talk rallied wheat late to-day after prices had touched the lowest level witnessed in more than a month.

The rallies followed Washington reports that the inflation bloc in Congress had succeeded in appending to the Farm Bill a currency expansion plan with a view of restoring prices to 1926 parity. A restraining influence on rallies though, was continued weakness of the Winnipeg market.

Wheat closed irregular, ¼ lower to ⅛ higher, compared with yesterday's finish; May 99⅜ to 99½, corn unchanged to ⅛ up, May 59¾ to 59⅞, oats unchanged to ⅛ higher, and provisions unchanged to 10 cents decline.

Canadian Press

New York, Jan. 30.—The Canadian dollar eased 1-16 of a cent to a premium of 5.32 of 1 per cent while other leading currencies registered fractional gains on the foreign exchange market to-day.

The pound sterling advanced half a cent to $5.00¾, and the French franc was up .01¼ of a cent at 6.67⅞ cents.

RECESSIONS AT TORONTO

Canadian Press

Distillers - Seagrams slipped 2 to 29¾, Walker's common eased 1¼, and Industrial Alcohol "A" ½.

In the oil group Imperial, British American and McColl Pfd. closed on the up side, and International Petroleum and Pantepec boarded losses of the minimum fractions. Brazilian, C.P.R., Ford "A" and Nickel also took losses of fractions.

Foods, utilities, constructions and miscellaneous issues noted more losses than gains.

Tarzan The Untamed

Lieutenant-Cecil and the girl were so intent in keeping out of the lion's reach that they had not noticed the silent approach of the ape-man. It was Numa who first became aware of the intruder. The lion immediately evinced his displeasure by a series of warning cries.

This called the attention of the two behind the airplane to the newcomer. They saw Numa leap from the cockpit and advance upon Tarzan. The ape-man, carrying his stout spear in readiness, moved deliberately onward. They saw the man and lion stop simultaneously not more than a yard apart.

The beast's tail whipped from side to side as deep-throated growls rumbled from his cavernous chest. And then the great black-maned lion charged. To have attempted to meet the full shock of a lion's charge would have been suicide. Instead, Tarzan resorted to methods of agility and cunning.

The Gumps

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—When it came time for me to choose a career, my father informed me that I would be trained for a school teacher. My natural talents follow the line of journalism and dramatics, but these my father scoffs at. Reluctantly I became a teacher, a poor one whose heart was not in her work.

Now after three years at this occupation I am a nervous wreck. My father blames me entirely for my failure. I am so miserable and hounded by an encouraged inferiority complex that at twenty-three my life is in ruins. My seventeen-year-old sister is now grappling with the same hard problem. She desires to enter a business career, but because of our father's domineering will she must train for a nurse, though the odor of a hospital repels her and she faints at the sight of blood.

Our father is breaking our hearts and our spirits, and we are breaking his. He believes us to be subborn, ungrateful children and we think him lacking in understanding. Which of us is right, and what can we do about it?

MARY.

Answer: Probably no other one thing has done more harm in the world than the collossal conceit of parents which makes them think they have a right to play the part of God to their children and decide their fates. Somehow they seem to think that with the advent of the first baby they are endowed with Almighty wisdom and become perfectly capable of directing and shaping the whole career of the life that has come into their hands. For the slogan by which most families are reared, and by which every child's effort at expressing its own individuality is beaten down is: "Father and Mother know best."

In the small matters in a child's early life this may be partially true, but such is not the case when it comes to deciding the big matters which will affect the youngster's whole life. Then Father and Mother do not always know what is best for the child because they cannot see into the child's mind or heart and know what is there, what hopes, desires, ambitions, talents lie hidden in the child's secret soul.

It seems an almost impossible thing for parents to realize that their children are not replicas of themselves and have not the same characteristics nor the same tastes nor desires. Still less do they seem to realize that a child has any right to a choice in its destiny. Innumerable mothers have kept their daughters from marrying men they loved and forced them into marrying men they did not love because Mother did not like the color of hair or the shape of nose of one man and did like that of the other, forgetful of the fact that what might be obnoxious to her was exactly the thing that appealed to her daughter.

Innumerable fathers have forced dreamers into business, made lawyers and preachers of dummies and turned boys who would have been great writers, artists or musicians into poor green grocery clerks, all because Father thought he had a right to decide his children's lives for them.

That is what your father is doing. There is no greater crime that any man can commit because the round peg never fits into the square hole. People who are forced to do what nature never intended them to do are nearly always failures. The greatest happiness that any of us get is in following some congenial occupation and doing the thing we enjoy doing.

In your particular case the way out is plain if you have strength enough to follow it. Go on with your teaching and try to find out whether you have the ability to write or not. Just wanting to do it is not enough. You have to have a talent for it. And you can give yourself a tryout while you are still teaching. The schoolroom and its experiences will give you an invaluable background, as was proved in the case of a girl called Myra Kelly, who was a teacher and who wrote such tender and humorous stories about the children she taught that she was fast growing famous when she, unfortunately for the world, died. It is a big field and one virtually untouched.

As for your sister, the first time she faints in an operating room will end her career as a nurse and leave the way open for her to go into business as she desires.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I have been married five months and while I was ready to settle down from the beginning and go domestic, my wife refuses to do so. She goes out at night with her girl friends who are not married. She spends the housekeeping money on cigarettes, movies and finery we cannot afford instead of food. When I come home at night there is nothing to eat. I am very anxious to make a success of my married life. Can you tell me how to do so?

JOHN.

Answer: The wisest person in the world—and I make no claim to being Mrs. Solomon—cannot tell you how to make a success of marriage with that kind of a wife, because she is evidently lacking in love for you and all idea of duty and all sense of what marriage really means. Nothing but a miracle can change a pleasure-mad, selfish, irresponsible woman into the kind of a wife who is a helpmeet to a man. And miracles mighty seldom happen.

It seems to me that now, before there are any children to complicate the matter, is the time to have a showdown with your wife. You must make her understand that you are not going to put up with such conduct, and that she has either got to settle down and be a real wife to you or else you are going to send her back to her mother. Not many girls are crazy about going back home after they are married, and maybe that would bring her to her senses.

Many a wife treats her husband as she does because she thinks he will stand for it, but she would pursue an entirely different line of tactics with him if she knew she would lose her job unless she gave satisfaction.

You are young. In all probability you have a long life before you and it will be a terrible one if it has to be spent with a wife who is running around with a wild crowd, going and doing no one knows what, who makes you no home and who will keep your nose to the grindstone with her extravagance.

Don't let any woman ruin your life that way.

DOROTHY DIX.

Uncle Wiggily and the Tricks

(By HOWARD R. GARIS)

One day on their way home from school, Jingle and Jangle, the twin rabbits, saw their brothers, Buster, Custer and Duster, walking down the path through the woods laughing.

"Wait until he tries to eat it! Oh, how he will be fooled!"

"Who will be fooled?" asked Jingle before she thought.

With that the three brothers turned in surprise and Custer said:

"No fair trying to see our tricks!"

"Oh, have you tricks?" asked Jangle.

"We might as well show them now—I guess they've seen 'em, anyhow," said Custer. Then Buster said:

ONE TRICK

"We were down to the toy fun store and we each bought a trick. We're going to fool Daddy with 'em after supper tonight. Here's mine. Have a piece of gum," he went on, holding out to Jingle what seemed to be a package of spearmint gum.

Thinking it was all right, Jingle tried to pull a stick of gum from the package, but when she did she suddenly felt a snap from a spring like that of a mouse trap and she cried. "Ouch!"

"Have you any other tricks?" asked Jangle.

"Oh, I've got a dandy!" laughed Custer. "Try this peanut." He handed Jangle what seemed to be a real peanut, but when she tried to crack it with her paw to get the kernels out, she found it was only a squishy squashy RUBBER peanut that went wobbily as she pinched it. But it was painted to look like a real one.

"Oh, you boys!" said Jangle, reproachful like and at the same time sort of admiring.

"I'll fool Daddy with my rubber peanut!" laughed Custer.

"Have you any more tricks?" asked Jingle.

"Give her your fountain pen," suggested Buster to Duster. And when Duster handed his sister what seemed to be a real fountain pen, and when she started to take the top off—

"Whoozie!" cried Jingle, for out flew a long thing like a snake as if it had jumped from the Jack-in-the-box trick. It wasn't a fountain pen at all—just a hollow tube with a spiral rubber spring snake inside.

"Oh, how we'll fool Daddy after supper!" laughed the boy rabbits.

So, after supper, when the bunny children were around the table doing their home school work, Buster held out something to his father and politely asked him to have a stick of gum.

"Thanks, I will," said Uncle Wiggily, so he pulled a stick of real gum out of the package Buster held out and chewed it. Before Buster could get over his surprise, Custer held out something red and said:

"Try my new fountain pen!" which Uncle Wiggily did, and it was a real pen with ink in and not a rubber snake and it could write. And then when not a trick was played, all of a sudden Jingle and Jangle began to laugh. I wonder if you know why and also why Buster, Custer and Duster were surprised?

Anyhow, if the ice pick doesn't take a leaf out of the story book and put it on the maple tree, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's trick letter.

BRITAIN TO SEND FUNDS ABROAD

London, Jan. 30.—Early resumption of lending abroad by British financial agencies as a result of Britain's improved economic situation is foreseen by Rupert Evelyn Beckett, chairman of the Westminster Bank and leading executive.

Addressing a meeting of the bank's executives yesterday, Chairman Beckett hailed 1935 as "the most encouraging year for this country since the depression."

The bank itself had a favorable balance of between £20,000,000 and £30,000,000 for 1935, he revealed, adding that it would soon be necessary to find employment abroad for some of this capital.

Around the Docks

While a large crowd of local rugby enthusiasts on the docks cheered and the All-Blacks sang their Maori songs from the deck, the Canadian-Australasian motorship Aorangi backed away from the Rithet piers yesterday evening at 9 o'clock and turning slowly about on calm, moonlit waters, headed for Race Rocks on her way to Honolulu, Suva, Auckland and Sydney.

The sailing was one of the most gala in some months. The ship took out a large number of passengers, and many friends were down to bid them bon voyage. The visiting rugby players, with a large contingent of local players, arrived from their dinner at the Empress Hotel a few minutes before sailing time and, with much cheering and singing, and their arms bulging with parcels, climbed up the gangway.

Until the Aorangi was nearly a mile from the docks, the cheers and songs of the rugby players could be heard. The big liner was ablaze with lights as she steamed towards the open ocean.

NOTICE TO MARINERS

The jetty marking the entrance to the North Arm of the Fraser River is being extended further into the Gulf by the Department of Public Works, mariners have been advised in an official notice issued this morning by Col. A. W. R. Wilby, local agent for the Department of Marine. This extension will consist of a single row of piles with five pile dolphins incorporated at 300-foot intervals along the extension. The elevation of the dolphins will be twenty feet above the low-water mark.

DUE FOR LUMBER

The next freighter due here for lumber is the Silverbelle, which is expected Saturday morning, King Brothers, local agents, said to-day.

The Greek freighter Phaeax left Ogden Point yesterday evening at 6 o'clock, and proceeded to Port Alberni to complete for the United Kingdom. She arrived here from the mainland last Saturday morning.

There are 300 passengers aboard the inbound Canadian Pacific flagship Empress of Japan, due here early Saturday morning from the Orient and the Hawaiian Islands.

Among the passengers are C. A. Cotterell, assistant general manager of the Canadian Pacific at Vancouver; R. S. B. Hubert, passenger agent for the Canadian Pacific at Shanghai; seven officers of the Ss. Ullesmere, British freighter recently sold in Shanghai, returning to the British Isles; Phil Taylor, professional at the Victoria Golf Club at Oak Bay, and Mrs. Taylor; Mrs. Norman Yarrow and Mrs. G. C. Grant of Victoria; Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Kirkpatrick and Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Hamilton of Vancouver, and Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Brous and Mr. and Mrs. David H. Smith of Portland.

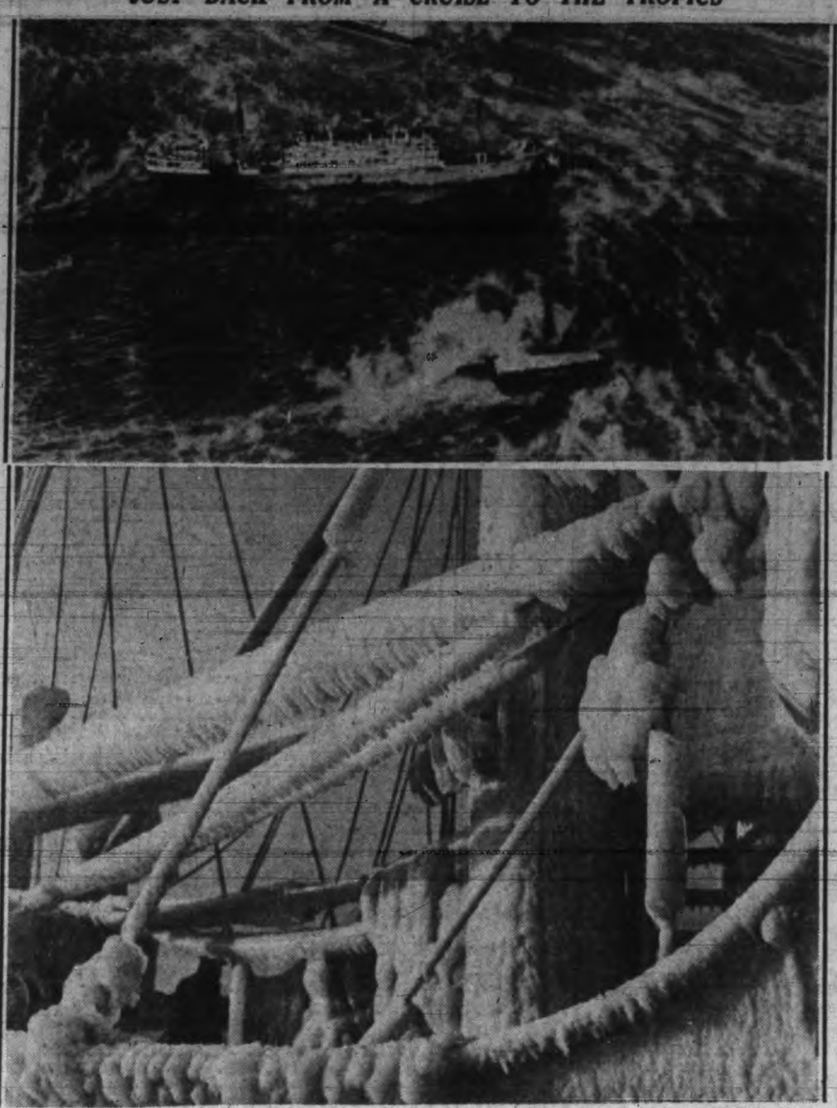
Finnish Ships For War Debts

New York, Jan. 30.—A cable dispatch from Helsingfors, Finland, to The New York Times says thirteen Finnish shipowners, claiming about $1,600,000 damages for detention of Finnish ships in United States ports during the World War, reportedly have proposed that they be credited with war debt installments due the United States.

Finland is the only American war debtor to meet her obligations regularly, and on last December 15 paid an interest instalment of $230,453.

It was reported the Finnish cabinet, to whom shipowners have appealed for aid in their efforts to collect, has not yet taken a definite stand on the request.

JUST BACK FROM A CRUISE TO THE TROPICS



Anyone seeing the Ss. Southern Prince in New York harbor the other day might have thought she had just returned from the North Pole. In reality she has just arrived from a cruise on tropic seas off South America. The top picture shows one of the phenomena that explains why primitive people personify nature, for the steam rising from Father Neptune's salty water of New York harbor is identical with that caused by the "freezing" of human breath in cold weather. Known to meteorologists as "Arctic smoke," it is caused by moisture-laden air, warmed by less cold ocean water, rising and contracting the zero air sweeping across the harbor. The moisture is condensed into tiny, steam-like drops.

SOVIETS GAVE HONOR TO HERO

Bill Lavery of Alaska, in Seattle To-day, Received Many Gifts For Bravery

Seattle, Jan. 30.—Aboard the Ss. Northwestern, which arrived in Seattle at noon to-day, were three of Alaska's most noted citizens—William (Bill) Lavery, hero of the 1934 rescue of 102 survivors of the Russian steamer Chelluskin in the Arctic and Mr. and Mrs. Fred K. Ordway, Alaska's "flying photographers."

Lavery arrived here from his home in Fairbanks to take a pilot's license. He returned from Europe via New York in October, 1934, after having received the red and gold insignia of the Order of Lenin; membership in "Snotye," the Soviet aristocracy of labor and merit; $2,500 in cash; a life pension of thirty gold rubles a month and free liftime passes on all Russian railroads.

The Ordways left later in the afternoon by airplane for the east. When Mr. Ordway reaches New York he will have flown all the distance (save the 600-mile steamship route from Ketchikan to Seattle) from East Cape, Siberia to the Atlantic Coast.

Mrs. Ordway will visit friends in Cheyenne and Denver pending her husband's return. She is Alaska's first feminine photographer, and has flown 5,000 miles to the more than 50,000 her husband has flown photographing most of the important events in Alaska aviation development.

VESTRIS CLAIMS OF $500,000 PAID

New York, Jan. 30.—Claims growing out of the sinking of the steamship Vestris in 1928 with a loss of 110 lives were settled yesterday for approximately $500,000 covering loss of life, cargo and injuries.

The payment contrasted with original claims for more than $2,500,000 filed against the companies and the $81,000 which they claimed was their total responsibility because of limited liability.

The Vestris left New York, bound for South American ports, on November 10, 1928, and the folowing day encountered heavy weather. Distress calls were sent out on November 12, but before aid arrived passengers and crew took to boats or jumped overboard and the vessel sank.

ATLANTIC RATE WAR FORECAST

If Queen Mary Becomes Cabin Ship, All Lines May Cut Their Fares

Canadian Press-Havas

London, Jan. 30.—The rate of fares for the new liner Queen Mary was again discussed yesterday at a private meeting of the North Atlantic Passenger Conference, presided over by Sir George McClaren Brown, European director of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company.

The Cunard-White Star threat to quit the Conference depended upon the outcome of the present discussions, it was indicated. Notice of the British line's resignation terminates at the end of this month and a decision will have to be reached in the next few days if the withdrawal is not to become a fact, resulting in a rate war among transatlantic lines.

The United Kingdom, Canada, France, Italy, Holland, Belgium, Germany, Sweden and the United States were represented at the meeting.

Seamen Discuss Ship Disaster

Washington, Jan. 30.—Delegates to the International Seamen's Union yesterday discussed the Morro Castle disaster and condemned "the state of law that makes such things possible."

But while agreeing new laws were needed to remedy conditions they believe caused the deaths when the Morro Castle burned, delegates from the east and west coast disagreed on methods for controlling the employment of seamen.

Eastern seamen advocated the La-follette Bill, now before Congress, which provides new definitions for the welfare, working conditions and rights of seamen. They said employment should be controlled either by the seamen and ship owners jointly or by the government.

But Roy Farrell, of San Diego, Calif., of the Pacific Coast Marine Firemen, Water Tenders', Oilers' and Wipers' Union, replied the present employment system is "absolutely the best system ever in force."
